

Descendants of James FISHER

Generation No. 1

1. JAMES¹ FISHER (Source: Max M. Fisher, "Our Story," Typewritten, 1945, with additions to 1958.) was born 08 Feb 1753 in Edinburgh, Scotland (Source: Max M. Fisher, "Our Story," Typewritten, 1945, with additions to 1958.), and died 30 Jan 1841 in Redford, Wayne, Michigan (Source: Max M. Fisher, "Our Story," Typewritten, 1945, with additions to 1958.). He married LEAH DODS (Source: Max M. Fisher, "Our Story," Typewritten, 1945, with additions to 1958. Name given by Jim Fisher in earlier phone call.) 13 May 1779 in prob. Edinburgh, Scotland (Source: Max M. Fisher, "Our Story," Typewritten, 1945, with additions to 1958. Location may have been in or near Providence, Rhode Island.). She was born 26 Jan 1753 in prob. Edinburgh, Scotland (Source: Max M. Fisher, "Our Story," Typewritten, 1945, with additions to 1958.), and died 10 Mar 1813 in Cobourg, Northumberland, Ontario, Canada (Source: Brenda Cochrane, citing Ontario land and tax records from 1804 on. Max Fisher has "probably" Niagara Co., New York.).

Notes for JAMES FISHER:

Wayne Co. MI probate packet #1063 [1841] for the estate of James Fisher, all references cross-referenced to packet #1064 [1841] for the estate of (son) James F. Fisher:

Estate of James Fisher, Redford (residence or place of death), will dated 30 Jan 1837,

Fisher, Henry, executor of estate, of Canada

Fisher, Elizabeth, daughter

Fisher, James Jr., son [this may be erroneous reference]

Fisher, James F., son, deceased

Fisher, Mary, daughter

Fisher, Sarah, daughter

Apparently the two estates were probated at the same time, after James F. had died 3 Oct 1841.

New Registry Office in Scotland shows these possibilities:

James Fisher born to James Fisher and Jean Bruce 2 Dec 1753 in Perth parish. 387/4, no frame number.

James Fisher born to Robert Fisher and Christian Buchanan 23 Jan 1754 in Falkirk parish. 479/4, FR1132.

Summarized from Our Story (1945) by Max M. Fisher, g-grandson of James Fisher.

James, b. Edinburgh, Scotland, learned weaver's trade at Paisley, near Glasgow. Site of marriage to Leah is not known, may be Scotland or US. Emigrated to Montreal, Quebec (prob. ca 1775 or after), then to MA (Dartmouth, near New Bedford). [NOT TRUE - see below]. Max cites the 1790 census. He also acknowledges family records from grandsons Samuel and Charles indicate near Providence RI. [This date of immigration suggests the marriage was in US; how did Leah get there? Citation for 1790 census is NOT THIS JAMES FISHER - see below.]

James "was short (about 5' tall) and heavy set." Continental Army called on him, saw his size, and said he was more useful as a weaver. He became citizen at adoption of Constitution. [This event seems to have happened early enough to put his marriage in the US. He would have been 26 in 1779.]

He and his family moved to NY ca. 1790-93, to the Mohawk Valley, either Montgomery Co or near Utica, then in Herkimer Co. Mohawk Valley wasn't settled until after the Revolution. Max says that son John was probably born near Steuben, Onieda Co., NY. They "evidently moved north and west from the Steuben Tract to the territory around Fort Niagara sometime between 1795 and 1810, first going north to Ft. Oswego, and thence following an Indian Trail westward ..." He believes the family moved further west, near Niagara Falls. [In the John Fisher bio, he gives this date as ca. 1815 after the end of the War of 1812.] He cites fact that dau. Sarah married John Smith and much of her family centered around St. Catherines, Ontario; she stayed there when the family moved to Cobourg, Ontario. [However, there is census evidence in New York; maybe they all went to St. Catherines.] The family moved to Cobourg ca. 1815. Later the John Smith family moved from St. Catherines to Detroit. [See below re: locations in New York and Ontario.]

Son John met Elizabeth Liscum at Cobourg and married there. She had been born in Herkimer Co, NY. The Liscum family had moved there in 1817.

In 1837 the families of James Field Fisher and John Fisher moved to MI; this James probably stayed until 1840 in Canada.

His gravestone and that of James Field Fisher are in the front row (west side) of Redford Cemetery.

Max Fisher used information from "Uncle Samuel" and "Uncle Charles", the brothers of his father, and the 1790 census to conclude that this James Fisher went to Massachusetts (Dartmouth, near New Bedford, or perhaps to Providence, RI) after arriving in Montreal. There is a listing for James Fisher in Dartmouth, Bristol Co., MA, with two males 16 years of age and older, two males under sixteen, and two females, age not categorized. Max concluded that he was this James, but it cannot be correct. This James had two sons (James Field and Samuel) in 1790, both under 16. Who was the other male over 16? This James had a wife (Leah) and three daughters under 10 (Mary, Elizabeth, and Sarah) at the time. The census shows only two females in the household.

Moreover, the Vital Records of Dartmouth, MA, publ. by NEHGS in 1929, show a James Fisher who married Patience Huddleston, both of Dartmouth, in 1758. They had nine children listed in the births section of the Vital Records: John (1/16/1759), Seth (11/23/1760), Hannah (8/2/1763), Elisabeth (11/9/1763), Lusannah (6/10/1771), Hezekiah (9/18/1773), Abigail (12/4/1775), Levy (9/16/1778), and David (3/23/1781). Note the discrepancy with the birth dates of Hannah and Elisabeth. James (m. Patience) is very likely the one in the census. In 1790, they would conceivably have had still at home Hezekiah (over 16) and James himself (the two over 16 males), Levy and David (the two under 16 males), and Patience and Abigail (the two females). The older children would have married and/or left home by then.

The conclusions: 1) Max erred in assuming that our James went to Dartmouth, MA, or into the New England states at all, based on a misunderstanding of the 1790 census. 2) The birthplaces (and perhaps the parents' marriage location) for our James and Leah Dods Fisher's children are not correct as Max has them. At this point we cannot conclude that the James Fishers were not in the United States between 1790 and 1804, but we cannot prove that they were, either. If they were, we cannot locate census records for either 1790 or 1800. 3) We now know that James obtained land in Cobourg, Ontario, in 1802, though they may have not moved there until 1804, making searches in later US censuses futile.

Census references: MA 1790, none other than James (m. Patience) above. VT 1790, James in Alburgh, Chittenden Co., two males 16+, two females, not a match. NY 1790, no James. RI 1790, no James.

VT 1800, James in Alburgh, Franklin Co., one male 26-45, two males under 10; one female 26-45, one 16-25, one 10-16, and two under 10. [Does not match] RI 1800, has Betsey Fisher, widow (p434-10), but no James or John. NY 1800, James in New York Co. (one male 26-45, one female 26-45, and two females under 10) and James in Westchester Co. (one male 26-45, one 16-25, one under 10, one female 26-45), no others.

A website on the Internet (6/10/98) for Hamilton Twp., Northumberland Co., Ont., at <http://www.geocities.com/heartland/meadows/3807/ontgen/hamilton.html> has data extracted by Thelma Collens from the 1878 Illustrated Historical Atlas of Durham and Northumberland Counties of Ontario, published by H. Belden & Co., Toronto. List of settlers of the "second concession" include James Fisher and Alexander Fisher. Relationship between them not known, date not known, but believed to be in early 1800s. Also in the earliest settlers George Sr., George Jr., and Samuel Ash, who may have been related to Elizabeth Fisher's husband. The beginning page of the website for Northumberland County is:

From Mary Fogler in various e-mails:

James Fisher went to Ontario in 1795. In 1802 he had Patent Lot 17, Concession 2 in Hamilton Township, Canada. [Presumably Northumberland Co. ONT]

Brenda Cochrane has tax census records for Hamilton Twp., Northumberland Co. that put James Sr., Samuel, and Henry (1809) there in 1804, 1808, and 1809. Henry only appears in 1809 so assume he was then over 16.

Children of JAMES FISHER and LEAH DODS are:

Our Story: Burial in Redford Cemetery. No mention of middle initial, which I got from the census. Left NY for Cobourg, Ontario, in 1817; went from there to Redford MI in 1837 [note conflict with census info above]. See Notes for father for family migration prior to his marriage in Cobourg. At Baltimore, about 5 miles north of Cobourg, John and his brother James Field set up a small sawmill, which they operated until 1835, selling it during hard times. Moving to MI, his family settled on an 80-acre farm on the south side of Schoolcraft Rd., one-half mile east of Evergreen Rd. John Fisher had bought this farm .. 11/13/1836 [?]. These were rural unimproved roads at the time. This farm was traded Jan 1856 for another farm northwest of Redford on the north side of old Waterford Rd. (W. McNichols Rd.). The east 40 acres of the new farm are now within the western edge of the Detroit city limits [1945].

Our Story: burial, Redford Cemetery. 79th birthday party notice in Michigan News cites an aged sister Mrs. Bosworth - Charlotte? Obituary from the Detroit Courier:

"Mrs. Elizabeth Fisher, nee Liscum, who died Sept. 9, was born in Herkimer Co, New York, May 29, 1800. In 1817, she removed with her parents to Cobourg, Canada West (now Ontario) where in 1822 [sic] she was married to John Fisher. In 1837, she with husband and family, removed to the southeastern part of Redford and endured the hardships incidental to early settlers. In 1862 she was left a widow since which time she lived at her home on Section 8, until feeble health compelled her to leave it to reside with her daughter, Mrs. H.H. Pierce, in March of the present year. She had been a member of the M.E. Church since 1828; was the mother of five sons and four daughters. She can be spoken of as upright and charitable, just in her dealings, a good neighbor, and kind and affectionate wife and mother." The detail of Elizabeth's supposed lineage from Capt. Christian House in Our Story comes from verbal communication of James Samuel Fisher with Max Fisher, the author.

Fisher, "Our Story," Typewritten, 1945, with additions to 1958.), and died 27 Nov 1913 in Mt. Washington, Jackson, Missouri (Source: Max M. Fisher, "Our Story," Typewritten, 1945, with additions to 1958. Mt. Washington, suburb of Kansas City, is just north of Independence and east of KC proper. It seems to have been absorbed by Independence.). He married

LYDIA ABIGAIL BATES (Source: Max M. Fisher, "Our Story," Typewritten, 1945, with additions to 1958.) 10 May 1851 in Redford, Wayne, Michigan (Source: Max M. Fisher, "Our Story," Typewritten, 1945, with additions to 1958.). She was born 21 Jul 1829 in Springfield, Windsor, Vermont (Source: Max M. Fisher, "Our Story," Typewritten, 1945, with additions to 1958.), and died 02 Oct 1900 in Utica, Livingston, Missouri (Source: Max M. Fisher, "Our Story," Typewritten, 1945, with additions to 1958.).

Notes for CAPT. JAMES SAMUEL FISHER:

Our Story: burial, Utica Cemetery, Utica, Livingston, Missouri (some distance northeast of Kansas City. Born in Canada, moved to MI 1837, moved to MO 1867. Made two trips to CA in the 1850s and was in the South five years during the Civil War. Limited schooling, but joined self-improvement associations, a debating society (at 16) and a singing club shortly afterward. Conducted regular classes in singing evenings at the Redford Center Public School. Made a trip to California for the gold rush in Spring 1852 with some friends, by train to Chicago, and then by horse teams to Council Bluffs IA, by ox teams the rest of the way to Coloma CA. He was there about a year. SEE DIARY FOR DETAILS. He made a second trip to CA 1854-56, by steamer to and from NYC, going through Panama by train to steamers on the other side. On return, farmed 1857-1859; was the enumerator for the 1860 census in Livonia, Redford, and Greenfield Twps. He then entered the UofM Law School in its very first class in 1859.

In summer 1861, in response to Pres. Lincoln's call for volunteers, he recruited a company of cavalry from his friends and was made Capt. of the Co., which became Co. C of the First Michigan Cavalry. They left 9/12/1861 for Washington DC, camping at Frederick MD, moving Feb 1862 to Harper's Ferry, and later to the Shenandoah Valley. Aug 31, 1862, they fought in the Battle of Menassas, know as the Second Battle of Bull Run. Another battle ensued the next day. On these two days the Union Army suffered defeat and heavy losses, 1724 killed, 8352 wounded, and 5958 missing. Fisher resigned his commission 9/12/1862 due to health, and worked for a time for a company providing army supplies. He returned to Detroit, and then moved to Utica MO in the spring of 1867.

"Mr. Fisher was a sincere Christian and a true friend to the many who knew him. He was well read and enjoyed telling of the many experiences which he had during his long and eventful life of 87 years."

Fisher, "Our Story," Typewritten, 1945, with additions to 1958.).

Notes for CHARLES FISHER:

Our Story: At an early age, clerked for the Preston Brady Co., a general merchandizing co located at the foot of Woodward Ave; he also taught in a district school in Plymouth MI. When the Preston Brady Co established a store at Sault Ste. Marie in 1849, he was sent there as a rep for the co, later moving to Eagle Harbor and Eagle River in the UP. In 1862, with James Close, went into the coal oil refining business at Detroit, but the business burned shortly after. Then he became agent for Union Cooper Mine, near Ontonagon MI, thereafter forming his own general merchandizing partnership and moved to Ashland WI. The Panic of 1873 put him out of business. He established the Ashland Title Abstract Co, of which he was the Sec'y, and served as City Auditor of Ashland.

"Mr. Fisher was amember of the Episcopalian Church. ... [He] was possessed [sic] of the traits of a true pioneer, ability, patience, pluck, push and self-reliance, and was without personal vices which so often mar the record of many of the 'old-timers'. He was both loved and respected by his friends and his family, and his life has set high standards for his relatives and friends to emulate."

1850 and 1860 not found. (No listing found in the UP or Detroit in 1850. Marriage in Detroit in Feb 1860 would suggest they were in Detroit at the time of the 1860 census but no listing has been found.)

Some issues are not clear. Was there only one wife (Anne Elizabeth) with some serious age and birthplace discrepancies? Or were there two, Anne b ca 1843 bNY and Elizabeth bMar 1840 bOH, married once before Frank? All five census listings consistently suggest that Frank was married in 1861. The data as presented here may be subject to revision as other information comes to light.

In 1860 Anne E. Martindale was living in Ustick Twp, Whiteside, IL, at age 17 with her parents. In 1870, Henry Fisher, age 8, was living with Anne's parents, but he was born in MI. Was Anne the mother of Henry? Frank was in Indiana and Anne in Illinois in 1860. Did they marry in 1861 AND make a trip to visit his family, with Henry born while in Michigan, and then they settled in Illinois near her parents?

Children of LEVI FISHER and ANNE MARTINDALE are:

Our Story: He is buried in Redford Cem (MI) between the graves of his father and mother. Apparently he and Ella separated sometime between 1900 and 1910.

More About MILES FIELD FISHER:

Burial: Redford Pioneer Cemetery, Detroit, Wayne, Michigan (Source: Personal observation of tombstone.)

Notes for ELLA JANE RANGER:

1860 and 1870 - see widowed mother's listings.

1880 - see husband Hugh Robinson's listing.

1900 - see husband Miles Fisher's listing.

1910 and 1920 - see son-in-law Orlo Proctor's listings.

Note: Miles, Ella's husband, was still alive in 1910 - apparently they had separated. They are not buried together. Informal reports from Aunt Betty indicate that at life's end they were legally married, but not on good terms.
