William Blyatt (recte William Blewett) of St Nicholas in Colchester mercer, 11 Apr. 1560.

Whereas by my deed indented, 28 Jan 1558/9, I granted over my house wherein I dwell to Richard Northey of Colchester mercer for certain years yet to come, on condition that if I repay him certain money, then my debt to be void, I bequeath it to Adam son of Gabriel Blyatt (recte Blewett) my son deceased; and for lack of issue, to remain to Joan Blyatt, Margaret Blyatt and Mary Blyatt, sisters of Adam and Robert [sic]. To Adam my colt color grey. The residue of my goods to Joan, Margaret and Mary to be equally divided by the discretion of my well-beloved friend Robert Browne, one of the alderman of Colchester. He shall have the keeping of my evidences for use of the said sons and daughters of Gabriel. I ordain John Rypington and 'Sabyne' his wife, late Gabriel's wife, my executors. I assign Robert Browne to be my supervisor, to whom I give power to take bonds for the safe keeping and delivery of my goods to the children's use. More About CATHERINE 'BLUET' BLEWETT:
Record Change: 27 Nov 2006

Notes for JOHN RONAYNE:

From family manuscripts and other documents it appears that Roger Bluet acquired from his friend Sir Walter Raleigh part of the D'Laughtane estate, which the Ronaynes had forfeited and that John Ranayne, on his marriage with Catherine Bluet, recovered the forfeited lands. Previous to the Bluet marriage the Ronaynes lived at Balleyheeny Castle. On his marriage with Catherine, John removed to the site on which stands the house now known as D'Laughtane. The house is on the Blackwater, near Youghal.
