Notes for JOHN HENRY RISTER:

Family tradition tells that John Henry served as a minister to the Army and as a cobbler when leather was available. Lost behind enemy lines he sought refuge at a farm. Awakened that night by a number of voices, fearful of betrayal, found a room full of strangers praying for them. At that, returned to their bedrooms and fell soundly asleep.

John Henry's conversion first to Methodist then to Baptist concerned his father but led others of the family to do the same. He became a circuit rider in the ministry. Finding one night a very old black woman who had been "liberated" to starve, took her home to care for his children and household until her death.

An organ kept on the back of a wagon and used by Rev. John Henry Rister for meeting, is in the possession of Fern Bland, Abilen, Texas (wife of a descendant of David Crockett Rister.

Emma was an honest, hard-working, frugal (by necessity), yet loving German woman. Many summers she was up at 5am working in the garden or picking fruit. Later in the day her children would set up the fruit and vegetable stand on the highway to sell these crops. What didn't sell and Emma did not want anything to go to waste, she canned, pears, peaches, figs, plums, chickens, doves, and made jellies and jams from the same. Emma and her husband also made beer, wine from the grapes, root-beer, ginger ale and sauerkraut. She died in 1961 at the age of 78 in El Paso and is buried in the Evergreen Cemetery.

Notes for #1LENA CARROLL RISTER:

Lena Carroll Rister was born in Davilla, Milam Co., Texas in 1894. She married Oliver Jefferson Shaffer a young dentist from Merkel, Texas. They moved to El Paso, Texas where her husband started his dental practice. Lena was diagnosed with crippling arthritis at a very young age and sick and bedridden a good part of her life. After it became too painful to get around, she had to resort to a wheelchair, which in those times was not very comfortable. Since her husband was away, busy with his dental practice, she had to rely on her young sons and care givers for help. She died from that disease at the age of 61 in 1955. Lena was a good person, sometimes on the cranky side, and had love and affection for her family. She loved to play cards and domino's, and would sit many hours with her children and grand-children doing so. She is buried in the Evergreen Cemetery in El Paso.
