Notes for JOHN MOODY:

Mr. John Moodie was christened April 8, 1593 at Moulton, Suffolk, England, son of George Moody and Margaret. He came from England to America as early as the Spring of 1633, and with his wife, Sarah, settled in Roxbury in the Colony of the Massachusetts Bay. He took the oath of Fidelity to the government on the 5th of November of the same year (Ref.- Col. Rec., Vol. 1, p 79, printed Ed. Vol. 1, p 268) at which time we find the honorable title of "Mr." prefixed to this name and the same distinction is given in most of the ancient manuscripts. That some little fortune remained after a voyage across the Atlantic and especially at a time when the Puritian Faith was often the occasion of entire loss of property we have evidence from the Journal of Winthrop. The record bears the date August 3, 1633. He had at this time 'two men servants', 'one of whom had bound himself for divers years', but afterwards relented, 'thinking that were he at liberty, he might get greater wages', yet in the language of Winthrop, "his master used him very well". The event which released them both from the contract, as well as from the restraint of pious council, was providential. "They went out to gather oysters and, not making fast their boat, when the flood came, it floated away, and they were both drowned". (Ref.- Winthrop's Journal, vol. 1, p 106).

The map of Hartford as it was in 1640, prepared from the original records by vote of the town and drawn by William S. Porter, Surveyor and Antiquarian, clearly defines, among others, the residence of Mr. John Moodie. To which is sufficient to illustrate the first parcel of land above described with the residences of a few of the settlers who were neighbors to him. By comparison of this with the map of Hartford as it is now, it will be seen that his house stood on the south corner of 'Main and Buckingham Streets' nearly west from the 'Charter Oak'* and that the 'South Congregation Church**' occupies the identical spot, as if to invite his widely scattered descendants to meet under it's spacious roof and think of generations past and of the brief space ere they too shall thus be numbered. The following items have been taken from records at Hartford:

"1 Aug 1639, John Moodie had an attachment granted upon the goods of Thomas Gaines in the hands of Mr. Stoughton for a debt of 5 lbs. weight of tobacco.

"5 Sep 1639, John Moodie contra Blackford for a fowling pierce he bought and should have paid for it 40 s per bill of. The jury find for the Pl. 41 damages. costs 6 s.

"23 Dec 1639, 'At the first regular town meeting--voted John Moodie-- (4th name) 'to order the town affairs for one year.'

'In 1640, he was chosen Lieut.' (Ref.- Hinmans' Catalogue)

"17 Jan 1642, he 'made oath to the Will of Richard Lyman.'

As illustrating the habits of the Colony in whose affairs he was a prominent actor, the subjoined is inserted. "Ordered that he watch who are under the direction of the Constables shall ring the large cow bell every morning one hour before day break-to-began at the bridge (over Little River) and so ring all the way forth and back from Master Moodie's to John Pratts, and see that one be up with a light in ever house with fifteen minutes after the ringing of the bell on the penalty of one shilling and 6 pence"---

In the 'Catalogue of the Puritan Settlers of Conn.'

(Ref.- Hinman's) the title of 'Deacon' was prefixed to the name of John Moodie, on what evidence is unknown.

Among papers filed in the probate office in Hartford are the Will and the Inventory of the Estate of John Moodie. Like many men, he seems to have deferred the disposition of his property until his sickness, hence his signature is there traced feebly as is the apostrophe subjoined. The matter so far as it can now be well deciphered is arranged according to the original design, but his autograph is taken from a deed the 'third day of Feb A Dom 1644' and is preserved in the State Papers of Connecticut (deposited in the State Library at Hartford) in the first vol. of Private Controversies Doc. 4.

* The venerable oak above referred to was prostrated by a storm on Thursday morning 21 Aug 1856. From sorrow at the event, the bells of Hartford were tolled at sundown of the same day.

** The church referred to is one of the largest in that city and second in regard to the time of erection of the churches now there.

"The last Will of John Moodie,

I doe make my loving wife Sara Moodie sole executrix, and I doe wil that halfe of all that I have, booth land and stuffe (excepting the howseold-stuff, which I leave wholly to my wife) I give it to my son Samuel Moodie for to have it at the age of twenty fower yeares. I will also that Elizabeth Peper *** shall have five & twenty pound payd her within a yeare, and a petticote and a wascote & a payer of shooes; and this and all my debts for to be paid out of the whole.

23 July, 1655 Witnesses to this: Gregory Wolterton, John Barnard, Francis Barnard.

His funeral was undoubtedly attended by Revs. Messrs. Stone and Hooker with whom he had been associated from the planting of the Colony and whose names are embalmed in New England's History. He was buried in the grave yard back of what is now the First Congregational Church in Hartford, Conn., but "no man knoweth of his sepulcher to this day." A monument, however, more lasting and far more befitting than the straightened circumstances of those times would have been likely to produce has since been erected to his memory. By liberality of the 'Ancient Burying Ground Association of Hartford' an obelisk of red sand stone, erected in 1837--bears his name deeply engraved with the names of others of the first settlers - one hundred in all - whose dust coming generations would fain respect.

***Elizabeth Pepper witnessed the Deed above at which time she made her mark to the name of Elizabeth Peppercorn. This, however, was evidently a humorous suffix. It is quite probable that she lived many years in the family, but who she was is not known.

More on Elizabeth Pepper:

Court Record, Page 80-December, 1655: Will Proven.

Elizabeth Pepper maketh oath in this Court that about the yeare Ano 1641 Sarah Glover, the Sister of John Glover of Newtowne in New England, being at Mr. John Moodys howse at Hartford, she desired the said Elizabeth to goe with her to John Skinner of Hartford, which the said Elizabeth did. When the said Elizabeth and Sarah were at John Skinners house the said Sarah asked John Skinner for a debt of £13 he owed her brother John Glover, & the said John Skinner answered he had noe money as he was engaged to pay, neither would hee get any for the goods he Brought from England; therefore hee was sorry that he had borrowed it of her brother, & soe went away without any money, but the said Skinner promised to pay the sayd £13 in the best way he can.

Notes for SARAH COX:

Sarah, the wife of John Moodie remained a widow in Hartford till 1659 when she removed with her son to Hadley, Massachussetts where she died November 4, 1671 as appears by the Hadley town records. Her grave is unknown.

SAMUEL<sup>5</sup> MOODY (JOHN<sup>4</sup>, GEORGE<sup>3</sup>, RICHARD<sup>2</sup> MOODYE, EDMUND<sup>1</sup>) was born 1636 in Hartford, Hartford County, Connecticut, and died September 22, 1689 in Hadley, Hampshire, Massachusetts. He married SARAH DEMING 1658 in Wethersfield, Hartford County, Connecticut, daughter of JOHN DEMING and HONOUR TREAT. She was born Abt. 1640 in Wethersfield, Hartford County, Connecticut, and died September 29, 1717 in Hadley, Hampshire County, Massachusetts.

Notes for SAMUEL MOODY:

Samuel Moody, born in 1636, was the only child of the immigrant, John Moody, to live to maturity and have offspring. The date of his birth is not recorded, but from the fact that he took the freeman's oath at Hartford 21 May 1657 he must according to usage have been at that time at least 21 years of age. It appears moreover, from the Will of his father that in July 1655 he was not yet 24 years old. Comparing these dates with the fact that the transition from Roxbury to Hartford was in the Spring of 1636, we may rest in the conviction that the above date is correct or nearly so. As the father had ceased to be an inhabitant at Roxbury and as records had not yet begun to be minutely kept at Hartford, the precise date was not preserved. He remained awhile after marriage on the homestead of his father and continued to care for his now widowed mother who resided with him. He made purchase of several pieces of land the deed of which bears date April 7, 1658, also he is mentioned as proprietor of a "parcell some of which was granted his father by the town and some of which his father bought" - all of which, (bounded and described) was recorded Dec 12, 1680 in Vol 1 of the records in the town clerks office at Hartford. At this time, differences of opinion in regard to baptism and church government had made an unhappy controversy at Hartford and Wethersfield. Many, in order to end the strife, thereupon resolved to remove themselves and their families into the jurisdiction of Massachusetts. Accordingly, on the 18th of April 1659, sixty persons, with Rev. John Russell as their pastor, began the settlement of Hadley. Samuel Moodie was one of these. The birth of his second child is recorded on the Hadley records and from the fact that no record was made of the eldest is evidence that her birth happened the year of the removal, 1659. The original document by which he held his estate in Hadley states, "This record bearing date this twentie third day of ffebruarie in the yeare One thousand Six hundred Sixtie ffive witnesseth that the towne of hadley have given and granted unto Samuel Moodie an accommodation of land according to the rate or value of One hundred and ffftie pound estate, viz. The Colony purchased of the Indians what is now embraced in the towns of Hadley, South Hadley, Granby & Amherst and Hatfield all of which were anciently called Hadley. As Samuel Moodie was one of the Colony who made the purchases the expression `given' as used in the above record denotes merely the appointment of his share by itself with specified boundaries. A transcript of the above document may be found on the Hadley records. From the record here given it appears that the house of Samuel Moodie was on the west side of Front Street in Hadley and the fourth from the river reckoning north. A slight elevation of ground with two dwelling houses - the residences of Messrs. Joseph Eastman and Addie Wallis - mark the spot. The old mansion long years ago was removed; but the street remains nearly the same as formerly being sixteen rods wide and one mile in length both ends abutting on the Connecticut River, which here forms a peninsula. The soil is highly productive and the scenery beautiful. Nor can we believe it to have been less so formerly. There he undoubtedly was, when on the morning of June 12, 1676, Hadley was attacked by 700 Indians. The fight must have occurred near his house for "the Indians came upon the inhabitants at the south end of the street." We doubt not the musket and the sword mentioned in the inventory of his estate were then used in defense. It was there the foe was driven back by assistance of the Generals Goffe and Whalley both of whom had belonged to Cromwell's Army, but who, with twenty eight other Judges having passed sentence of death upon Charles I, of England, were obliged, after the restoration of monarchy, to flee for safety to the wilds of America. To Samuel Moodie, I find given the epithet `Goodman' which title undoubtedly denotes the fact of his being a member of the Church. We regret that nothing further in this respect can now be known as the early church records of Hadley, unfortunately, were burned with the dwelling of Rev. Mr. Hopkins. Mr. Samuel Moodie, son of Mr. John Moody, the emigrant and progenitor of all of the name whom ancestors are traced to the Connecticut Valley in it's early history, died in Hadley, Massachussetts 22 September 1689, aged about 53 years. "Sara ye beloved wife of Samuel Moodie, Senior, died Sept. ye 29, 1717." They were buried with the early settlers of Hadley, their graves have not been identified. The Probate of the Inventory of Mr. Samuel Moodie's Estate as copied from the Probate Records, Vol. 1, page 269, of Hampshire County, Massachussetts: "Sara ye Relict of Samll Moody of Hadley, deceased, who dyed intestate presented to this Corte an Inventory of her sd Husband's Estate to which she made oath before ye worshipd Petr Tilton, Esqr yt it was a true Inventory & if more estate appeared, she would readily make discovery of it to the Cortes. Power of administration on sd estate was by the Corte granted to sd widdow and to John and Samuell Moody, son of the deceased who gave in Bond of 1000 for securitie of sd estate & to give acct of there administering on sd estate." The inventory follows, taken 25th October 1689 by Capt. Aaron Cooke, Lieut. Joseph Kellogg & Peter Tilton, Senr. "Here followeth a settlement of Samll Moody's, deceased, his estate at ye ajourmt of this Corte June 25, 1690. Whereas, Sarah the Relict of Samll Moody of Hadley deceased appeared in Corte desiring yt some settlement to be made of her sd husband's estate to hereslfe & ye children whom ye totoll sum amounts to 654 of thereabouts which this Corte settles as follows. And John Moody, eldest son to the deceased, to have a double portion which with some small allowance to his double share come to 167-5-00 or thereabouts to be set out to him out of the housing & lands at Hartford, viz. All the housing & lands thereto, to be his own portion as aforesd answering his mother for her third, during her life. To Samll, the 2d son & Ebenezer, the youngest son, 76 apiece out of the lands & movables as yt administrator to each shall judge, with good advice, to be most convenient for ym. (It will be observed that no mention is made of Sarah, the eldest daughter in the above settlement, but it will be seen by reference to her name in advance that she was at this time, deceased.) He married SARAH EVARTS April 03, 1700 in Hartford, Hartford County, Connecticut, daughter of JOHN EVARTS and MARY FRENCH. She was born June 04, 1673 in Hadley, Hampshire County, Massachusetts, and died 1751 in Hartford, Hartford County, Connecticut.

Notes for JOHN MOODY:

Having received the house and lands at Hartford which formally belonged to his grandfather and which had now descended to him as a 'double portion' for reason that he was the eldest son, he settled in Hartford at time of marriage, or soon after. The following is taken from records in the town clerks office as establishing the fact of his residence in Hartford at this time:

"This may certify all whom it doeth or may concern that by the desire and at the request of John Moody of the town of Hartford on the 7th day of April Anno Dom. 1701, I Caleb Stanley, surveyor of lands for the County of Hartford in Connecticut Colony in New England did measure and lay out for the said John Moody one certain lot of land situated on the east side of Connecticut River in the township of Hartford aforesaid and on the south side of Hokenum River containing one hundred and twenty acres being in length three miles and in breadth twenty rods, which said lot is bounded with land then in part new cleared, fenced, plowed and claimed by Solomon Andrews on the north, with wilderness individe land on the east, with another lot of land which the same day I measured and layed out for Ensign John Pitkin on the south and with land belonging to the said Solomon Andrews on the west, the which said lot of land the said John Moody claimeth to have and hold as descending unto him from his grandfather, John Moody, formally of said Hartford, deceased." (The lot of land above described was sold Nov 10, 1701 to David Forbs of Hartford for the sum of eleven pounds.) His attention was given partly to agricultural pursuits and partly to the trade of a mason. I find the last named epithet affixed to his name as early as 1701, though he often calls himself 'yeoman' (records clerks office of Hartford, vol. 1, p. 234 & 375). The Inventory to his Estate contains evidence that he pursued both these branches of industry until his decease (probate record, vol 2). A sword is mentioned, among other things, from which fact we may presume that he held some office of a military kind, perhaps, however it was the same as the one mentioned in the inventory of his father's estate. He left no Will recorded on Probate and his Estate was disposed of among his children and his wife who survived him by mutual agreement and in effect as follows: "To the wido, the use of one third part of the house and homestead and the use of one third part of the property at Hartland; also, all the moveable estate set forth in the Inventory. To the two older sons, the homstead and the land belonging thereto, with all the appurtenances and priveledges, to be shared equally between them; the second son discharging whatever claims there might be against the estate; to the third son, a specified sum of money, already paid, to the two younger sons the property at Hartland in equal shares & a sum of money equally divided. To each of the daughters, a specified sum of money." Dated 5th day of March Anno Dom 1733 3/4. The wife of John Moody, having survived him, as a widow for some years, was granted power of administration on her estate Aug 27, 1751. 16. SAMUEL<sup>7</sup> MOODY (JOHN<sup>6</sup>, SAMUEL<sup>5</sup>, JOHN<sup>4</sup>, GEORGE<sup>3</sup>, RICHARD<sup>2</sup> MOODYE, EDMUND<sup>1</sup>) was born December 07, 1704 in Hartford, Hartford County, Connecticut, and died May 1760 in West Hartford, Hartford County, Connecticut. He married ANNA OLMSTEAD July 14, 1747 in West Hartford, Hartford County, Connecticut, daughter of THOMAS OLMSTEAD and ANN WEBSTER. She was born November 05, 1717 in West Hartford, Hartford County, Connecticut, and died March 1789 in West Hartford, Hartford County, Connecticut.

Notes for SAMUEL MOODY:

Records of the Church in West Hartford give evidence that he lived in that place some years previous to his marriage. He became a member of the Congregational Church there in 1729, being then twenty five years of age.

He was a large land holder, having at time of his decease, about 400 acres, 180 of which were in Harwinton, the rest in Hartford, West Division, 'about one mile south of the meeting house.' (Prob. Rec., Vol VIII, Hartford Co.)

Administration on his estate was granted unto Ann his widow, 4 Aug 1760; and the same at the request of his sons Samuel & Thomas was divided Feb 17, 1777 among the children and in the form as follows: "To Samuel the eldest son a double share; "To Thomas, to the heir of John, who was then deceased, and to Nathaniel each a single share - subject to debts. To the widow, one third part of the movables and one third part of the real estate, subject to debts. (Prob. Rec. Vol. VIII, Hartford Co.)

His descendants affirm that his death was tragical. Being in the Meeting House in West Hartford on training day, whither many of the soldiers had repaired to escape a shower which had suddenly arisen, a musket in the hands of a young man whose name was Fisher was accidentally discharged and the ball took affect. The gun it appears had been loaded for more than two years, which fact was not disclosed until the accident.

Notes for JOHN MOODY:

John served in the Revolutionary War - engaging as a volunteer the same year of his marriage. It is said that he was taken prisoner and with others was shut in the `Sugar House' near New York City where so many prisoners suffered and where he died of maltreatment. The exact date of his decease is not known. It must, however, have been previous to the settlement of his father's estate in 1776, as is shown by reference. His age therefore, was about 20.

Marriage Notes for LAURA MOODY and ROBERT MITCHELL:

Robert and Laura are both believed to be buried at the cemetery in Willoughby. I have been to the cemetery in Willoughby, however, I did not find their markers. It was getting late, it is a large cemetery, and it began to get too dark. The funeral home nearby provided me with the name and number of the sexton. It is Alan Lemieux, 440-951-4619. Also, the number for Willoughby City Hall is 440-951-2800. I have not yet contacted them or had an opportunity to revisit Willoughby for another inspection. On another note, while I was walking through the cemetery looking for them, I came within ten feet of a skunk that was moving in my direction, somewhat to the right of my path. Fortunately, the skunk had not yet taken notice of me. I quickly reversed my direction, moving away from and to the left of the skunk's path. A few seconds later, the skunk did see me and stopped and watched me for another few seconds as I continued to move away, assuring in a low voice that I was leaving and would not be a bother. Apparently this was convincing enough, because the skunk began to move on. Carl Flanagan, April 1998

Notes for MAY CATHARINE MOODY:

Obituary report: "When three years of age, her parents moved to Saybrook, which was her home with the exception of two years in Ashtabula. She received her education at Grand River Institute. She was a member of the Saybrook M. E. Church for 16 years. After her husband's death, she worked the farm "doing a man's work, always brave and willing." She went to Ashtabula with a load of apples October 20th, 1907 and, in coming out of a driveway, the wheel dropped into a deep hole, throwing her out, breaking her back and neck. She was taken to the hospital and lived until the 24th, "suffering untold agony." Everything was done to try to make her comfortable, but nothing relieved her terrible suffering but death, which came to her as a welcome relief. She made all of the arrangements for her funeral and was so glad to go. She said she should meet her loved ones and there would be no more suffering. When suffering so terribly she would repeat "My faith has made me whole. There won't be any broken backs in heaven." The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon in the Methodist Church, the service being conducted by Rev. Bailey, assisted by Rev. Winter, after which the remains were placed in Saybrook cemetery by the side of her husband. The casket and pulpit were beautifully decorated with the flowers brought by her many friends and relatives. Mrs. Rush was beloved by all who knew her and was fully prepared for the life to come. Among those who were present at the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, New Lyme; Mr. and Mrs. Leeworthy, Windsor; Mr. and Mrs. Peck, McKean, Pennsylvania; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Mentor; Mrs. Helen Fitch and Byron Barr, Madison; her sister, Mrs. C. D. Overacker, with her two daughters, Belmont, Iowa; and Mrs. Gersinger and son, Cleveland."

Notes for CLIFTON FAYETTE RUSH:

Obituary Report from scrapbook of May Moody Rush, in possession of Norma Moody Bush (no date): "The funeral of Clifton Rush, whose death was briefly mentioned Thursday, will be held Sunday afternoon at the home of M. R. Rush, father of the deceased, in Saybrook, at 2 o'clock. Friends going from Ashtabula can take O., P. & A. cars and get off at Center Road. Service is to be held at the parental home because of the illness of the father which would prevent him going elsewhere to attend. The deceased was born December 20, 1858 in Saybrook where he lived until thirty years of age when he entered the employ of the Lake Shore Railway as a fireman. He worked on the road on the main line for eight years when he was promoted to engineer and operated an engine in the local J. & F. yards for five years residing during that time on Fisk street, this city. About two years ago, failing health made it necessary for him to desert his engine, and he moved with his wife to Saybrook where he took up farming in hopes of receiving physical benefit, but the hope was not realized. His ailment was diabetes and the end came Thursday morning. He married in June 1899, Miss May Moody, of Saybrook, who survives him. He leaves no children. His parents and two brothers, E. W. Rush of Saybrook and L. W. Rush of this city, are the other surviving members of the immediate family who are living. Deceased was formerly a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of the Ashtabula lodge. He had many friends in this city and vicinity."

At 8 o'clock (standard) Wednesday evening the wedding march, played by Miss Taylor of Austinburg, sounded, and Rev. Domer, in a short but pretty service, pronounced the happy couple man and wife. Miss Elva Waters of Austinburg acted as bridesmaid, and W. M. Broadsword of Oil City as groomsman. There were present about 125 guests, mostly relatives and intimate friends, from Collinwood, Oil City, Madison, Geneva, Harpersfield, Ashtabula, Austinburg, Orwell, and Saybrook. It was the intention to have the ceremony on the lawn in front of the house, but on account of rain, the party adjourned to the house. A fine wedding supper was served after the ceremony."

Notes for CLARENCE DAVID OVERACKER:

From handwritten documents found among the possessions of Orpha Amanda Overacker Manuel, now in the possession of Elia Drucilla Villarreal Manuel. This tribute to Clarence appears to have been written by Amy Elnora Moody Overacker. It has deteriorated considerably from age, and much of it is illegible. However, it has provided an extremely valuable insight into the last year of Clarence's life: "Clarence was an intellectual, literary person, a profound and serious thinker and well-read. His character was noble, his ideas were lofty, and his life was full of inspiration to those whom he met daily. After graduation from Belmont High School, he worked as a railroad operator for fifteen years. For a time, he worked as editor for the Belmont Herald newspaper and published several educational articles in the 'Arena' and other magazines of worth. He was always interested in any and all progressive moves for the betterment of mankind. He was a thorough optimist and always had a kind word for everybody. He had a long circle of friends wherever he went. His genial nature always brought forth the best there is in those whom he met daily. He suffered from health problems, however, and took his family to Oregon in an attempt to receive health benefits from a more active, outdoor lifestyle. He worked for a sawmill in Oregon and, on the sixth of June, 1910, he strained himself severely, resulting in a swelling of his heart. Following that, he moved his family back to Ohio. On their way they passed through Idaho, which was having a terrible outbreak of fires. The train was delayed for some 48 hours in 'this awful place of agony.' Nearly suffocating from smoke, Clarence, due to his already poor health, seemed close to death at most any moment. Finally, the train, after this long and agonizing delay, moved on once more and they reach their destination. In November of 1910, the family once again decided to start a new life and moved to Friendswood, Texas. Clarence's health still failing, and made worse with the strain of traveling, he died at 9 a.m. on April 29, 1911. He was devoted to God and his family, a true and loving husband. He was the youngest of 13 children. Three sisters, three brothers, and his mother survive him."

The following brief notice was found in 'The Galveston Daily News', April 30, 1911: "OVERACKER---Friendswood, Tex., April 29.---C. D. Overacker, who had been ill for months, died this morning at his home. He leaves a widow and two little girls to mourn his loss."

He was born May 08, 1891 in Concrete, DeWitt County, Texas, and died July 02, 1948 in Houston, Harris County, Texas.

Notes for IRVIN WESLEY MANUEL:

Houston Chronicle, Saturday, July 3, 1948: RAILMAN DIES OF INJURIES IN S. P. HOSPITAL, Growth of Bushes and Trees at Corner Near City Limits Blamed in Death of I. W. Manuel. "A rank growth of bushes and trees overhanging the intersection of Billingsley and Weiss streets set the stage for the death of Irvin W. Manuel, 57, Friday afternoon. Mr. Manuel died at the Southern Pacific Hospital at 4:50 p.m. for injuries received earlier in the afternoon when a car he was driving collided with a truck driven by John W. Pegoda, 22, of 3804 Jensen Drive. Mr. Manuel was an engineer for the Southern Pacific and lived at 3703 Irvington. Mr. Pegoda, driver for the J. H. Rose Truck Line, told Police Investigator W. H. Horn that the intersection is completely blind, due to the overhanging trees. He said he did not see Mr. Manuel's car approaching until it appeared from behind the bushes. Mr. Pegoda said he applied his brakes, and Mr. Manuel swerved his car in a futile attempt to avoid the collision. Mr. Manuel was driving south on Billingsley, and the truck was traveling east on Weiss. The Manuel car was hurled about 15 feet and landed against a fire plug. He was injured internally and his right arm broken. "

Houston Press, Saturday, July 3, 1948: NO ACCIDENT FOR 28 YEARS, HE DIES; Railroad Engineer Killed in Auto Crash." Irvin W. Manuel had worked 28 of his 57 years for the Southern Pacific. He had pulled the throttle on his company's switch engines out at Inglewood the past half dozen years, receiving a well-earned promotion after more than a score of years as a fireman. He had crossed thousands of intersections, under all conditions, in all places. Never an accident, in all those years, as he drove his car to and from work, he never scratched a fender. A railroad engineer must be careful. He must keep his equipment in good shape. But yesterday, safe, cautious Mr. Manuel, proud father of three sons, met death at an intersection. A blind intersection, at Billingsley and Weiss. His car was struck by a truck driven by John W. Pegoda Jr., 22, of Huntsville, as both vehicles entered the intersection. "He didn't see me, I didn't see him," Mr. Pegoda said. "His car broke a fire plug after the impact. I pulled him out before the car filled with water." "The accident might have been avoided had the trees, shrubs, and weeds at the corners been cut back," Accident Investigator W. H. Horn said. Mr. Manuel's death was No. 49 for the year in the county, scene of three other accidents yesterday that injured seven persons. Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Park Temple Baptist Church. Survivors are his wife; three sons, David, Donald, and Ralph; and a daughter, Mrs. Mildred Flanagan, all of Houston; three sisters, Mrs. J. D. Fanette and Mrs. Arthur Green of Cuero, and Mrs. Claudia Zilman of Floresville; and three brothers, Willie Milligan of Thomaston, Dr. Barth Milligan of Austin, and Tom Milligan of Cuero. Burial will be in Forest Park Cemetery.
