1. John Frederic¹ Tone¹ was born Bet. 1750 - 1752 in Hesse or Hesse-Cassel, Germany (probably)², and died July 06, 1830 in Plainfield, Cheshire, New Hampshire³. He married Sarah³. She was born 1760³, and died February 02, 1829 in Plainfield, Cheshire, New Hampshire³.

Notes for John Frederic Tone:

Kenneth Edward Tone, J.D., Tone Family, (Gateway Press, Inc., Baltimore, 1978), p. 81-83:

John Frederic Tone was a Hessian Trooper. He was snatched off the street in his native Hesse or Hesse-Cassel, Germany and brought to this country against his will, to fight with the English against the Patriots in the Revolutionary War. He later deserted and joined the American forces and was severely wounded in both the battles of Kingsbridge and Yorktown. After the war he settled in Plainfield, New Hampshire where he resided until he enlisted as a soldier in the War of 1812. After that war he returned to Plainfield, New Hampshire where he lived out his remaining years with his family.

b. 1750 or 1752 probably in Hesse or Hesse-Cassel, Germany

com. On his Revolutionary War Pension Application which he signed in 1818 he stated that he was 66 years old which would indicate that he was born in 1752. However, his grave marker in the East Plainfield, New Hampshire Cemetery show no year of birth but reads that he died "July 6th, 1830, ag 80" which indicates he was born in 1750.

Pearson in a Regiment of infantry commanded by Col. Samuel B. Webb in the Connecticut line for the term of three years - that in the course of said term I was in the battle of Kingsbridge where I was wounded and in the battle of Yorktown where I received a severe wound in taking the redoubts - that I continued in active service against the Common enemy all the time after my said enlistment except when I was confined to the hospital by my wounds until the latter part of the month of October 1783 when I was honorably discharged at West Point in the state of New York by General Henry Knox who gave me a written discharge...."

Notes for Christopher Tone:
[History of Lebanon, N. H., 1761-1887;p.430-1]

The Methodist Episcopal Church

The first mention we find of Lebanon in the general minutes is in 1825, when Lebanon is reported as a part of Canaan circuit. In 1828-'29 it is quoted as being connected with Plainfield or Meriden circuit. About this time a revival is reported and Christopher Tone, the son of a Hessian soldier, who did not fancy having his services sold to the English for the purpose of putting down the rebellion of the colonies, and who for that reason deserted their ranks at the battle of Bennington, was, with his wife, converted, and came to Lebanon to live. He was a man of great energy and perseverance, and was one of the leaders in building the present house of worship; for the record says in 1832 Marlin Downer, Christopher Tone and Isaac Fitch, seeing the need of a house of worship, took the entire responsibility on themselves, bought the land, built the church, depending on the sale of the pews for their pay, and while rumor says it was not a financial bonanza for themselves, it did prove a good investment for the cause of Christ. Their record is on high; their reward in heaven.

On January 6, 1832, Constant Storrs, Christopher Tone, Moody Noyes, Isaac Fitch and William Pardee assembled and formed themselves into a religious association, "to be known as the first Methodist Episcopal Society of Lebanon, County of Grafton and state of New Hampshire, agreeable to an act of the Legislature of said state, passed July 3, 1827, entitled 'An Act empowering religious societies to assume and exercise corporate powers.'"

They agreed to "assemble at the house of H. M. French on Monday, 23rd day of January, 1832, at one o'clock in the afternoon to organize and adopt a constitution." The meeting was held on time, but for some reason not at H. M. French's, for the record says, "The first annual meeting convened at the house of Calvin Benton in said town and adjourned to the house of Mrs. Lucinda Storrs," when the constitution was adopted. The reason for the sudden change does not appear. At the first annual meeting Nathaniel Ladd was chosen "moderator" and Marlin Downer clerk, an office which Mr. Downer held for many years.

The house was finished in the spring of 1833, and was dedicated "to Almighty God and the use of the Methodist Episcopal Church forever" by Rev. B. R. Hoyt, the exact date being lost.

At the Vermont and New Hampshire conference (then one) held at Windsor, Vt., August 6, 1833, Rev. J. W. Morey was appointed to Lebanon Methodism, which may be said to have set up "housekeeping" that year.

Cholera had plagued Ohio since 1845 and many left the state. It again appeared in Columbus, Ohio in 1849, and again many fled. Others remained, including Christopher and Aurilla Tone and their family. As resourceful ones they organized to fight the disease which, however, raged from June 21 to September 15, causing 200 deaths in the city and 116 in the Ohio State Penitentiary. The cholera returned in 1850 and, from July 10 to September 4, was accountable for 225 deaths in a population of 18,000, one fourth of whom fled and remained away until the epidemic abated. Christopher Tone was one who remained, organized to fight the disease, lost his battle and died.

(Tone Family, 124) Estate Proceedings: Christopher Tone's estate proceedings are filed in the Franklin County Probate Court being Case Number 2319. Philo Burr or Bun was appointed Administrator on September 17, 1850, thus he left no will. It appears that his estate inventory was in excess of $20,000.00 with less than $2,000.00 in personal property and the balance in real estate. A considerable amount for those times.

Notes for John Frederick Tone:

John Frederick Tone moved from New Hampshire to Worthington, Franklin County, OH where he was in the milling business. In 1856 he moved to Allen County, OH where he operated a grist mill on the Auglaize River about ten miles west of Lima, OH.

He later moved to Delaware County, OH where, in 1845, he purchased a grist mill on beautiful Alum Creek, Orange Township. This spot is now the beautiful site of Ohio's Alum State Park. But again, in 1856, he returned to Allen County and his son, Albert Lyman Tone, purchased and operated the Alum Creek mill. (Tone Family, 135)

TONE GRIST MILL

"The first grist mill in Amanda Township, Allen County, Ohio was the TONE grist mill built by Charles Post, a millwright, in the years 1842-43. It was located on the Auglaize River on what is now the Lima-Spencerville Road, State Route 117, and was called Armstrong Post Office. The mill was located on the northwest side of the present bridge and was operated by water power. In addition to the mill and post office, there was a sawmill, grocery store, blacksmith shop and the Baptist Church, which was established in 1866. So this was quite a shopping center in those early days and was only about four miles north of the Mack farm." (This account was taken from the MACK Genealogy which was compiled by George Mack Hydaker.) Note: The Charles Post descendants still live nearby the mill site. (Tone Family, 136)

Note: There is no mention of Laura Tone. Given that her obituary indicates that she was born July 6, 1857 in Columbus, Ohio, she should be listed. However, her age is given as 21 in the 1880 Census, so it is likely that she is the unnamed daughter listed above.

Obituary: Lucious M. Tone, Dead

Lucious M. Tone died at his home in this city at five o'clock Monday morning after an illness extending over two years, at the age of 77 years, 8 months and 11 days. The cause of.....

....are now living. William L., of this city; Laura Wells, of Canada; Mrs. C. F. Bemis, of Minneapolis; Charles of Sioux Falls; Jesse, of Bermidji, Minn.; and Mrs. Nellie Whipkey, of Sheridan, Wyoming. Of these only William and Charles were able to be present at the funeral which was held at the house Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. J. D. Vannoy conducting the service and the remains interred in Oak Hill Cemetery.

As a husband he was kind hearted and generous and as a father the tenderest love for his children. He had numerous friends in Estherville who will hasten to extend words of sympathy to the aged wife and children.

I went thru everything I have and I have very little of that side of the family. I only have verbal info that Paula gave us in May of 1992. Some may help a little.

Laura's and Nell's dad, "Gr. Tone". During the civil war the army came to his town and were recruiting. He was so excited to go serve. So he ran home to chop some wood for his wife before he left. A piece of wood flew up and he was blinded in one eye and could not serve.

Charlie Tone, brother of Laura and Nell, had one leg. He was a `ner do well and an alcoholic.

Laura well's mother, Emily Tone, ran a boarding house, earned the money and wore the pants in the family.

Nell was abandoned by her husband and was forced to work as a prostitute to make a living for her and her daughter. Her daughter stepped on a rusty nail and got blood poisoning and died at the age of 7. Nell remarried and at the age of 40 had a girl named Paula. I think this all happened in Missoula. I have that written in the margin.

Laura Tone Wells and Clarice Wells {my maternal grandmother, Beulah's mother} never got along. Laura was upset that Clarice took her son, George Wells, away. Also a first child came early.

Laura Well's family, the Tones, migrated from Ireland in the late 1700's. They came to upstate N.Y. and followed the immigration trail across to the great lakes and around and down into Iowa, Ohio and Minnesota. Tone is a very common name in Ireland. Paula claimed she was related to Franchote Tone. She made a trip to Calif. and met with him.

When I asked her if she was related to Maxfield Parrish, the painter, she said yes, but I suspected that was not true as she was vague.

She is related to the Parrishes in Cle Elum and there are still Parrishes there.

Notes for Albert Lyman Tone:

Albert Lyman Tone and his family all lived in Liberty Township, Delaware County, Ohio and they worshipped at the Lewis Center Methodist Church. Albert's father, John Frederick Tone, taught him the milling business in Worthington, Ohio, later John moved to Delaware County, Ohio where he owned a grist-mill on Alum Creek, Orange Township (now the beautiful site of Ohio's Alum State Park). When father John moved to Allen County in 1845, Albert purchased the grist mill. Albert had the reputation of being an honest as well as good miller which accounted for the liberal patronage which was his. Although they lived in Orange Township, they shopped and worshipped in the small Lewis Center. Lewis Center in Delaware County, Ohio, had its railroad, general store, post office, church, elevator and provided the "meeting place" for all of the nearby husbands and wives to congregate on a Saturday night and then again on Sundays, after church, with their whole families when they would attend anniversaries, birthdays, bellings (when a young couple was married) and all other "get togethers". The women did the cooking and entertaining and the men discussed their "business" problems as well as the problems of the Township and County.

Knowing the respect that the early settlers had for learning, one of the first building to be constructed, after the church, was usually the one room school house. Some recollections of Mrs. James E. Taggart of Delaware County, Ohio of school life in those early days may be of interest. This would be the school house where Albert Lyman Tone and his brothers and sisters attended school.

THE LIBERTY TOWNSHIP SCHOOL HOUSE

"There was always a chapter from the Bible read by the teacher at the opening of school in the morning, followed by the Lord's prayer in unison, all pupils being expected to participate. As there were all ages from 6 to 18 represented, our teacher was busy all day hearing oral recitations and all studying was done against this background. However, we were accustomed to this, and our books usually stayed at school the entire term and we were not troubled by homework.

A bucket of water with a dipper in it sat in the entry and there we all slaked our thirst. Once during each of the four periods of the day some pupil was permitted to "pass the water". And when the supply became low two pupils were allowed to go to the source for a pail of water. This was considered quite a desirable chore, and sometimes was almost a "date" as a boy would ask to go for water and then select his favorite girl of the moment to go along. The two had to go some distance down the hill to the north and to the river's edge where there was a wonderful spring. When the river was in flood and the spring covered, then, even better they must go to the nearest neighbor's well and so were free from schools restraint for nearly twenty minutes. If the boy were very gallant he carried the water and did not allow the girl to help but usually it was a Katy Lee and Willie Gray act and the bucket swung between them. The teachers of that day were certainly kind and liberal minded in that they did not require the water to be carried during our play time.

All pupils brought lunches; tho some few had lunch boxes, the usual receptacle was a small tin bucket with a tight lid.

The games at the noon hour varied with the season. Ball games were usually in order both boys and girls playing. Blackman, prisoner's base, crack-the-whip, tap-the-rabbit and drop the handkerchief, each had its turn. When the grave yard had a new board fence entirely round to the gates again. We all went barefoot until we entered our teens, when the weather warranted. In winter we all wore high shoes and for snow we wore "artics" over them.

The covered bridge over the river was a favorite place for playing on a rainy day, and the deep dust, which was always there must have permeated our clothing to the despair of our mothers.

The hill in front of the hall was much steeper then and was ideal for coasting; while the river was loved for wading in summer and skating in winter. There was a thicket along the bottom field where we went for flowers in the spring and for long wild grape vines which we used for jumping rope. We also made trips up the run, past the stone quarry for flowers and pawpaws. Playing in the leaves was another pleasure for October days. We had no play equipment furnished us and we surely needed none. I still feel sorry for children who had no river, no covered bridge, no thicket and no big stony bottomed run near their school.

Again I say we had kind teachers, for it seems to me they let us wander far and wide, only requiring that we get back on time. When we were on the river skating, the bell would be rung five minutes early to give us time to get skates off and back up the hill on time. In my memory school was all sunshine with never a cloud, but others perhaps will not agree to that.

As the school sat in the same grove as the church, we sometimes found life complicated by the fact that we had to miss our recess for fear of disturbing a funeral service. If the deceased were anyone we knew, we could get permission to leave school and attend the funeral, but I do not remember that we abused the privilege. We often played in the graveyard, and we lost all the awe that some feel for such a spot. There was at least one tombstone toppen by an open book and this afforded boys a place to stand a preach.

Where the hall now stands was then a sand pit, and from it sand was sold by the local grange. This pit was a fine place to play. The grange has possession of the small center room in the front of the schoolhouse which was kept locked, and how we wondered what mysterious things were stored within besides the goat. We took for granted there must be a goat to ride. The Grange built the hall and used it for some years, but finally disbanded, and the chuch acquired the building for a song.

The building of the brick schoolhouse was a time of jubilee for us; for we were in our last days in the frame building, and I'm sure the building of the hall must have been almost as exciting.

The 1913 flood destroyed the fine spring which had furnished water for so many years for the school.

When the winter ice broke up, if school was in session, our teachers would always dismiss us when the crash and grinding noise floated in telling us in the schoolroom that the ice was going out. We would stream out to the river bank and full of excitement watch the hugh cakes rise on end, and battle with each other in their race downstream.

In the summertime we picked and ate the wild gooseberries that grew on the river bank. They were covered with prickly spines, both the bushes and the fruit, but we ate them.

Several times a year the big boys would spend their noon hour on a trip to the cave, then a hole in the hillside on the first farm to the south, coming back with their cloths smirched with clay. Now that hole marks the Olentangy Caverns, its face lifted and with dry paths and electric lights and a beautiful picnic grounds adjoining.

During the winter the schoolhouse was used on Friday evenings for the Literary Society, where spirited debates took place with dialogs and recitations thrown in for variety. Music by the neighborhood string quartette and group singing were also added. These meetings gave the young people a glimpse of parliamentary law and added to our social life.

There was a cloakroom each side of the entry, one for girls and one for boys, where our coats and lunch boxes were kept. If we did not bring our lunch out near the stove in cold weather, we would have to eat a frozen lunch. Our wraps and hoods were cold to put on at the end of the day.

In approximately 1880 a "History of Delaware County" was written in which the following was said about Albert Lyman Tone:

"A. L. Tone, Lewis Center: is a miller by trade, that having been the occupation of his father, John F. Tone, who was born in New Hampshire and who is now in Allen Co., this State, following the milling business; for a time he lived in Worthington, Franklin Co., where his son Albert was born in July, 1848. In 1871, Mr. Tone was married to Edith Redd, a daughter of Mrs. Redd, in this township. Mr. and Mrs. Tone have four children--John B., Albert L., Edna M. and an infant unnamed. They are both members of the M. E. Church. The mill now run by Mr. Tone is located on Alum Creek, in Orange Township, the first owner of which was a Mr. Nettleton, Mr. Lyster the second, Mr. Tone's father having been the third. Mr. Tone has the reputation of being honest, as well as a good miller, and this accounts for the liberal patronage that is his.

The first mill in this township was a saw-mill, erected and owned by John Nettleton, about the year 1820, in the southeast part of the township. Fifteen years later it was change to a grist-mill, and at once became noted for the fine quality of its flour. In 1838, it was sold to one Lichter, from whom it came into the family of the present owner, A. L. Tone, in 1845. The same stones do duty now as of old, and they maintain, thanks to the present excellent miller, the old-time prestige of the mill. Later, a saw-mill was built further to the south, by Fancher, but it has long since passed away."

Continuing with Albert Lyman Tone account in the 1880 "History of Delaware County": "Here, perhaps, the story of the early settlements should properly close, and yet the historian is loath to part company with those who lived so near to nature's heart. They were plucked from homes of comfort and rudely transplanted in the wilderness. They drew from nature the comforts and adornments of a home, and decked their firesides with those social and domestic virtues, which so often force, from these alter times, a sigh for the tender grace of a day that is dead! From the necessities of the situation, the hospitality of the early settlers was as spontaneous as it was generous, and they early became imbued with that spirit of philanthropy which Horace has embalmed in verse, --

'Non ignara mali, miseris cussurrere disco.'

Every new-comer found a cordial welcome, and willing hands were ready to aid in rolling up a cabin. Neighborhoods for miles around were closely allied by early social customs which, in the spirit of true democracy, only inquired into the moral worth of their devotees. The lack of markets made food of the plainer sort abundant and cheap. Hospitality was dispensed with a lavish hand, and travelers were not only housed and fed without cost, but all possessing that touch of nature which makes the whole world kin, he was sent on his journey, bearing with him the kindly benedictions of his host and a heart-felt God speed. The very earliest times, however, were not marked with such generous profusion. The first settlers were often driven to the very verge of starvation and for years were forced to make long, wearisome journeys through an unbroken wilderness, over unbridged streams, frequently on foot, to procure the necessities of life. For a year, a Mr. McCumber's family lived almost entirely without meat of any kind. Game abounded, but there were no hunters in the famil, and the demands of the clearing prevented the development of any possible latent talents in that direction. For weeks the family of a Mr. Norton depended solely upon bread made from Indian corn grated up; and all were forced to go as far as Circleville with wheat for flour. A Mr. Elsbre relates how his step-father and himself went out to Franklin County, thirteen miles east of Worthington, for the first meat they had. There they bought a hog, killed, dressed it, put it in bags and carried it on their shoulders home.

The difficulty the early settlers met with in acquiring stock can hardly be appreciated at this day. Sheep were unknown and horses were only less unfamiliar. Cattle and hogs were easily kept, so far as feeding was concerned, but another difficulty involved them. The woods abounded with wolves and bears."

In 1896 or 1897, along with fourteen other families from Delaware County, Albert Lyman Tone moved to Andrews, North Carolina for a warmer climate and for Albert's rheumatism. They build a home and a beautiful colony barn and settled their family. After living in Andrews, N. C. for about a year their Colony Barn - with all of their horses - was burned. The Civil War had only been over about a quarter of a century at that time and the southerners didn't want any "damn Yankees" living in the south.

So, Albert Lyman Tone and four other families moved to Blue Ridge, Georgia. Albert Lyman Tone, Sr. took his children Edna May, Essie Blanche, Ella Mary, Lawrence and Arthur Howard to Blue Ridge with him. After a year the family had build an eleven room home which is still standing. The three older boys, John Benjamin, Albert Lyman, Jr. and Harry moved back to Ohio. They were all railroaders and jobs were more plentiful. (Tone Family, 141-148)

Notes for Edith Ellen Redd:

Edith was one of six children of Benjamin Redd, a prominent stock-man who extended his operations as far west as Illinois where, in Jacksonville, he died very suddenly, during the Civil War, while he was on a trip buying cattle. Benjamin Redd married Eleanor Patrick, b. November 3, 1825; d. March 23, 1916, daughter of Jesse & Elizabeth Patrick of Mifflin Township, Franklin County, OH. (Tone Family, 139-140)

A neighbor and friend wrote the following and had it published in the Blue Ridge, Georgia newspaper about "Grandma" Tone: "IN MEMORIAM OF MRS. A. L. TONE: Many years ago I heard a renowned preacher say that the only way to get ready for immortality is to love this life and live bravely, faithfully and cheerfully.

My neighbor (Mrs. A. L. Tone) must have loved this life, because she made her 79 years such beautiful years.

She was very fond of music and flowers. She loved little children and they returned her affection. Children of the neighborhood have often said to me, "Isn't Grandma Tone sweet". These little ones will never forget her, for on their youthful minds she made an impression for good that will continue with them throughout life.

My neighbor not only loved life but she lived it bravely and faithfully as well as cheerfully. The trials of life were met with great patience and fortitude. The smile and kind word came readily. Not once in many years have I heard a complaining or ill-natured word.

Surely my dear neighbor answered all the requirements spoken by the great Divine and at 4 o'clock, August 31, she calmly laid aside all earthly interests and entered into the joys of immortality.

As I stood by her casket for a last look I said to myself, "She is not dead and almost could imagine her saying to me with the old, sweet smile -- "Say not good night, but in some brighter clime, bid me good morning."

I would like to pass on to her devoted children the message left by another more than 200 years ago, but fully as comforting to the children of today. "I believe the grave unites, not separates, the loved of the earth. I will look down from yonder sky, watching and waiting for those I loved on earth; anxious in Heaven until, they too, are there; I will attend your guardian Angels' side and weep away your faults with Holy tears; your midnights shall be filled with solemn thoughts, and when, at length death brings you to my love, mine the first 'welcome' heard in Paradise." -- A FRIEND (Tone Family, 148-149)

- 108 i. John Benjamin⁵ Tone¹³⁴, born April 14, 1873 in Lewis Center, Delaware County, Ohio¹³⁴; died July 14, 1939 in Sycamore, Ohio¹³⁴. He married Flossie May Corfman¹³⁴ August 29, 1903 in Sycamore, Ohio¹³⁴; born December 12, 1882 in Eden Township, Wyandotte County, Ohio¹³⁴; died March 09, 1951 in Sycamore, Ohio¹³⁴.

Notes for John Benjamin Tone:

He did not own an automobile and so it was necessary for him to walk daily during the summer approximately and one mile to his garden. Here he grew the vegetables that he was to feed his family with during the coming winter as well as the pop-corn which he would schuck, chaff and later his family would sell from their popcorn machine to pay for other necessities of life. He lived in down-town Sycamore, Ohio and on Wednesday and Saturday evenings, when the farmers would come to town, his wife, Flossie, would move the family popcorn machine onto the sidewalk and they would take their turns selling popcorn to the townfolk. As there was not too much to do but walk around the block and talk to the merchants and friends the Tone household became the meeting place where all would gather to discuss the events of the week. Any get-togethers on Wednesdays or Saturdays were common-place, but if one was to visit on Sunday it was sure to find its place in the pages of the weekly newspaper, The Sycamore Leader. Also, a member of the Order of Railway Conductors and The Independent Order of Forester's at Cucyrus, Ohio. He was a loving husband, kind father and a respected member of his community, Sycamore, Ohio [Tone:149]

Notes for Flossie May Corfman:

While her husband, John, attended the garden Flossie ran the Tone family household which included the washing, canning, sewing, rearing the children, quilts as well as being the Treasurer of the Order of Eastern Star for many, many years. "GEORGE H. KEPHART, proprietor of sawmill and handle factory at Spencerville, was born in Amanda Township, Allen County, Ohio, October 31, 1846; son of Ormond and Ann A. (Hayes) Kephart, the former of whom, an influential farmer and early settler of this county, died in 1856; the latter, a native of New York, still survives him, the mother of five children: Cordelia, Oscar M., Alexis E., Ormond, and George H. Our subject graduated in the scientific course at Lebabon, Ohio, in 1869, and entered upon his career in life as a teacher, but eventually embarked in the lumbering business. He commenced a poor boy, and by energy and perseverance has accumulated property. He first entered a saw-mill in 1875, and two years later came to Spencerville. In 1880 he purchased a woolen-mill and for a while also operated it, and in connection with the same started a handle factory, which he still runs, but has traded the woolen machinery for land in Mississippi. Mr. Kephart was united in marriage, September 18, 1870, with Ellen A. Tone of Allen County, formerly of Delaware County, Ohio, and by her has had three children: Clarence E., Albert N. He died at the age of 54 after suffering many many years with cancer of the throat. Marriage Notes for Addie Tone and Charles Bemis:

Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary Last Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bemis were married 50 years ago last Saturday. Last Saturday they drove to Mr. Bemis' old home town, Estherville, where a niece of Mrs. Bemis lives, Mrs. Art Katley, and two brothers, Jess Tone and Will Tone. There Mrs. Katley kept open house Saturday afternoon and evening in honor of the golden wedding affair, and a host of friends called.

On Sunday noon a family dinner was served here as a courtesy for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Bemis were married at Spirit Lake in the home of the bride's parents, July 22, 1883, and went at once to Estherville to live where Mr. Bemis was engaged in metal work in connection with a hardware store.

Mrs. Bemis' maiden name was Miss Addie Tone. The Estherville Vindicator carried this account of the wedding:

"Bemis-Tone. At the residence of the brides parents in Spirit Lake, July 22, 1883, Mr. Chas F. Bemis of Estherville to Miss Addie Tone of Spirit Lake. Rev. F. J. McCaffree officiating.

Mr. Bemis is one of Esthervilles estimable young men, has lived there all of his life except two years. He is a tinner by trade. We believe he possess the necessary qualifications to make a good husband. We hear say in speaking of the sentiments of certain persons "I like that persons sentiments, it has the right ring." We have not learned what reputation Mr. Bemis has at home as a singer but he seems to have had no difficulty in striking the right Tone when he came to Spirit Lake as the above announcement will assure you.

"Some people are said to be wedded to their money, some to their books, others to their music. This young man is to be congratulated on the fact that he is wedded to his Tone. Miss Addie Tone, one of Eve's fair daughter's, who has lived in Spirit Lake for the last five or six years and has the esteem of many friends and as we have already said she is the right Tone to make a good wife, and we congratulate Mr. Bemis on his good fortune. We believe the young couple intend to make their home in Estherville. The Journal makes its bow and wishes them much happiness and prosperity."

Mr. and Mrs. Bemis came to Clear Lake about 9 years ago and Mr. Bemis has operated the Clear Lake Metal shop during those years. Previous to that they had lived in large cities after leaving Estherville, seven years having been spent in Minneapolis and seven at Denver.

Mr. and Mrs. Bemis have spend 50 happy years together and are held in high esteem by all who know them. They have many friends in the different places they have lived and many greeting and congratulations cards were received by them on their golden wedding day.

Mrs. Bemis who had been in very poor health because of neuritis and rheumatism, went on April 27, 1932 to Mis(s)oula Mont., to visit a daughter in hopes the change of climate would help her, which it did. About a month ago she returned to her home here feeling the best she had in years.

Mr. and Mrs. Bemis have three children: two daughters and a son, all of whom are married. The daughters are Jennie Downs Rocky Reef Resort, Milac, Minn.; Valeria Wagoner, Mis(s)oula, Mont; the son is Frank Bemis of Minneapolis. They also have seven grandchildren.

The child was brought to town for medical treatment from the home of her cousin north of town. Mrs. Whipkey left Sunday with the remains for Rock Rapids, Iowa.

Valeria May Whipkey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Whipkey, died at Presbo, S. D., Saturday morning as a result of blood poisoning. The remains arrived in Rock Rapids Monday morning and were taken to the home of the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Whipkey, from where the funeral was held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock by Reb. Mrs. Huntley. There was a number in attendance at the funeral and all sympathize deeply with the parents in the loss of their child. At the time of her death the little lady was visiting with Mrs. Edward ...ner near Presbo, S. D. Sunday previous to her death, the little girl stepped on a rusty nail, which penetrated the ball of her foot. The wound was treated with simple home remedies and seemed to be doing nicely until Tuesday, when it began to bother some and the child was taken to Presbo and placed under the care of a physician. Everything possible was done to bring about a recovery, but the insidious poison had fastened itself firmly and could not be eradicated. Jesse Whipkey, father, is in Alaska.
