1. Jean<sup>1</sup> Delon died Deceased. He married Benitte Martin. She died Deceased.

Notes for Jean Delon:

Alsace and Lorraine have been fought over for centuries by France and Germany, and have changed this nationality four times since 1871.

Today the region presents a more peaceful landscape of pastel-painted villages, fortified towns and sleepy vineyards.

At the northeast frontier of France, bordered by the Rhine, Alsace forms a fertile watershed between the mountains of the Vosges and the Black Forest of Germany.

Lorraine, with its gently rolling landscape on the other side of the mountains, is the poorer cousin but appears more overtly French in character.

Centuries of strife have made border citadels of Metz, Toul and Verdun in Lorraine, while Alsace abounds with castles, from the pastiche folly of Haut-Koenigsbourg to Saverne's ruined fortress, built to guard a strategic pass in the Vosges. However, the area has a strong identity of its own, taking pride in local costumes, traditions and dialects.

In Alsace, Route du Vin </wines/routes/alsace/alsace.htm > vineyards nudge pretty villages in the Vosges foothills. Strasbourg, the capital, is a cosmopolitan city with a 16th-century centre, while Nancy, Lorraine's historical capital, represents elegant 18th-century architecture and town planning. Much of the attraction of this region lies in its cuisine. Lorraine offers beer and quiche lorraine. In Alsace, cosy winstubs, or wine cellars, serve sauerkraut and flowery white wines, such as Riesling or Gewürztraminer.

History of Lorraine

843 After the Treaty of Verdun, Charlemagne's Empire was split, the "Middle Kingdom" including Lorraine was allotted to the Emperor Lothaire.

870 After the Treaty of Meersen, the "Middle Kingdom" was divided, the majority of the territory of Lorraine came under West Frankish sovereignty, the remaining areas passed back and forth between Frankish and German kings.

951 Duchy of Lower Lorraine went to Netherlands and lost the name of Lorraine; Duchy of Upper Lorraine retained its name, was largely independent with some cities being vassals of France, some unimportant towns were vassals of the German Empire.

1473 After the Treaty of Nancy, Charles of Burgundy became the "protector" of Lorraine, aligned with France; the Bishops of Toul, Metz and Verdun were ecclesiastical princes of the Holy Roman Empire.

1476 Upon the death of Charles of Burgundy, Lorraine became an independent Duchy under Duke Renee, aligned to France with some cities subordinate to the Duchy.

1542 After the Convention of Nuremburg, Duke Anthony (heir to Renee) confirmed the independence of Lorraine, refused to submit to the German Emperor; Anthony's brothers were French, his daughter-in-law was a niece of the Emperor.

1546 Duchy placed under French Bishops's guardianship due to the death of Anthony's heir, leaving a widow who was related to the Hapsburgs and a young son; Metz, Toul and Verdun came under the French bishopric in 1552.

1632 During the Thirty Years' War, Duke Charles IV was forced to cede much of Lorraine (except Nancy) to French King Louis XIII

1646 The Treaty of Westphalia after the Thirty Years' War confirmed France in possession of Metz, Toul and Verdun, other sections of Lorraine not specified

1659 After the Treaty of the Pyrenees, land was restored to Charles IV, but with diminished power

1697 After the Treaty of Ryswick, Duke Leopold compromised with Louis XIV, held the title of Duke but surrendered much authority; Leopold was German-Austrian

**** First "Swabian Migration" under Habsburg King Charles VI 1718-1737

1738 After the Treaty of Vienna, Duke Franz, who had married Maria Theresa (Habsburg) ceded Lorraine to Louis XIV, in exchange for Tuscany; Stanislaus, a deposed King of Poland, was named titular Duke for life

**** Second "Swabian Migration" under Habsburg Queen Maria Theresa 1740-1772

**** Third "Swabian Migration" under Habsburg King Joseph V 1780-1790

1793 Feudal estates and fiefs incorporated into the French Republic, named departments of Meurthe, Meuse, Vosges and Moselle (included German Lorraine and Pays Messin)

1871 After the Treaty of Frankfort, Moselle (including German Lorraine, the city of Metz and Pays Messin) were ceded to the German Empire

Lorraine remained part of the German Empire until 1918, when it was awarded to France after World War I.

The Alsace-Lorraine-Sarland Area between the 12th Century and 1648 was divided into many states among which the Duchy of Lothringen, the Republic of Metz and the Bishoprics of Metz, Toul and Verdun were the most important ones. All these states belonged to the Holy Roman Empire under Charlemagne. Lothar, his grandson, acquired the Duchy of Lothringen. In 1648, according to Treaty of Westphalia, Metz, Toul and Verdun became French cities. Between 1648-1766 The Duchy of Lothringen, was surrounded by French territories, and was repeatedly occupied by the French troops. When the Duke Stanislas Leszcynski died in 1766, the Duchy of Lothringen became the French province of Lorraine.

Notes for Nicolas Delon:

Nicolas Delon died some time after 1731 in D67, 67, Bas the Rhine. If this is true, then it seems likely that it was one of his sons who arrived in 1949--thirteen years after Pierre Delon's arrival in 1736.

Nicolas Delon's first son, Nicolas Delon, was born 2 Mar 1720: Nicolas son of Nicolas Delon and Marguerite Benoit; godfather: Michel Benoit; godmother: Marie Martain.

Nicolas Delon's second son, Nicolas Delon was born 24 Aug 1721: Nicolas son of Nicolas Delon and Margueritte Benoit; godfather: Nicolas Georgeon; godmother: Barbe Chrestien.

Because of the high infant mortality rate in those days, it was common practice for a family to name more than one son after the father in order to insure that the father's family name would be continued.

On 15 September 1749 a "Nicolas Delon" Arrived in Philadelphia on ship Phoenix, via Nassau, Zweibrucken, Wirtemberg, & Palatinate. The ship departed in Rotterdam, Germany and made one stop at Cowes, England. This is the same route that Peter (Delon) Delo took in 1736.

Nicolas Delon was born before about 1697 in D67,67,Bas the Rhine.1 On 20 February 1719 Nicolas Delon married Marguerite Benoit In Saulxures, 67, The Low Rhine, France.1 & 2 Marguerite Benoit was born about 1687 in D67,67,Bas the Rhine.1

Children of NICOLAS DELON AND MARGUERITE BENOIT are:

Nicolas..... 2 March 1720--son of Nicolas Delon and Marguerite Benoit; godfather: Michel Benoit; godmother: Marie Martain.

Nicolas..... 24 August 1721--son of Nicolas Delon and Margueritte Benoit; godfather: Nicolas Georgeon; godmother: Barbe Chrestien.

Pierre .....1 March 1722--son of Nicolas Delon and Marguerite Benoit; godfather: Pierre Delon; godmother: Magdelaine Benoit.

Jean.....8 February 1725-- son of Nicolas Delon and Marguerite Benoit; godfather: Pierre Benoit; godmother: Jeanne Benoit.

Joseph..... August 1727--son of Nicolas Delon and Marguerite Benoit; godfather: Joseph Charpantier; godmother: Jeanne Didio.

Anne.....12 February 1730-- daughter of Nicolas Delon and Marguerite Benoit; godfather: Jean Delon; godmother: Anne Ferry.

Marie... ..30 December 1731-- legitimate daughter of Nicolas Delon and Marguerite Benoit of Saulxures. Godfather: Nicolas Le Boube; godmother: Agnes Humber(t) (out of sequence, after Nov 1732, but date underlined).

Marguerite.....3 May 1734--leg. dau. of Nicolas Delon and Marguerite Benoit. Godfather: Jean Martin; godmother: Anne Charpantier .

Nicolas Delon died about 1731 in D67,67,Bas the Rhine. Marguerite Benoit died about 1751 in D67,67,Bas the Rhine.

On 9 February 1751 Marie Delon daughter of Nicolas Delon and the deceased Marguerite Benoit. married Nicolas Didio son of Nicolas Didio married Jeanne Chretien, and Witnesses: Francois Gerard and Nicolas Michel.

Family DIDIO - DELON Marriage: 1751 In Saulxures, 67, The Low Rhine, France,

DELON, Nicolas and BENOIT, Marguerite parents of

DELON, Marie Sex: Female

Birth: 1731 In Saulxures, 67, The Low Rhine, France.

Death: after 1753 in D67,67,Bas the Rhine.

In 1749 on September 15th, Nicolas Delon Arrival in Philadelphia on the ship Phoenix via Nassau, Zweibrucken, Wirtemberg, & Palatinate. It departed Rotterdam and made one stop at Cowes, England. This is the same route that Pierre (Peter) Delon (Delo) and his family took in 1736, thirteen years earlier.

From the records, it appears that there were at least two Nicholas Delons and probably three, located in southeast Pennsylvania. The belief that there were two is brought about from the names of wives and dates of births of children. The belief that there were three is the tax of the "single man" in 1782. Perhaps a son of one of the earlier Nicolas Delons. Of the probable three Nicolas Delons in Southeast Pennsylvania, only one has a documented birth and death date.

On 16 September 1736, the ship Princess Augusta docked in Philadelphia. The ship's journey originated in the Rhine River Valley of Germany and passengers boarded as far down the Rhine as Rotterdam, port of embarkation. The only other stop was at Cowes, England. Pierre DuLon, his wife and four children (whose names were not given) were the identified passengers on the lists drawn up by the ship's master, Samuel Marchant. A later typed version of the list had Pierre's name as Petter Delo.

The Current research on the European locations <<http://www.mcn.org/2/noel/location.htm>> of the Noel, Strasbach, Christian/Chretien, Delon, Gerard, and the Ory <<http://www.oryfamilyhistory.com>> families who sailed on the Princess Augusta in 1736 indicate that these people came from an area north of Saulxures, in the Vosges in eastern France, which in 1736 was part of the Principality of Salm that was jointly administered by the Prince of Salm and the Duke of Lorraine and did not pass solely to the Prince of Salm until 1751. The last chancellor of the Principality of Salm was a Noel.

Five of the seven families who arrived on the Princess Augusta (including the Delon's, the Noel's, and the Strausbaugh's) have been located in the principality of SALM which is now part of Lorraine.

The Seven Families Who Sailed On The Princes Augusta In 1736

Jean Francois Chretien\Krichten/Christian age 40 with wife, Ann Noël, and one child.

Peter Dulon\Delon/Dilon age 40 and wife, Agathe Munier and 4 children.

Nicholas Gerard age 30 and his wife, believed to be Jeane Florence. No children were listed.

Eneas Noël age 36 with wife and one child.

Joseph Noël age 56 with wife and 7 children including his son Pierre who was age 16.

Francois Ory age 56 and his second wife, Anna Maria Perchi and 3 children. Francois stayed in Lancaster County, PA.

Nicholas Ory age 26 and single, the nephew of Francois , and a member of the Pigeon Hills group. Nicholas married Ann, the daughter of Nicholas Strasbach.

Nicholas Strasbach age 40 and his wife Catherine Gerard and seven children including his daughter Ann who was 16.

On the Princess Augusta, the ship's Captain Marchant, a name of French origin, in his ships records, singled out seven families and treated these differently than the rest. The seven were the families of Nicholas Strasbach, Joseph Noel, Eneas Noel, John Francis Christian, Peter Delon, Nicholas Gerard, and Francis Ory and his adult son Nicholas.

Of 330 passengers on the ship, these were the only families for which the captain made an addition to his ship's passenger list which indicated whether the male passenger had brought a wife and also included a tabulation of the number of children in each family.

One can only speculate as to the reason the captain did this. It is suspected that these may have been the only families aboard who could communicate in French and thus perhaps the only passengers with whom Captain Marchant could easily converse.

When the males of the Princess Augusta appeared before the Philadelphia Court for clearance, the following of this group signed in their own handwriting: Francois Ory, Nicolas Ory, Jean Francois Chretien, N Gerard, Pierre Dulon, and Joseph Noel, obvious French spellings. Nicholas Strasbach could not write and his name was recorded on the Courts s list as heard by others as Collas Drasbart and Collas Prasbart. On the Captain's lists his name was recorded as Nicolas Trasbart and Nicollas Drasbart. The other males of this group who did not write their own name were Peter Noel, 16 year old son of Joseph, and Eneas Noel, whose relationship to Joseph is unknown.

This group of passengers of the Princess Augusta signed their names in French, found rapport with the captain of an English ship who was probably of French origin, assimilated easily into a German culture on the Pennsylvania frontier, spoke German in their homes and with their German neighbors , in Pennsylvania records were called by the English or German versions of their names, were called French by their descendants, were probable founders of what early writers of the area called a "French Colony", and were Catholics who seem to have gotten along well with their German Protestant neighbors. [Osborne, Chapter 1]

Location of the DELON - DELO - DELAUNE - De L'eau in Loraine, France.

The first Pennsylvania counties were formed in 1682; county names and boundaries did not stabilize until 1878 which means for nearly 200 years they were changing! The three original Pennsylvania counties were Bucks, Chester, and Philadelphia. Lancaster County was formed in 1729. A new county followed rather than preceded settlement patterns. Settlers of areas outside established counties might remain entirely unknown unless their territory was absorbed into a new county during their lifetime. Because of the way that counties were created and developed, a family could be identified over several decades as having lived in several townships or several different counties, without having physically moved an inch.

Of these families, those of Joseph Noel, Peter Delon, John Francis Christian, Nicholas Strasbach, and Nicholas Ory , came on to the settlement north of Pigeon Hills as their first place of settlement of any permanence. Nicholas Ory is the only one of his family known to have come to the Pigeon Hills, however not long after arrival in America he married the oldest daughter of Nicholas Strasbach. The relationship between Eneas Noel and Joseph Noel is unknown. It is believed that Eneas settled in Berks County, Pennsylvania . What happened to the rest of the Ory family and Nicholas Gerard is unknown. [Osborne, Chapter 1]

In those early times the land remained the property of the English Crown. The Penn family had been given proprietary rights to the lands of the colony. The Proprietaries in turn sold rights to occupy and use the land subject to a yearly quitrent. The settlers acquired the permanent right to occupy this land by obtaining a patent deed from the Proprietaries or their agents.

The process was for the settler to find and claim a desired land parcel, and then obtain a warrant for the described land. Next an official survey was made to define the location and determine the amount of land, and finally a patent deed was obtained for the property. The quit rent was usually retroactive to the time the settler started his improvements to the property.

The warrant, survey, and quit rent required cash payment, something many of the early settlers did not have. Therefore it was common for the settler to squat on the land until he could afford the payments.

The need for this delay in obtaining warrants was apparently recognized and the officials more or less permitted a grace period before enforcing the legal process for land acquisition. This unofficial grace period seems to have been about seven years. However, many settlers took no action toward obtaining a warrant for their claimed land until they were threatened with loss of the land, or they had a need of their own to obtain a legal patent deed for the land. It was said by one early official, the Germans would squat on the best lands and never paid anything until made to do so.

The Lancaster County lands across the Susquehanna River in the Beaver Creek area were not officially opened for settlement until 1736 when the Penns purchased these lands from the Indians. There may be some unauthorized settlers in the area before then. [Osborn, Chapter 1]

The first of the land warrants obtained by one of the Princess Augusta families was that of John Francis Christian (L14) in 1744. His land was surveyed in 1745 and showed Strasbaugh (L12) as a neighbor. In the same year the survey draft of John Bready's land (M14) also showed Strausbaugh as a neighbor.

There appears to have been little land record activity in this settlement prior to 1750. The warrants prior to 1750, found to date include: 1738, Jacob Eyler (L12); 1743, John Bready (M14); 1744, John Francis Christian (L14); 1745, John Bready (K19), 1746, James Reed (H5 & J5), Mathias Bowser (F16).

The officials must have then caused some activity. Warranted 1750, Nicholas Strasbach (M12), Nicholas Noel (K11), Peter Noel (J15), John Nagle (E16), Jacob Eyler (M8); 1751, Melchor Kerbach (M16), Nicholas Shearer (M1), John Hunsinger (N10), John Noel (M10); 1754, Frederick Shulla (N13); 1756, Jacob Giles (O18); 1762, Peter Delon (K7), John Noel (H17 & G18); 1765, John Grove (G19).

Land surveys for the Alsatian families were made in 1745, John Francis Christian; 1751, Nicholas Strasbach; 1753, Nicholas Noel; 1764, John Noel; 1766, Peter Noel, Peter Delon, Nicholas Strasbach Jr, 1767, Nicholas Delon.

Joseph Noel probably died before 1750 and his land warranted by one or more of his sons) Peter, John or Nicholas. No land records have been found for his younger sons Andrew or Joseph Jr in this area. The land (H17 & G18) north of York Road, John Noel warranted in 1762 is somewhat of a puzzle. John obtained a deed to this unwarranted land from Hans Hamilton in 1761. The Hans Hamilton family were on west in Manor of Maske by 1741. Perhaps they settled on this land prior to moving on to Marsh Creek, and the Noel family then occupied the land. Perhaps the deed was needed to obtain clear title to the land which the Noels may have been occupying for 20 some years.

Nicholas Noel was another son-in-law of Nicholas Strasbach. John Heidler, another son-in-law of Nicholas Strasbach, inherited land from his brother Jacob in 1760. John didn't have this land surveyed until 1797.

Nicholas Strasbach inherited his fathers land (M12) in 1753. He acquired another property (J5) out by Cross Keys in 1765, which he had surveyed in 1766, and in 1768 sold to George Noll. This was a part of the land warranted by James Reed in 1746. Not long after 1768, Nicholas and his son Peter relocated to Buchanan Valley in that part of York County which later became Adams County. Michael Strasbach, youngest son of Nicholas Sr) acquired land south of Pigeon Hills and off the area covered by the Land Map. Most Strausbaugh families of York County and eastern Adams County, descended from Michael Strasbach.

It should not be construed from the preceding, that these families straggled into this area over a period of time. Study of various records provides evidence the better lands in this settlement were occupied by 1741. Lands taken by Princess Augusta families were some of the best. In order to acquire an almost contiguous group of these prime properties, immediately surrounding the land John Abbott and Jacob Eyler, the whole group of these families must have arrived within a very short period of time, probably in 1738 or 1739, certainly not later than 1740. They were the original warrantees of most of this land.

The Strasbach (Strausbaugh), Noel, and Delon (Dillon) families stayed in this settlement for some time and descendants of the Strausbaugh family still live in surrounding areas. Part of the Strausbaugh, Noel and Dillon families moved to Buchanan Valley in Northwest Adams County and descendants of these Strausbaugh and Dillon families still live in that area.

Some of the second generation of these families were born in the settlement, essentially all reached adulthood and married here. The only marriage between the second generation of these families that might have occurred before they reached the Pigeon Hills was that of Nicholas Ory and Anna Strasbach.

Pierre Dillo(e) had 100 acres of land surveyed in 1736 in Lancaster County.

A second Dellone immigrant came to America 14 years after the Princess Augusta families. This was Nicholas Dellone, who also eventually came to the Abbottstown area and whose descendants remained in the Abbottstown area after those of Peter Delon left the area. Nicholas Dellone was also called "of France", but he was from Alsace and returned to Alsace on several occasions, reportedly once to settle his father's estate. Some historians have suggested the possibility Nicholas was a relative of Peter Delon, however, that they were related, or the degree of relationship, are unknown and unproven. [Osborne, Chapter 1]

Notes for Nicholas Strausbaugh Jr:

The following entry was found in the York County Bond Book , A73, October 25, 1753: "NICHOLAS STRASBAUGH to Nicholas Strasbaugh." [That is, Nicholas Strausbaugh Sr. gave his lands to Nicholas Jr.]

"In 1757 the resident priest at Conewago, the Reverend Mathias Sittensberger, S.J., also known as Father Manners, reported that there were 116 German Catholics at Conewago 12 years of age or older and 73 Irish Catholics of the same age . The term "Irish" must have included both Irish and English. It is difficult to find enough identifiable Catholic surnames at Conewago in the 1762 tax assessments of York County to reach those numbers. The known, or likely, Catholic families there, as of 1762, based on those assessments, were the families of Thomas Adams, Michael and Peter DELOW ( DELONE), John Hedler (Heidler), Christian Hemler, Thomas Lilly, George, Jost (Joseph?) and Philip NOLL ( NOEL), Thomas and William Owings, Jacob Shup (Schorb?), Adam Stapp (Staab), Peter Storm, Nicholas STRASBACK (STRASBACH), Peter Wilt and Frederick Wolf. Most of those families lived in the townships of Mount Pleasant and Berwick. " [Catholic Trails West, Vol. 2, pp. 347-348]

Sometime between 1766 and 1772, Nicholas Strausbaugh moved on to Buchanan Valley in the western part of York County and located in what was to later become Menallen Township of Adams County.

Both Nicholas Jr. and his son, Peter, appeared on the tax roles in Menallen Township.

~The journey from Philadelphia to Abbottstown can best be duplicated by heading west on US 30 out of Philadelphia through Lancaster, through York and onto Gettysburg. Abbottstown lies between York and Gettysburg. This route follows the old trail known as the Great Indian Warriors Trail and then later The Wilderness Road. These are what I call natural roads -- started by the animals in their migrations, then the Native Americans followed these trails, then the early European explorers and settlers followed them, and now our concrete and asphalt roads still follow these original natural roads.

Maryland and Pennsylvania were considered the safest areas in colonial America for Catholics, and they felt much safer in wilderness areas where they could settle in their own enclaves.

Nicholas Jr. resided in Cocalico Twp, Lancaster Co, PA; Frederick Co, MD; Berwick Twp, Adams Co, PA; and Menallen Twp, Adams Co, PA. He married Matlena Delone, prior to 1748 , probably in Lancaster Co, PA. While residing in Cocalico Twp, his name is spelled as Tresbeck, this was 1755. By 1762 he was in York Co, in that part that later became Berwick Twp. He was on tax rolls for 1762. On 13 May 1766 , a tract of land in Berwick Twp, along the York Rd was surveyed by Nicholas, indicating that he was probably still living there at the time. It is believed he was living not far from the French Settlement in Pidgeon Hills. Between 1766 and 1772 he moved to Buchanan Valley in the western part of York Co and located in what was to later become Menallen Twp, Adams Co. In 1772, both he and his son Peter appear on the tax rolls there.

180 acres, 2 buildings, 2 horses, 3 cattle assessed at $424.

Peter and a group of his neighbors who appear in both the 1790 and 1810 census are missing from the 1800 census and it appears that a page may have been lost by the time these pages were microfilmed.

His property and tax were the same as in 1799.

St. Ignatius was completed in 1817. Peter and Michael Strausbaugh were among the original members. The household included 1 male over 45 (Peter), 1 male 26-44 (probably Michael about age 47), a male 18-25 (probably George 25), 1 female over 45 (Barbara), 1 female 10-14 ( probably a daughter of Michael). Their son Jacob was listed as the head of the adjacent household in Menallen Township.

Prior to the completion of the church of St. Ignatius in the Buchanan Valley in 1817, Mass was said there at the farms of Adrew NOEL, Sr. and the Irwin family for families that included the Cole's, Dellone's, Stahles, Walter's, and Strasbaugh's.

Some of the names of the first settlers of Buchanan Valley , originally called "Pleasant Valley," (settled about 1734 ) were . . . Andrew Noel, Peter Strasbaugh, Nicholas Strasbaugh, John Delone.

Peter was born about 1748, probably in Lancaster County , Pennsylvania, the son of Nicolas Strausbaugh, Jr., and grandson of Nicholas Strausbaugh, the immigrant ancestor. According to his death notice in the 15 Jun 1830 edition of the Gettysburg Compiler, Peter Strausbaugh died in his 82nd year on 31 Jan 1830. This indicates that he was born sometime between 2 Jun 1747 and 1 Jun 1748. The part of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, in which he was born, is unknown . It is doubtful that his father had yet arrived in the part of Lancaster County that later became York and Adams Counties. It appears that during Peter's youth the family, at various times, lived in what is now Lancaster, York, and Adams Counties of Pennsylvania and also in Frederick County, Maryland. Nicholas Strausbaugh was still in Berwick Township, York County in May 1766 when Peter was about 18 years of age. Sometime between then and 1772, they relocated to western York County, settling in what is now known as Buchanan Valley in Menallen Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania.

When Peter and his father, Nicholas, arrived in Buchanan Valley, then known as Paradise Valley, the valley was entirely within Menallen Township. When adjacent Franklin Township was formed in 1785, the valley was divided such that the southwestern portion lay in Franklin and the northeastern portion in Menallen Township of York County. The neighborhood in which the Strausbauhs had settled was split such that the part in which they settled remained in Menallen Township but some of their neighbors were thereafter in Franklin Township.

Peter Strausbaugh made his home in Buchanan Valley the rest of his life, except for his last two years when he apparently lived with his son, Abraham, at Fairfield in Hamiltoban Township, Adams County. All of his children were born in Menallen Township, York County, Pennsylvania.

Peter and Barbara were part of a small group of Catholics in Buchanan Valley ministered to by Jesuit Missionary Priests from Conewago Chapel. Their services were generally conducted in the home of Andrew Noel until about 1816 when they established their own church, which was named the St . Ignatius Catholic Church. This church was built on a commanding eminence above the southern part of Buchanan Valley in Franklin Township, and about 10 miles west of Gettysburg. John Lowstetter, a son-in-law of Andrew Noel gave the land for the church, and the cornerstone was laid in October 1816 . The early records of this church are lost and undoubtedly contained records that would have been of considerable value to this family history. It is said that in the early years of this South Mountains parish, the Rev. Adophus L. DeBarth, one of the Jesuit Priests, celebrated mass in the home of Andrew Noel in Menallen Township. This was probably during the period of about 1797 to 1817.

During the early years of this parish the missionary priests placed the records in the registry of Conewago Chapel. The earliest record found in the Conewago Chapel registry that can be identified as related to members of the South Mountains parish, was the marriage of Peter Delon and Elizabeth Strasbach, daughter of Peter and Barbara, which occurred 8 Jan 1798 . The witnesses were Joseph Strasbach, Henry Becker , Catherine Strasbach and Elizabeth Dellow.

The Conewago Chapel register sometimes, but not always , identifies the Buchanan Valley records as being of the "South Mountains." Since the South Mountain entries start in the late 1790's, the early baptisms of Peter's grandchildren appear in these records but none of the baptisms of his own children are there, indicating that the family of Peter and Barbara was apparently complete prior to about 1797 . The marriage records of the children of Peter Strausbaugh which are found in Conewago Chapel records include: Elizabeth 1797, Joseph 1803, Jacob 1808, Abraham 1818, and Anna 1820. Marriages that can be identified through baptisms of the children found in Conewago Chapel records include: Catherine, Barbara, Peter and George. Marriages of the children of Peter and Elizabeth not found include Michael, Susanna, Margaret, John and Joanna. Probably some of these married out of the Catholic Church and possibly some of the daughters never married.

It is thought that neither Peter or his father could write, hence a considerable variation on the spelling of the name is found in various records. The early records in Menallen Township used variations of the "T" spelling. The "T" spelling was used in 1772 in the earliest existing tax record of Menallen Township. In 1779 Peter's name was spelled Trosbaugh, in 1781 it was spelled Tresbach, and in 1883 was spelled Trasbach. In the 1790 Census it was spelled Trasbaugh.

The earliest found spelling of the name Strausbaugh in the Conewago records for Peter's family occurred in 1798 where it was recorded as Strasbach. This may have been influenced by the Conewago priests who were also recording the names of the Strausbaugh cousins living in the Conewago area who were using the "S" spelling. In any event, after 1797, the spelling generally was some variation of Strasbaugh . The last found use of the "T" spelling occurs in the 1810 Census where the name of Peter's son Joseph was spelled Trosbaugh. However, "S" spellings were used for the other members of the family.

Peter's name was listed as Peter Strasbach on the 1799 tax list for Menallen Township. His assessed valuation was $424.

It is not certain just how many children Peter and Barbara Strausbaugh had. No listing of the family, prepared by one of the immediate family, is known to exist. Therefore , it has been necessary to assemble the family by association using bits of information gleaned from various records.

The 1790 Census of York County, Pennsylvania, shows the family of Peter Trasbaugh to consist of 2 males over 16 ( Peter and one son born prior to 1774, probably Michael age about 17), 4 males below 16 (probably Joseph age 10, Jacob age 7, Peter age about 5 and John age about 3), and 7 females (his wife Barbara, and six daughters, probably Catherine age about 16, Susanna, Elizabeth, Barbara, Margaret, and Joanna.)

After 1790 Peter and Barbara had two more sons, Abraham born about 1792 and George born about 1795. They also had at least one more daughter, probably Anna and possibly another. It is difficult to determine the total number of children because Peter does not appear in the 1800 Census. Peter and a group of his neighbors that appear in both the 1790 and 1810 Censuses are missing from the 1800 Census and it appears that a page may have been lost by the time these pages were microfilmed.

In the Census of 1810, Peter is shown as a head-of-family in Menallen Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania. Some published indexes show him in Cumberland Township. A close examination shows that some of the pages were apparently loose and were filmed out of order.

(Research): The church records of the Peter Strausbaugh family were kept first in the registry of Conewago Chapel and later in the registry of the St. Ignatius Church. Unfortunately the records of Conewago Chapel prior to 1791 are lost as were the early records of the St. Ignatius Church.

Notes for Barbara Noel:

She was named as a daughter in Peter Noel's will.

The Noel family is believed to have been one of the early families of the French settlement in the Pigeon Hills of Berwick Township, York County. It is believed that at about the same time, Nicholas Strausbaugh, Sr., settled just a few miles east of Pigeon Hills, in Paradise Township . It is believed that sometime prior to 1762, Nicholas Strausbaugh, Jr., moved into the Pigeon Hills neighborhood near the Andrew Noel family and that sometime during the late 1760's or very early 1770's, these two families were the early settlers of Buchanan Valley. In the census of 1790 , the Peter Trasbaugh household was listed between those of Andrew Knowel and Nicholas Trasbaugh.

Research now indicates that a continuous interaction had existed between the Noel and Strausbaugh families prior to the sailing of the Princess Augusta. Marriages between these two families was a logical result of their close friendships. Andrew Noel or members of his family were second only to members of Peter Strausbaugh's immediate family in participation as sponsors for the baptisms of Peter's grandchildren.

Barbara's grandfather, Joseph Noel, was possibly the source of the name given to Joseph Strausbaugh, the second known son of Peter and Barbara Strausbaugh. Their daughter Elizabeth was probably named for Barbara's mother, Elizabeth.

- 50        iii. Catherine Strausbaugh, born 15 Sep 1776 in Menallen Township, York, PA; died Abt. 1861 in Green Township, Harrison County, Ohio. She married William Cobb 26 Feb 1805 in Green Township, Harrison Cty, Ohio; born 21 Oct 1760 in Southwick, Surry County, England; died Abt. 1843 in Green Township, Harrison, Ohio.

Notes for Catherine Strausbaugh:

Catherine was living with her daughter, Mary Ann, and her family. She apparently lived with Mary Ann and Henry the rest of her life. Catherine was a witness at the marriage of Peter Delon and her sister, Elizabeth Strasbach, in 1798. It is probable that the baptisms of William and Abraham did not take place at Conewago Chapel, but rather in the South Mountains where the small group of Catholics worshiped in the home of Catherine's grandfather, Andrew Noel, and were ministered by Jesuit missionary priests from Conewago Chapel.

Notes for William Cobb:

The William Cobb household included 1 male 46 and over (William), 3 males under 10 (John about 3 and William 1), 1 female over 46 (possibly Catherine's mother, Barbara Strausbaugh, she was not listed in her own home and may have been staying in the Cobb home to help out with the new baby) , 1 female 26-45 (Catherine), and 1 female under 10 ( probably Mary Ann, then a new babe).

George (age 65) and a son (age 17).

Rev. F. B. Cattani attended [at St. Ignatius] for a short time from 1848 to 1850. . . . During the time Father Cattani had charge of the congregation the members cut 52 cords of wood on church property for charcoal. The money obtained for the charcoal was used in purchasing stoves and pipe, for making seats in church and repairing tenant house on the church farm . . . ; the men who volunteered to do this work, (those who chopped the wood,) were . . . John DeLONE, Joseph DeLONE, Peter DeLONE . . . George STRAUSBAUGH . . . Each man cut three cords.

The names of those who peeled the cords of bark without charge were . . . George Strasbaugh . . . Joseph DeLone, Peter DeLone . . .

Theresa Delon (Dillon) is thought to be the granddaughter of Peter Delo, the original Dillon to settle in what is now Adams County.

Notes for Andrew Noel, Sr:

Andrew Noel - Present in the home:

3 white males over 16

2 white males under 16

5 white females

He is listed just ahead of Peter Trasbaugh and Nicholas Trasbaugh.

Andrew Newel (Noel) owned 150 acres of land, 3 buildings, 2 horses , 3 cattle, mountain land in two 200 acre parcels, 2 sawmills and 4 buildings in Menallen Township, York County, Pennsylvania.

Andrew Noel lived in Menallen Township. Living in his home were 3 males under 10 years of age; 1 male between 10 and 16 years of age; 1 male between 16 and 26 years of age ; 1 male over age 45; 2 females under 10 years of age ; 1 female between 26 and 45 years of age.

He owned a distillery in Menallen Township, Adams County , Pennsylvania.

Theresa wife of David Warren

Andrew Noel, Sr. (alias Nail) was the first person buried in the Cemetery, in 1821, aged 86 years, no stone.

Since Andrew Noel's will was probated in March 1817, he must have died prior to that. Reily may have been mistaken on the date of burial. Age 86, no stone.

"The old Conewago crowd travelled regularly over a good part of Maryland and as far west in Pennsylvania as Pittsburgh . Reily recounts how they drove their old wagons on the Baltimore, Havre de Grace and Pittsburgh roads, the Noels, Wises, Klunks, Dellones, Bievenours, Wills, James Strausbaugh, David Snyder, the aptly-named Frederick Rider, Henry Hemler, Peter O'Neill (the Chapel team), Harry Colehour, the Toppers on Wm. Jenkin's team, William Carbaugh and 'some colored men' on the Lilly team, the Owingses, Adamses, Shorbs, David Zook and the Graybills. Wagoning was the means by which trade was carried on. The wagons carried off grain and flour and returned with store goods and even fish." [Catholic Trails West, Vol. 2, pp. 353-354]

Rev. Adolphus L. DeBARTH celebrated Mass at the house of Andrew NOEL, Sr., which stood on the farm now owned by John IRVIN; the old house stood in the meadow a little distance from the present residence; this was some time before the church was built, between 1800 and 1817.

Some of the original members of St. Ignatius were: Peter STRAUSBAUGH, Michael STRAUSBAUGH, Michael DeLONE, John DeLONE, Andrew NOEL, Wm. NOEL, Joseph BAKER, and Christian BAKER.

Andrew NOEL put the first seats in the church.

The church records of the Andrew Noel family were kept first in the registry of Conewago Chapel and later in the registry of the St. Ignatius Church. Unfortunately the records of Conewago Chapel prior to 1791 are lost as were the early records of the St. Ignatius Church.

"Prior to the completion of the church of St. Ignatius in the Buchanan Valley in 1817, Mass was said there at the farms of Andrew Noel, Sr. and the Irwin family for families that included the Coles, Dellones, Stahles, Walters and Strasbaughs." [Catholic Trails West, p. 357]

The first record of Charles Dillon is in the 1799 tax return for Menallen Township in York County, Pennsylvania. He had to pay taxes on 120 acres of land, 1 horse, and 2 cattle. Assessed valuation $156.

Charles Dillon lived 3 houses from Jacob, Andrew, and Andrew Noel, Jr in Menallen Twp, Adams County. Living in his home was 1 male under 10 years of age; 1 male between 26 and 45 years of age; 1 female under 10 years of age; and 1 female between 16 and 26 years of age. [The male under 10 would have been his son, John. Charles and Maria may have had a daughter. This could account for the female under 10.]

Charles Dillon was awarded a warrant for 65 acres of unimproved land adjoining other land he owned and land owned by Michael Bittenger and Andrew Starne. Situated in Franklin Township, Adams County.

Charles Dillon was first listed in the census of 1790 for Menallen Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania, USA. He paid taxes on 120 acres of land, 1 horse, and 2 cattle as early as 1799. He died on 23 Oct 1822 in Menallen Twp, 52 years of age. After her husband died, Margaret Maria Dillon moved to Cambria Cty and lived with her son, Charles, in Jackson Twp, Cambria Cty, Pa. She was 22 years old when she married Charles Dillon in 1794 and bore him 5 children before she was 32 years of age. Her son, Charles, apparently moved to Cambria Cty (1830). Peter and Samuel followed him. Here oldest son, John Dillon, stayed in the Valley, married twice, and he and Andrew McKenrick and John Walter were very good friends and played around together when they were young and into later years. Of course, John Walter and Andrew McKenrick were Veterans of the War of 1812 (Pennsylvania Archives).

Paid 10 pounds per hundred acres.

Charles Dellow was now being taxed for a saw mill he had taken over in Menallen Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania. Charles Dillon continued with the sawmill.

Charles Dillon's heirs appear for the first time as the payers of the property tax in Menallen Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania.

"Prior to the completion of the church of St. Ignatius in the Buchanan Valley in 1817, Mass was said there at the farms of Andrew Noel, Sr. and the Irwin family for families that included the Coles, Dellones, Stahles, Walters and Strasbaughs." [Catholic Trails West, p. 357]

Executors: John Dillon, Peter Dillon, Michael Dillon. There were 3 figures -- the estate was worth $600, then the figures of $1557.33 and $1177.32 1/2 were noted. It took 20 years to settle account (1842) so perhaps the estate grew in value.

Charles Dillon is buried at St Ignatius Church, Buchanan Valley, PA. He died at the age of 87 yrs, 8 mos, and 26 days, as marked on his tombstone.

"The DELONE family is among the oldest and most interesting in the Conewago Valley. Once numerous, there are few if any bearing this name who still survive. However, as a result of the generosity of the late Charles J. DELONE, Esq., and his wife, the name is fittingly memorialized in the DELONE Catholic High School in McSherrystown which is the regional Catholic secondary school for children residing within a radius of about ten miles of this excellent educational facility."

The names of Dellow and Dillow in Adams County altered through the years. In the eastern part of Adams County, the name became Delone and Dellone; it can still be found in that area. In the western part of the county, in Franklin and Menallen Townships, it was altered to Dillon.

Charles was the God Father of the following children:

17 Apr 1799: Maria Dellon, daughter of his brother, Peter.

10 Aug 1803: N. Noel, daughter of Thomas & Magdalena Noel, and granddaughter of Andrew & Theresa Dillon Noel Sr.

23 Apr 1806: Susanna Noel, daughter of Andrew & Elizabeth Noel. Charles' son Samuel would eventually marry Susanna.

15 Nov 1808: Charles Noel, son of James & Catharine Noel. James was the son of Andrew Noel.

10 Oct 1816: Stephen Warren, son of Frederic & Barbara Noel Warren. Barbara was Andrew Noel's daughter.

1 Jul 1820: Charles Dillon, son of John Dillon, Charles' son.

2 Mar 1821: John Dillon, son of his brother, Peter.

11 Dec 1826: Abraham Charles Strausbach, son of Abraham & Catherine Bittinger Strausbach. Abraham was Charles' brother-in-law.

(Research): Dellone, Delone, Dillon, Dulon, Delon, Delan, Deloh, Dillo, Dilloe, Dellow, Ditto, Diity or just about any other phonetic combination of letters are found in researching three families that are seemingly connected by national origin, religion, family names and proximity. At Conewago Chapel, Hanover and the area served by Immaculate Heart of Mary Church of Paradise Township, York County, they come down to us as Dellone and Delone. In the Buchanan Valley as Dillon and in the early history of the Catholic Church in Ohio as Ditto. Putting various provable facts, such as church and land records, together with the Dellone family traditions relayed in the writings of John T. Reily, who was raised for a time in the home of Frederick Dellone, grandson of Nicholas Dellone, lead researchers at the John Timon Reilly Historical Society to believe the three families are somehow related, although at this time they have not made the connections.

"That Harent [an early priest in the Pigeon Hill area], upon arrival in Baltimore, went almost immediately to Berwick Township, in what was then York County, Pennsylvania, is affirmed by all historians and is substantiated by the records of the Land Office of that state. There is also little doubt that he was directed to that location by the Sulpicians who must have known that in that vicinity resided a goodly number of Catholic immigrants of French extraction whose family names were such as Mareschal (now Marshall), Felty, LeFevre, NOEL, Bievenauer and DEL'AU (now DELONE).

"Although the name DELONE is practically extinct in the counties of south-central Pennsylvania, the family is perpetuated in literally hundreds of those residing there or who claim the Conewago Valley as their birthplace . Among them are Smiths, Kuhns, Bievenauers, Poists, Klunks, NOELS, Keffers and the descendants of other families whose names are rarely found today, such as the Marshalls , Feltys , Hilts, Fleshmans, Dillers and Obolds." [p. 154]

John T. Reily was actually raised by a third-generation member of the clan, Frederick DELLONE (sic), who was married to Mary KUHN, a sister of Reily's maternal grandfather, John B. Kuhn. Reily checked his information with the noted "Miss Kitty" Marshall, herself a third-generation descendant who, at the age of 84, was still active physically and mentally in 1894. [pp. 154-155]

"According to the Pennsylvania Archives, Series 2 , Vol. XVII, Pg. 129, one Peter DELO (sic) arrived in Philadelphia on the Ship Princess Augusta, from Rotterdam , on September 16, 1736. It is of interest that a Diederich MARSHALL arrived on the same ship. We seem to lose tract of Peter DELO at this point but the possibility that he may have been related to Nicholas DELLONE, the pioneer of the large Conewago family of that name, is enhanced by the fact that the latter had a grandson named Peter and a Nicholas DELO, possibly a son of Peter DELO, resided in Lancaster. This Nicholas DELO and his wife Catharine had three children, born in 1773, 1774 and 1776, all baptized at Trinity Lutheran Church on February 18, 1776. This information is found in the Records of the German Society of Pennsylvania. Furthermore, a Peter DELONE, apparently not a descendant of Nicholas, married an Elizabeth STRASBAUGH in 1798 and this marriage and the baptism of four of their children are recorded in the Conewago register." [p. 155]

Nicholas DELLONE, the authenticated pioneer of most of the DELLONES of Conewago . . . . born in Alsace in 1716 . . . . He sailed on the Ship Phoenix from Rotterdam, landing in Philadelphia on September 15, 1749. Among the 550 passengers on the ship's list was another Conewago pioneer, Frantz MARSCHALL . . . about this time the NOELS, LONGS, and BIEVENAUERS also arrived and together eventually gravitated to the foot of Pigeon Hill where they formed a very definite French colony. [p. 155]

"While we are not certain when Nicholas DELLONE moved his family to York County, it is recorded in the Pennsylvania Archives, Series 3, Vol. XXI, Pgs. 73, 241, and 353 that he acquired land in Paradise Twp., York County, in 1779. The DELLONE Farm at the foot of Pigeon Hill, in what is now Berwick Twp., Adams County, by tradition was originally owned and occupied by him and by his male descendants for generations. However, this property, lying about two miles west of Abbottstown and just south of the York and Gettysburg Pike, was located in an area definitely known as Berwick Twp. before 1794, the year in which he executed his will in which his address was shown as Paradise Twp., York County. This leads to the probability that he had turned over the Pigeon Hill farm to his only son, Michael, and was residing in Paradise Township in retirement in 1794 and remained there until his death." [p. 156]

Nicholas' children:

*Margaretha, born between 1751 and 1761, never married. *Michael, born about 1760, married Catherine KEINTZ, sister of Mrs. Frederick BRANDT of Paradise. Buried in Conewago . His children:

**Peter, born about 1795, married Elizabeth GROVE.

One of the original settlers of Buchanan Valley.

Neighbor: Joseph Dillow

An original member of St. Ignatius Church with Peter Dellone.

Buchanan Valley, originally called 'Pleasant Valley,' was settled about the year 1734. . . James Bleakley was the first to move into the valley; others soon followed. Some of the names of those were . . . Nicholas Strausbaugh, John Dellone, Andrew Noel . . . who settled in the north and western part; Michael Dellone, Jacob Starner . . . in the western part . . ." [p. 256, History of Adams County]

"There are at present [1886] three stores in Buchanan Valley . . . eight saw-mills run by water-power owned respectively by . . . John Dillon, Dillon & Irwin . . ." [pp. 256- 257]

"St. Ignatius Catholic Church is situated in Buchanan Valley in the South Mountains . . . Some of the original members were Jacob Sterner, Andrew Sterner, Michael Strasbaugh , Michael Dellone, Andrew Noel, John Walter, William Noel , Peter Dellone, Sr., . . . [p. 257]

"The known, or likely, Catholic families there [Conewago ], of 1762, based on these assessments [1762 tax assessments], were the families of . . . Michael and Peter Delow (Delone) . . ." [p. 347, Catholic Trails West]

The original area of Lancaster County has been reorganized into six counties. This was not accomplished in one move , but was the result of an evolution. The geographical span between western Adams County and Lancaster, Lancaster County is only about 20 miles.

"Buchanan Valley, originally called "Pleasant Valley," was settled about the year 1734. It is six miles in length and about two miles in breadth. James Bleakley was the first to move into the valley; others soon followed. Some of the names of those were Casper Hiller, Nicholas Strausbaugh , John Dellone, Andrew Noel, Donald McClellan, William Cobb and James Kern, who settled in the north and western part ; Michael Dellone, Jacob Starner and William Milligan in the southern part; James Jamison, Robert Buck, Christopher Warren, Jacob Symmons in the eastern part." [History of Adams County, Pennsylvania, p. 256]

"St. Ignatius Church is situated in Buchanan Valley in the South Mountains, about ten miles from Gettysburg, on a commanding eminence in the southern part of Buchanan Valley . There is but little known of the early history of this church, as there is no record to be found here or at Conewago, the church from which pastors were supplied. The records were destroyed. This church was attached to Conewago Church until 1858. It was originated in 1816 by John Lowstetter, who gave a tract of land to build it on, and the cornerstone was laid October 10, 1816. It is built of brick. Part of the land on which the church stood was sold and purchased by the Jesuits of Georgetown and Conewago Church. Some of the original members were Jacob Sterner, Andrew Sterner, Michael Strasbaugh, Michael Dellone, Andrew Noel, John Walter, William Noel, Peter Dellone, Sr., Joseph Baker and Christian Baker. The parsonage was begun December 27, 1818. It is a frame building and is built beside the church . The Jesuits, in 1853, sold the land in lots, reserving two acres upon which the church stands, including the cemetery. Rev. Adolphus L. DeBarth celebrated mass at the house of Andrew Noel, Sr., which stood on the farm now owned by John and Samuel Irwin. This was some time before the church was built; probably between 1800 and 1817. He was the first pastor but there is no record of his pastorship. Rev. Mathew Leken succeeded Father DeBarth and served this congregation until 1829. Fathers Kendler and Steinbacher attended this congregation also, assistants of Father Leken . Michael Dougherty served until 1843. He officiated at the first marriages there is any record of at this church: George Cole to Anna Strasbaugh; John Cole to Sarah Strasbaugh, October, 1843. Rev. James B. Cotting, the next pastor , purchased the bell and organ." [History of Adams County Pennsylvania, p. 257]

Subject: Michael DILLON Will, Adams County, PA

In the name of God, I Michael Dillone of Franklin Township, in the County of Adams, and State of Pennsylvania, being weak in body, but of perfect mind and memory, do make this my last will and testament. In the first, I give my soul into the hands of the Almighty God, who give it to me. Secondly, I order that my boddy shall be deacendly buried at the disgression of my Executors, here in after named. And of the personal property and the real estate God almighty has blessed me with I dispose of it in the following manner. First my personal property that is within the inside of my house that I am the owner of I give and bequeath unto my three daughters here after named, that is my daughter Elisabeth, my daughter Cathrine, my daughter Hannah Margret. Share & share alike to them their heirs or assigns for ever. Secondly, I give and bequeath unto my son Joseph Dilone all my personal property outside of the house together with my rifle gun, to him his heirs and assigns for ever. This I consider as a full compensation for his services rendered to me after he become of age. #### Generation No. 5

Notes for Margaret Maria Strausbaugh:

She was 79 years old and lived with her son, Charles, in Jackson Twp, Cambria County, Pennsylvania. (Medical): She died while living in the home of her son, Charles Dillon, in Jackson Township, Cambria County. She was the widow of Charles Dillon (died in 1822 in Adams County ). She was the mother of Samuel Dillon, Carrolltown, and Peter Dillon who died in 1843 in Jackson Township, Cambria County. [Death Notice]She was 79 years old and lived with her son, Charles, in Jackson Twp, Cambria County, Pennsylvania.

She was the mother of John Dillon, Margaret Rachael Dillon, Charles Dillon, Samel Dillon, and Peter Dillon.

Margaret Maria Strasbaugh (Dillon) is also the the Great Granddaughter of Nicholas Strasbaugh Jr, born 6 Aug 1721 in Saulxures, Bas-Rhin, France, and died before 1800 in Buchanan Valley, Adams County, PA.

More About Margaret Maria Strausbaugh:

Census: 21 Oct 1850, Jackson Township, Cambria, Pennsylvania

Notes for Charles Dillon:

The first record of Charles Dillon is in the 1799 tax return for Menallen Township in York County, Pennsylvania. He had to pay taxes on 120 acres of land, 1 horse, and 2 cattle. Assessed valuation $156.

Charles Dillon lived 3 houses from Jacob, Andrew, and Andrew Noel, Jr in Menallen Twp, Adams County. Living in his home was 1 male under 10 years of age; 1 male between 26 and 45 years of age; 1 female under 10 years of age; and 1 female between 16 and 26 years of age. [The male under 10 would have been his son, John. Charles and Maria may have had a daughter. This could account for the female under 10.]

Charles Dillon was awarded a warrant for 65 acres of unimproved land adjoining other land he owned and land owned by Michael Bittenger and Andrew Starne. Situated in Franklin Township, Adams County.

Charles Dillon was first listed in the census of 1790 for Menallen Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania, USA. He paid taxes on 120 acres of land, 1 horse, and 2 cattle as early as 1799. He died on 23 Oct 1822 in Menallen

Twp, 52 years of age. After her husband died, Margaret Maria Dillon moved to Cambria Cty and lived with her son, Charles, in Jackson Twp, Cambria Cty, Pa. She was 22 years old when she married Charles Dillon in 1794 and bore him 5 children before she was 32 years of age. Her son, Charles, apparently moved to Cambria Cty (1830). Peter and Samuel followed him. Her oldest son, John Dillon, stayed in the Valley, married twice, and he and Andrew McKenrick and John Walter were very good friends and played around together when they were young and into later years. Of course, John Walter and Andrew McKenrick were Veterans of the War of 1812 (Pennsylvania Archives).

Paid 10 pounds per hundred acres.

Charles Dellow was now being taxed for a saw mill he had taken over in Menallen Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania. Charles Dillon continued with the sawmill.

Charles Dillon's heirs appear for the first time as the payers of the property tax in Menallen Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania.

"Prior to the completion of the church of St. Ignatius in the Buchanan Valley in 1817, Mass was said there at the farms of Andrew Noel, Sr. and the Irwin family for families that included the Coles, Dellones, Stahles, Walters and Strasbaughs." [Catholic Trails West, p. 357]

Executors: John Dillon, Peter Dillon, Michael Dillon. There were 3 figures -- the estate was worth $600, then the figures of $1557.33 and $1177.32 1/2 were noted. It took 20 years to settle account (1842) so perhaps the estate grew in value.

Charles Dillon is buried at St Ignatius Church, Buchanan Valley, PA. He died at the age of 87 yrs, 8 mos, and 26 days, as marked on his tombstone.

"The DELONE family is among the oldest and most interesting in the Conewago Valley. Once numerous, there are few if any bearing this name who still survive. However, as a result of the generosity of the late Charles J. DELONE, Esq., and his wife, the name is fittingly memorialized in the DELONE Catholic High School in McSherrystown which is the regional Catholic secondary school for children residing within a radius of about ten miles of this excellent educational facility."

The names of Dellow and Dillow in Adams County altered through the years. In the eastern part of Adams County, the name became Delone and Dellone; it can still be found in that area. In the western part of the county, in Franklin and Menallen Townships, it was altered to Dillon.

Charles was the God Father of the following children:

17 Apr 1799: Maria Dellon, daughter of his brother, Peter.

10 Aug 1803: N. Noel, daughter of Thomas & Magdalena Noel, and granddaughter of Andrew & Theresa Dillon Noel Sr.

23 Apr 1806: Susanna Noel, daughter of Andrew & Elizabeth Noel. Charles' son Samuel would eventually marry Susanna.

15 Nov 1808: Charles Noel, son of James & Catharine Noel. James was the son of Andrew Noel.

10 Oct 1816: Stephen Warren, son of Frederic & Barbara Noel Warren. Barbara was Andrew Noel's daughter.

1 Jul 1820: Charles Dillon, son of John Dillon, Charles' son.

2 Mar 1821: John Dillon, son of his brother, Peter.

11 Dec 1826: Abraham Charles Strausbach, son of Abraham & Catherine Bittinger Strausbach. Abraham was Charles' brother-in-law.

(Research): Dellone, Delone, Dillon, Dulon, Delon, Delan, Deloh, Dillo, Dilloe, Dellow, Ditto, Diity or just about any other phonetic combination of letters are found in researching three families that are seemingly connected by national origin, religion, family names and proximity. At Conewago Chapel, Hanover and the area served by Immaculate Heart of Mary Church of Paradise Township, York County, they come down to us as Dellone and Delone. In the Buchanan Valley as Dillon and in the early history of the Catholic Church in Ohio as Ditto. Putting various provable facts, such as church and land records, together with the Dellone family traditions relayed in the writings of John T. Reily, who was raised for a time in the home of Frederick Dellone, grandson of Nicholas Dellone, lead researchers at the John Timon Reilly Historical Society to believe the three families are some how related, although at this time they have not made the connections.

"That Harent [an early priest in the Pigeon Hill area], upon arrival in Baltimore, went almost immediately to Berwick Township, in what was then York County, Pennsylvania, is affirmed by all historians and is substantiated by the records of the Land Office of that state. There is also little doubt that he was directed to that location by the Sulpicians who must have known that in that vicinity resided a goodly number of Catholic immigrants of French extraction whose family names were such as Mareschal (now Marshall), Felty, LeFevre, NOEL, Bievenauer and DEL'AU (now DELONE).

"Although the name DELONE is practically extinct in the counties of south-central Pennsylvania, the family is perpetuated in literally hundreds of those residing there or who claim the Conewago Valley as their birthplace . Among them are Smiths, Kuhns, Bievenauers, Poists, Klunks, NOELS, Keffers and the descendants of other families whose names are rarely found today, such as the Marshalls , Feltys , Hilts, Fleshmans, Dillers and Obolds." [p. 154]

John T. Reily was actually raised by a third-generation member of the clan, Frederick DELLONE (sic), who was married to Mary KUHN, a sister of Reily's maternal grandfather, John B. Kuhn. Reily checked his information with the noted "Miss Kitty" Marshall, herself a third-generation descendant who, at the age of 84, was still active physically and mentally in 1894. [pp. 154-155]

"According to the Pennsylvania Archives, Series 2 , Vol. XVII, Pg. 129, one Peter DELO (sic) arrived in Philadelphia on the Ship Princess Augusta, from Rotterdam , on September 16, 1736. It is of interest that a Diederich MARSHALL arrived on the same ship. We seem to lose track of Peter DELO at this point but the possibility that he may have been related to Nicholas DELLONE, the pioneer of the large Conewago family of that name, is enhanced by the fact that the latter had a grandson named Peter and a Nicholas DELO, possibly a son of Peter DELO, resided in Lancaster. This Nicholas DELO and his wife Catharine had three children, born in 1773, 1774 and 1776, all baptized at Trinity Lutheran Church on February 18, 1776. This information is found in the Records of the German Society of Pennsylvania. Furthermore, a Peter DELONE, apparently not a descendant of Nicholas, married an Elizabeth STRASBAUGH in 1798 and this marriage and the baptism of four of their children are recorded in the Conewago register." [p. 155]

Nicholas DELLONE, the authenticated pioneer of most of the DELLONES of Conewago . . . . born in Alsace in 1716 . . . . He sailed on the Ship Phoenix from Rotterdam, landing in Philadelphia on September 15, 1749. Among the 550 passengers on the ship's list was another Conewago pioneer, Frantz MARSCHALL . . . about this time the NOELS, LONGS, and BIEVENAUERS also arrived and together eventually gravitated to the foot of Pigeon Hill where they formed a very definite French colony. [p. 155]

"While we are not certain when Nicholas DELLONE moved his family to York County, it is recorded in the Pennsylvania Archives, Series 3, Vol. XXI, Pgs. 73, 241, and 353 that he acquired land in Paradise Twp., York County, in 1779. The DELLONE Farm at the foot of Pigeon Hill, in what is now Berwick Twp., Adams County, by tradition was originally owned and occupied by him and by his male descendants for generations. However, this property, lying about two miles west of Abbottstown and just south of the York and Gettysburg Pike, was located in an area definitely known as Berwick Twp. before 1794, the year in which he executed his will in which his address was shown as Paradise Twp., York County. This leads to the probability that he had turned over the Pigeon Hill farm to his only son, Michael, and was residing in Paradise Township in retirement in 1794 and remained there until his death." [p. 156]

Nicholas' children:

*Margaretha, born between 1751 and 1761, never married. *Michael, born about 1760, married Catherine KEINTZ, sister of Mrs. Frederick BRANDT of Paradise. Buried in Conewago . His children:

**Peter, born about 1795, married Elizabeth GROVE.

Executors: John Dillon, Peter Dillon, Michael Dillon. There were 3 figures -- the estate was worth $600, then the figures of $1557.33 and $1177.32 1/2 were noted. It took 20 years to settle account (1842) so perhaps the estate grew in value.

"The DELONE family is among the oldest and most interesting in the Conewago Valley. Once numerous, there are few if any bearing this name who still survive. However , as a result of the generosity of the late Charles J. DELONE, Esq. , and his wife, the name is fittingly memorialized in the DELONE Catholic High School in McSherrystown which is the regional Catholic secondary school for children residing within a radius of about ten miles of this excellent educational facility."

The names of Dellow and Dillow in Adams County altered through the years. In the eastern part of Adams County , the name became Delone and Dellone; it can still be found in that area. In the western part of the county, in Franklin and Menallen Townships, it was altered to Dillon.

Charles was the God Father of the following children:

17 Apr 1799: Maria Dellon, daughter of his brother, Peter.

10 Aug 1803: N. Noel, daughter of Thomas & Magdalena Noel, and granddaughter of Andrew & Theresa Dillon Noel Sr.

23 Apr 1806: Susanna Noel, daughter of Andrew & Elizabeth Noel. Charles' son Samuel would eventually marry Susanna.

15 Nov 1808: Charles Noel, son of James & Catharine Noel. James was the son of Andrew Noel.

10 Oct 1816: Stephen Warren, son of Frederic & Barbara Noel Warren. Barbara was Andrew Noel's daughter.

1 Jul 1820: Charles Dillon, son of John Dillon, Charles' son.

2 Mar 1821: John Dillon, son of his brother, Peter.

11 Dec 1826: Abraham Charles Strausbach, son of Abraham & Catherine Bittinger Strausbach. Abraham was Charles' brother-in-law.

(Research): Dellone, Delone, Dillon, Dulon, Delon, Delan, Deloh, Dillo, Dilloe, Dellow, Ditto, Diity or just about any other phonetic combination of letters are found in researching three families that are seemingly connected by national origin, religion, family names and proximity. At Conewago Chapel, Hanover and the area served by Immaculate Heart of Mary Church of Paradise Township, York County, they come down to us as Dellone and Delone. In the Buchanan Valley as Dillon and in the early history of the Catholic Church in Ohio as Ditto. Putting various provable facts, such as church and land records, together with the Dellone family traditions relayed in the writings of John T. Reily, who was raised for a time in the home of Frederick Dellone, grandson of Nicholas Dellone, lead researchers at the John Timon Reilly Historical Society to believe the three families are some how related, although at this time they have not made the connections.

"That Harent [an early priest in the Pigeon Hill area], upon arrival in Baltimore, went almost immediately to Berwick Township, in what was then York County, Pennsylvania, is affirmed by all historians and is substantiated by the records of the Land Office of that state. There is also little doubt that he was directed to that location by the Sulpicians who must have known that in that vicinity resided a goodly number of Catholic immigrants of French extraction whose family names were such as Mareschal (now Marshall), Felty, LeFevre, NOEL, Bievenauer and DEL'AU (now DELONE).

"Although the name DELONE is practically extinct in the counties of south-central Pennsylvania, the family is perpetuated in literally hundreds of those residing there or who claim the Conewago Valley as their birthplace. Among them are Smiths, Kuhns, Bievenauers, Poists, Klunks, NOELS, Keffers and the descendants of other families whose names are rarely found today, such as the Marshalls, Feltys, Hiltys, Fleshmans, Dillers and Obolds." [p. 154]

John T. Reily was actually raised by a third-generation member of the clan, Frederick DELLONE (sic), who was married to Mary KUHN, a sister of Reily's maternal grandfather, John B. Kuhn. Reily checked his information with the noted "Miss Kitty" Marshall, herself a third-generation descendant who, at the age of 84, was still active physically and mentally in 1894. [pp. 154-155]

"According to the Pennsylvania Archives, Series 2 , Vol. XVII, Pg. 129, one Peter DELO (sic) arrived in Philadelphia on the Ship Princess Augusta, from Rotterdam, on September 16, 1736. It is of interest that a Diederich MARSHALL arrived on the same ship. We seem to lose track of Peter DELO at this point but the possibility that he may have been related to Nicholas DELLONE, the pioneer of the large Conewago family of that name, is enhanced by the fact that the latter had a grandson named Peter and a Nicholas DELO, possibly a son of Peter DELO, resided in Lancaster. This Nicholas DELO and his wife Catharine had three children, born in 1773, 1774 and 1776, all baptized at Trinity Lutheran Church on February 18, 1776. This information is found in the Records of the German Society of Pennsylvania. Furthermore, a Peter DELONE, apparently not a descendant of Nicholas, married an Elizabeth STRASBAUGH in 1798 and this marriage and the baptism of four of their children are recorded in the Conewago register." [p.155]

Nicholas DELLONE, the authenticated pioneer of most of the DELLONES of Conewago . . . . born in Alsace in 1716 . . . . He sailed on the Ship Phoenix from Rotterdam, landing in Philadelphia on September 15, 1749. Among the 550 passengers on the ship's list was another Conewago pioneer, Frantz MARSCHALL . . . about this time the NOELS, LONGS, and BIEVENAUERS also arrived and together eventually gravitated to the foot of Pigeon Hill where they formed a very definite French colony. [p. 155]

"While we are not certain when Nicholas DELLONE moved his family to York County, it is recorded in the Pennsylvania Archives, Series 3, Vol. XXI, Pgs. 73, 241, and 353 that he acquired land in Paradise Twp., York County, in 1779. The DELLONE Farm at the foot of Pigeon Hill, in what is now Berwick Twp., Adams County, by tradition was originally owned and occupied by him and by his male descendants for generations. However, this property, lying about two miles west of Abbottstown and just south of the York and Gettysburg Pike, was located in an area definitely known as Berwick Twp. before 1794, the year in which he executed his will in which his address was shown as Paradise Twp., York County. This leads to the probability that he had turned over the Pigeon Hill farm to his only son, Michael, and was residing in Paradise Township in retirement in 1794 and remained there until his death." [p. 156]

The surname Noël, which means a person from Noailles and not Christmas, is believed to have origins in the Gallic tribes of Normandy in the north of France. These people held vast estates in the Duchy of Noailles, Oise, France that dated prior to the 11th Century. The nobility were the de Noailles. When the common people moved from the area their names were changed to the de Noël form and the de was dropped by most. Since the mass of people were not literate and the pronunciation is similar, this may have been done by the priests who recorded the baptisms. The English could not even handle this pronunciation and it was changed to Noel . When the Noël's from France came to English America in the sixteen and seventeen hundreds the English recorded the Noel form. Some families in Pennsylvania have the oral history that their surname was de Noailles and was changed to conform with the anglo usage. As we see in French Canada the Noël form is used. However the given name of Noël does refer to Christmas in most cases.

Notes for William Noel:

A census search reveals that William Noel does not remain in the Adams Co, PA area after the 1840 census, but can be tracked in Cambria Co, PA 1850 and 1860 census. By 1850, William Noel, along with a new wife, named Ann Bridget or Bridget Ann, has moved to Cambria Co, PA (joining William's sisters, Susannah Noel/Samuel Dillon (Delone) and Catherine Noel/Peter Dillon (Delone) and possibly other extended family. As shown on the 1850 census, William Noel and his 2nd wife had two daughters whose age range shows that they were born after the death of William's first wife. Their names were Sarah and Anna [Source Wm. Noel 1882 will and 1850/1860 Cambria Co, PA census)

Sources on the "Descendants of Joseph Noel" web site identify that these two siblings of William Noel (Susanna Noel and Catherine Noel) marry Dillon brothers. Susanna Noel married Samuel Dillon and Catherine Noel married Peter Dillon.

One of the problems associated with properly identifying William Noel as the father of Sarah Noel is the 1841 death of his first wife. I have seen her name as both Anna Emily Wilson and Emily Ann Wilson, but in either case she could have logically been also been called "Ann". On the 1850 and 1860 census Cambria Co, PA census, William's wife is named Ann. In the 1881 Cambria co, PA will of William Noel it identifies the first

[Transcribers NOTE: Yahuen name could be Yabuen or some variation of either.]

NOTE: Andrew, Lydia, Emily, Sarah, Ann, named as his children in William NOEL'S 1881 Will, are the names of his children in the 1850 Susquehanna Twp, Cambria Co, PA census. In addition, his will also names Harriet, Elizabeth, Mary and Martha who do not appear on the 1850 census, but can be inferred from the 1840 census which shows five daughters born before 1840. I presume that Ephraim shown on the 1850 census was a son of William NOEL/Emily Ann WILSON, but he was not named in the 1881 will, so he is presumably dead before that date. There should also be another son as indicated by the 1840 census, but his presumed age [b. 1830-1835] could mean that he had his own household by 1850 and remains unidentifiable to me at this point, although the logical inference is that he is also dead by 1881.

Susanna's daughter, Jennie, was living with Jacob Kirkpatrick and working as a domestic.

She died on Wednesday July 19th, 1882. From her obituary : "Deceased was terribly afflicted with cancer, a great portion of the face being eaten away. She was a good Christian woman, and bore her sufferings with great resignation. " She died at the home of her daughter, Catherine Dill on Kirkpatrick.

Father Anthony, St. Benedict's Catholic Parish, Carrolltown , Cambria County, Pennsylvania officiated at her funeral.

"Dillon, Susanna. d: 19 July 1882 widow of Samuel Dillon. b:21 July 1882. age: 77 years."

The surname Noël, which means a person from Noailles and not Christmas, is believed to have origins in the Gallic tribes of Normandy in the north of France. These people held vast estates in the Duchy of Noailles, Oise, France that dated prior to the 11th Century. The nobility were the de Noailles. When the common people moved from the area their names were changed to the de Noël form and the de was dropped by most. Since the mass of people were not literate and the pronunciation is similar, this may have been done by the priests who recorded the baptisms. The English could not even handle this pronunciation and it was changed to Noel . When the Noël's from France came to English America in the sixteen and seventeen hundreds the English recorded the Noel form. Some families in Pennsylvania have the oral history that their surname was de Noailles and was changed to conform with the anglo usage. As we see in French Canada the Noël form is used. However the given name of Noël does refer to Christmas in most cases.

The first record of Charles Dillon is in the 1799 tax return for Menallen Township in York County, Pennsylvania. He had to pay taxes on 120 acres of land, 1 horse, and 2 cattle. Assessed valuation $156.

Charles Dillon lived 3 houses from Jacob, Andrew, and Andrew Noel, Jr in Menallen Twp, Adams County. Living in his home was 1 male under 10 years of age; 1 male between 26 and 45 years of age; 1 female under 10 years of age; and 1 female between 16 and 26 years of age. [The male under 10 would have been his son, John. Charles and Maria may have had a daughter. This could account for the female under 10.]

Charles Dillon was awarded a warrant for 65 acres of unimproved land adjoining other land he owned and land owned by Michael Bittenger and Andrew Starne. Situated in Franklin Township, Adams County. Paid 10 pounds per hundred acres.

Charles Dellow was now being taxed for a saw mill he had taken over in Menallen Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania.

Charles Dillon's heirs appear for the first time as the payers of the property tax in Menallen Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania.

"Prior to the completion of the church of St. Ignatius in the Buchanan Valley in 1817, Mass was said there at the farms of Andrew Noel, Sr. and the Irwin family for families that included the Coles, Dellones, Stahles, Walters and Strasbaughs." [Catholic Trails West, p. 357]

Executors: John Dillon, Peter Dillon, Michael Dillon. There were 3 figures -- the estate was worth $600, then the figures of $1557.33 and $1177.32 1/2 were noted. It took 20 years to settle account (1842) so perhaps the estate grew in value.

"The DELONE family is among the oldest and most interesting in the Conewago Valley. Once numerous, there are few if any bearing this name who still survive. However, as a result of the generosity of the late Charles J. DELONE, Esq., and his wife, the name is fittingly memorialized in the DELONE Catholic High School in McSherrystown which is the regional Catholic secondary school for children residing within a radius of about ten miles of this excellent educational facility."

The names of Dellow and Dillow in Adams County altered through the years. In the eastern part of Adams County, the name became Delone and Dellone; it can still be found in that area. In the western part of the county, in Franklin and Menallen Townships, it was altered to Dillon.

Charles was the God Father of the following children:

17 Apr 1799: Maria Dellon, daughter of his brother, Peter.

10 Aug 1803: N. Noel, daughter of Thomas & Magdalena Noel, and granddaughter of Andrew & Theresa Dillon Noel Sr.

23 Apr 1806: Susanna Noel, daughter of Andrew & Elizabeth Noel. Charles' son Samuel would eventually marry Susanna.

15 Nov 1808: Charles Noel, son of James & Catharine Noel. James was the son of Andrew Noel.

10 Oct 1816: Stephen Warren, son of Frederic & Barbara Noel Warren. Barbara was Andrew Noel's daughter.

1 Jul 1820: Charles Dillon, son of John Dillon, Charles' son.

2 Mar 1821: John Dillon, son of his brother, Peter.

11 Dec 1826: Abraham Charles Strausbach, son of Abraham & Catherine Bittinger Strausbach. Abraham was Charles' brother-in-law.

(Research): Dellone, Delone, Dillon, Dulon, Delon, Delan, Deloh, Dillo, Dilloe, Dellow, Ditto, Diity or just about any other phonetic combination of letters are found in researching three families that are seemingly connected by national origin, religion, family names and proximity. At Conewago Chapel, Hanover and the area served by Immaculate Heart of Mary Church of Paradise Township, York County, they come down to us as Dellone and Delone. In the Buchanan Valley as Dillon and in the early history of the Catholic Church in Ohio as Ditto. Putting various provable facts, such as church and land records, together with the Dellone family traditions relayed in the writings of John T. Reily, who was raised for a time in the home of Frederick Dellone, grandson of Nicholas Dellone, lead researchers at the John Timon Reilly Historical Society to believe the three families are somehow related, although at this time they have not made the connections.

"That Harent [an early priest in the Pigeon Hill area], upon arrival in Baltimore, went almost immediately to Berwick Township, in what was then York County, Pennsylvania, is affirmed by all historians and is substantiated by the records of the Land Office of that state. There is also little doubt that he was directed to that location by the Sulpicians who must have known that in that vicinity resided a goodly number of Catholic immigrants of French extraction whose family names were such as Mareschal (now Marshall), Felty, LeFevre, NOEL, Bievenauer and DEL'AU (now DELONE).

"Although the name DELONE is practically extinct in the counties of south-central Pennsylvania, the family is perpetuated in literally hundreds of those residing there or who claim the Conewago Valley as their birthplace. Among them are Smiths, Kuhns, Bievenauers, Poists, Klunks, NOELS, Keffers and the descendants of other families whose names are rarely found today, such as the Marshalls, Feltys, Hilts, Fleshmans, Dillers and Obolds." [p. 154]

John T. Reily was actually raised by a third-generation member of the clan, Frederick DELLONE (sic), who was married to Mary KUHN, a sister of Reily's maternal grandfather, John B. Kuhn. Reily checked his information with the noted "Miss Kitty" Marshall, herself a third-generation descendant who, at the age of 84, was still active physically and mentally in 1894. [pp. 154-155]

"According to the Pennsylvania Archives, Series 2 , Vol. XVII, Pg. 129, one Peter DELO (sic) arrived in Philadelphia on the Ship Princess Augusta, from Rotterdam, on September 16, 1736. It is of interest that a Diederich MARSHALL arrived on the same ship. We seem to lose track of Peter DELO at this point but the possibility that he may have been related to Nicholas DELLONE, the pioneer of the large Conewago family of that name, is enhanced by the fact that the latter had a grandson named Peter and a Nicholas DELO, possibly a son of Peter DELO, resided in Lancaster. This Nicholas DELO and his wife Catharine had three children, born in 1773, 1774 and 1776, all baptized at Trinity Lutheran Church on February 18, 1776. This information is found in the Records of the German Society of Pennsylvania. Furthermore, a Peter DELONE, apparently not a descendant of Nicholas, married an Elizabeth STRASBAUGH in 1798 and this marriage and the baptism of four of their children are recorded in the Conewago register." [p.155]

Nicholas DELLONE, the authenticated pioneer of most of the DELLONES of Conewago . . . . born in Alsace in 1716 . . . . He sailed on the Ship Phoenix from Rotterdam, landing in Philadelphia on September 15, 1749. Among the 550 passengers on the ship's list was another Conewago pioneer, Frantz MARSCHALL . . . about this time the NOELS, LONGS, and BIEVENAUERS also arrived and together eventually gravitated to the foot of Pigeon Hill where they formed a very definite French colony. [p. 155]

"While we are not certain when Nicholas DELLONE moved his family to York County, it is recorded in the Pennsylvania Archives, Series 3, Vol. XXI, Pgs. 73, 241, and 353 that he acquired land in Paradise Twp., York County, in 1779. The DELLONE Farm at the foot of Pigeon Hill, in what is now Berwick Twp., Adams County, by tradition was originally owned and occupied by him and by his male descendants for generations. However, this property, lying about two miles west of Abbottstown and just south of the York and Gettysburg Pike, was located in an area definitely known as Berwick Twp. before 1794, the year in which he executed his will in which his address was shown as Paradise Twp., York County. This leads to the probability that he had turned over the Pigeon Hill farm to his only son, Michael, and was residing in Paradise Township in retirement in 1794 and remained there until his death." [p. 156]

Nicholas' children:

*Margaretha, born between 1751 and 1761, never married. *Michael, born about 1760, married Catherine KEINTZ, sister of Mrs. Frederick BRANDT of Paradise. Buried in Conewago . His children:

**Peter, born about 1795, married Elizabeth GROVE.
