Notes for Rudolph RUHLMAN:

In German the name was spelled Ruhlmann and I suppose the interpretation of this spelling would be Ruehlmann. So as far as I know, my grandfather never used the e, but he did originally use the n, according to the story, was dropped when he was having a sign made and there was not room for the extra n.

I understand that he used to write to a sister in Germany; that he did have a brother who left Germany before him and presumably went to France. I also understand that the grandfather came to this country with an uncle during or just before the Civil War. The uncle, as the story goes, purchased a farm somewhere near Easton, PA. Later a mortgage, not known to exist, was foreclosed and said uncle lost the farm, and thereafter, I know nothing of his whereabouts. I rather imagined that he had gone West and settled. (Cassel Ruhlman Ltr. 7/7/1952)

He was Band Master of the Trenton Band for many years and when he died they gave him a military funeral. (personal message E.H.Ruhlman 10/8/2004)
