Generation No. 5

Notes for JACOB WALICHS:

The use of "van Winkel" as a family name is attributed to Symon Jacobse, third son of Waling Jacobse, although some historians feel that the name was not used until the fourth generation. The name commonly means "van" as meaning "of" and Winkel as the town of Winkel in North Holland. This meaning takes on further significance when applied to the early years in New Amsterdam and Rensselaerwyck (named for Killeen van Rensselaer) where Jacob and his brother Symon were sometimes referred to as "van Hoorn" from Hoorn, the city where they resided while in Holland in 1633 and not far from the village of Winkel. Jacob was among the early settlers of New Netherlands. The date is not fixed with any certainty, but the existence of two early maps, and an inventory list of farm animals from the Killean van Rensselaer records, confirms that Jacob arrived prior to 1630. He was known as Jacob Walingen in Holland, and sometimes as Jacob van Hoorn in New Amsterdam. He was Jacob Waelingen in Rensselaerwyck. "Walichs" is found in the early records of Holland and is also the version found in the heraldry book which describes the Shield which is attributed to the family. Walich (Van Winkle) Arms

The 1913 Van Winkle Genealogy gives the following: "The coat of arms of Pier Walichs appears on a Document dated July 8, 1455, the original copy being on file in the manuscript division of the 'Koninklijke Bibliotheek' at the Hague, a copy being in the Raabhuis at Winkel." This account appears in the papers of Edward Van Winkle, an author, and a recording secretary of the Holland Society in the early 1900s: "William H. Count of Holland fell in battle against the West Freisians near Heogwens about six miles south of the village of Winkel. William's son Floris eventually subdued the West Freisians. A Walich served under William II and Floris and received the Crest, Cape and Arms for his service.

Notes for TRINTJE JACOBS:

Tryntje is the Dutch diminutive for Catherine and was variously written in early records as Trintje, Treyntje, Trenica, Trintia, and Katherin. Tryntje's surname is uncertain. She may have, according to Dutch custom, retained her father's name of Jacob. But it is also possible that she had so identified herself with her first husband that she was referred to as "Tryntje, Jacob's wife" just as she was often known as "Tryntje Walings" - "Walings' Wife."

Notes for MICHAEL VAN WINKLE:

He was a Private in Capt Gardner's Company, October 1757 to Jul 20, 1758. After the Revolution he moved South and West, staying for short periods in North and South Carolina, Georgia, Kentucky and finally settling in Ohio. This is based on births and marriages of his children, their settlement and land records. Michael and Phoebe traveled the route known as the Fall Line Road that began in Philadelphia and followed the eastern slope of the Appalachians through Virginia and the Carolinas into Georgia and ending at Jackson, MS. They are presumed to have traveled the Fall Line Road as far as Wilkes County, GA, before moving to Kentucky and Ohio. He was probably buried at the Sugar Grove Cemetery; his grave was reportedly lost to floods.

Generation No. 10

Notes for JESSE VAN WINKLE:

Jesse and Mary Ann Braden lived in Chester District, SC where several land transactions are recorded; some included son William. Several of Jesse's children continued the southern movement through Georgia into Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas and Texas; the only Van Winkle family to have taken this route. Jesse left South Carolina about 1826; he is found in Hall County, GA in 1830 living near several of his children. At this point his movement becomes unclear. He may have moved to Jackson County, AL where a Jesse, presently unconnected to earlier generations, but who was the progenitor of a present-day branch of the family in Texas, had land in the late 1820s. This latter Jesse is on the AL 1830 census but may be another individual since family make-up on the Georgia and Alabama census lists are different and which, if the unexplained indicate two Jesse's. A second marriage for Jesse could explain the differences in the census readings if the census dates were far enough apart to permit travel time from Hall County, GA to Jackson County, AL. He is probably the Jesse listed in the Georgia 1840 Hall County census based on daughter Elizabeth's residence there. David Lawson's obituary sketch says he lived in Georgia for several years with his parents before they moved to Mississippi. A Jesse appears on Georgia 1830, Merriwether County; this is probably the same individual as 1840 since they left South Carolina in the late 1820s.

Children of JESSE VAN WINKLE and MARY BRADEN are:

- i. JAMES BRADEN<sup>11</sup> VAN WINKLE, b. South Carolina; d. Jun 25, 1862, Chesterville, Pontotoc, MS; m. JULIA ANN CARTER, Feb 10, 1848, Banner, Calhoun, MS; b. Oct 19, 1824, South Carolina; d. Jun 10, 1907, Providence, Covington, MS.

Notes for JAMES BRADEN VAN WINKLE:

He served with the Confederate Army as a Corporal with Company D, 31st Mississippi Infantry; enlisting Mar 7, 1862 at Sarepta, MS; he died in Chesterville, MS, of typhoid fever, he is most likely buried in the Confederate graveyard at Chesterfield, MS that is marked for 60 unknown. Family history says he fought at the Battle of Shiloh, Apr 6-7, 1862. The extracted military records do not list his combat service.

- ii. BETSY VAN WINKLE, d. 1793.

- x. JESSE CARTER VAN WINKLE, b. 1822, South Carolina; m. JEMIMA CAROLINE; b. 1828, South Carolina.
