My history started here in South Carolina and traveled back into times to different counties and different states and then to different countries.

Several family members are noted as historians being a soldier, congress, head of government agencies. Land owners and law officials are several of my ancestors.

They come from all levels of living to rich and to the poor.

But through it all I have found out that lives are still touched when discovering your ancestors.

I have found people that are kin to me and what a joy it is.

Pictures express a lot of history and it is so exciting to find pictures of relatives or places that they have lived or just to see their names on items they have made.

I have several family members and ancestors that have served in several wars dating back to the Revolutionary War to today's military. We still serve as peacemakers of this United States of America.

I hope that someone will find a person they are looking for and that we will make another connection as families come together when they start doing research on their families.

I am hooked on genealogy and will sit for hours trying to find a person and will search cemeteries. Never be scared to go and look for old headstones in cemeteries. Remember they can't hurt you its the living that can!!!!

I have found out so much just doing research over the last few years and I try to help others since I may need others to help me. Searching can be so frustrating and you have to be very patient and learn to keep looking.

In my family we share a lot of things, memories, stories, photos, and most of all each other. Never is there a time when we need each other that we aren't there. My parents taught all four of us children, to be kind and thoughtful of someone else, especially those in need.

I hope those are traits that my children and grands will follow through this life.

As I glimpse into the past, I try to imagine myself there at that time in history and the hard times that some of my ancestors, must have went through.

But as today we share the burden of war, the sacrifices we have to make, when a loved one goes off to serve his country. I know this from first hand experience with my son.

Things are easier now, but not the ideals and the ideas our forefathers bought with them to this new country. As I searched I still saw families that believed in God and what He represented in thier lives.

I see that they worked hard, and endured bitter hardships as they lived.

Some encountered Indians in Virginia.

Some traveled long distances to relocate.

And in this travel, some were lost on the way.

I see reports of slaves, which I hope my ancestors treated kindly and took care of.

In wills, they were given to different children, along with furniture, land, and animals.

I've learned of land owners, senators, congressmen and even a President.

I see farmers, mill workers, shop owners, soldiers, and indentured slaves, themselves, as they had to do this in order to come to America.

In doing this they bought passage on ships, and worked the time off and then was offered land. I see soldiers who were granted land for service to the country.

I also know of some soldiers who never returned home and is buried in a far off place, never to rest in their beloved homeplace.

I have learned of the ravages of war, the burning of churches, homes, and our government buildings where so many of our precious documents were stored, never to be retrieved for our eyes to see. What a waste, that the war brought to our dear South.

To this day the arguement of why the war was fought is not founded on what everyone beleived it to be.

Fathers and sons, even brothers fought on either side.

There were Black men who served with the Southern Army, but no one stops to recognize that fact, that they too, fought for the land
they had grown to love.

I have learned of women who stayed at home to take care of farms, businesses, and the children, while the man of the house were gone. Not knowing if they would return and the ones that did came back looking entirely different then when they left. Some came back with wounds and afflictions on their bodies,
that time did not erase.

I have so many stories in my head, that I wish I could put them all down, so people could read them, and understand why I love my ancestors, my family.

I have such a overpowering of affection for the ones that have gone on before me, and the thought of knowing someone and wanting to share what they know, and before you get the chance to find out, they're gone.

In doing research, I have but one wish, that I would have looked ahead into the future to see myself doing this, and to have asked more questions about family members and grandparents that had passed on. Oh what joy, it would, be to go back in time for a little while and talk to my grandfather and grandmothers and listen to what they would have told me.

Learn a lesson take time to listen to stories from older members of the family, and to take plenty of pictures and share the memories.

This book is dedicated to all the people who is alive and passed on.
I want to thank all my family members for all the help by giving me names and helping me to give me stories about their childhood and people from the past.

Thanks to my two children Ray and Shannon for always being troopers and going with mama to the woods to search cemeteries and to archives and sitting for hours helping me to hunt items on Saturdays & Sundays.
Also thanks to Dylan and Kelsie who rode with ME MA
to find different places to look for historical names and places.
We have put some miles on the old Buick.

Thanks to all the people I have been in contacted over the internet who have helped me or had web pages or links that helped me find people from the pages of time. Most of them turning out to be related to me. Anne Race, Alfred 'Chassereau, Kaye Jenkins, Marie Crapse, Sybil Pierce, and more.

Thanks to Dr. Frank Clark who is the web master of the Hampton County Gen Web Project.
And thanks to the late Mrs. Gloria Bowers, a woman with courage and a vast knowledge of history and who's book encouraged me to do my own research.

And to Wendell my better half who bought me this computer and for understanding the importance of what once was a hobby,
but now enjoyment and an excitement of finding lost
relatives and finding out about oneself.
