32nd Infantry Regiment was organized at Camp Trousdale, Sumner County, Tennessee, in October, 1861, and during November reported 850 men present. Men of this unit were raised in Lincoln, Marshall, Giles, Lawrence, Williamson, and Franklin counties. It moved to Fort Donelson where it had 3 killed, 36 wounded, and 528 captured in February, 1862. After being exchanged, it was assigned to J.C. Brown's, Brown's and Reynolds' Consolidated, and Palmer's Brigade, Army of Tennessee. The 32nd took an active part in the difficult campaigns of the army from Chickamauga to Atlanta, returned to Tennessee with Hood, and was active in North Carolina. During the Battle of Murfreesboro it was on detached duty at Wartrace guarding railroad bridges. The regiment lost forty-six percent of the 361 engaged at Chickamauga, totalled 321 men and 242 arms in December, 1863, and mustered only 12 effectives on December 21, 1864. It was included in the surrender on April 26, 1865. The field officers were Colonels Edmund C. Cook and John P. McGuire, Lieutenant Colonels W.P. Moore and William P. O'Neal, and Majors William W.J. 5. WILLIAM PALDENE<sup>5</sup> CAMPBELL (JOHN<sup>4</sup>, THEOBALD JOHN<sup>3</sup>, GEORGE<sup>2</sup>, CUTHBERT<sup>1</sup>) was born 1834 in Henderson County, Tennessee, and died

1884 in Dallas, Dallas County, Texas. He married FRANCES JANE FOSTER 1859, daughter of JAMES FOSTER and REBECCA ROGERS. She was born Feb 10, 1839 in Alabama, and died Dec 02, 1918 in Fort Worth, Tarrant County, Texas.

Notes for WILLIAM PALDENE CAMPBELL:

William enlisted, for the Union, in Lexington, Henderson County, Tennessee, on September 24, 1862. He was mustered in to the 7th Tennessee Cavalry Company H, on September 28, 1862 in Trenton, Tennessee at the age of 22. He was promoted to Sergeant on January 1, 1863. He was listed as AWOL from La Grange on June 21, 1863 (along with half the regiment) but this was later removed. He was captured at Mount Pinson, Tennessee June 10, 1863 and spent time in Richmond, Virginia prison from which he was exchanged through City Point on July 14, 1863, back to the regiment on October 20, 1863. He was re-captured at Union City, Tennessee on March 24, 1864 and taken to Andersonville Prison in Georgia. He was exchanged from Andersonville through Charleston and Savannah in November/December 1864.

About Andersonville

Andersonville, or Camp Sumter as it was officially known, was one of the largest of many Confederate military prisons established during the Civil War. It was built early in 1864 after Confederate officials decided to move the large number of Federal prisoners kept in and around Richmond, Virginia, to a place of greater security and a more abundant food supply . During the 14 months the prison existed, more than 45,000 Union soldiers were confined here. Of these, almost 13,000 died from disease, poor sanitation, malnutrition, overcrowding, or exposure to the elements.

A prison for enlisted soldiers, it was designed to hold 10,000, but by August 1864, due to deteriorating resources and the breakdown of the prisoner exchange system, the prison population had swelled to over 32,000.

This atrocious overcrowding quickly led to health and nutritional conditions that resulted in 12, 912 deaths by war's end in May 1865. The prison guards, composed mostly of older men and boys, watched from sentry boxes (called "pigeon roosts" by the prisoners) perched atop the stockade and shot any prisoner who crossed a wooden railing, called the "deadline."

Handicapped by deteriorating economic conditions, the Confederates lacked the necessary materials and amounts of food for 10,000 prisoners, not to mention the 26,000 that were confined there by June 1864. Available shelter was deduced to crude shelters huts of made scrap wood, tent fragments, or simple holes dug in the ground. Many had no shelter of any kind against the elements of rain, heat, and cold. No clothing was provided, and many prisoners were left with rags or nothing at all.

With these unspeakably miserable conditons, almost 30 percent of the prisoners confined to Andersonville died at the camp during its 14-month existence. Diseases such as dysentery, gangrene, diarrhea, and scurvy took many. The Confederates lacked adequate facilities, personnel, and medical supplies to combat the diseases.

It's amazing that William survived.
