According to the 1860 US Census for Wisconsin, Joseph and Elisabeth had immigrated from Oldenburg Germany with their son Arnold around 1850. Who was Henry B. who immigrated from Oldenburg, Germany on 11 Jun., 1861 from Bremen to Baltimore on the ship "Albert"? Henry traveled to Cincinnati, Ohio then to Indiana where he settled. Could he be related? There is a "H. H. Hugeback also from Ellenstedt that pationed to leave Germany for America at that same time as Joseph.

Sandy Stiemke states that she found records showing a Joseph Hugeback that died in Chickasaw Co. Iowa in 1886. This conflicts with the microfiche data above, though Joseph could have moved to Iowa with Arnold.

Notes for ELISABETH HOWLE:

Notes from Sandy Stiemke - s_crary_2002at yahoo.com:

"Arnold Hugeback's mother's name was Elizabeth Howle according to the death certificate of his sister Catherine Hugeback Gelhaus Wesley. The certificate was signed by Catherine's daughter Elizabeth Volk, and the spelling of the father Joseph Hugeback was a little off in the spelling, so Howle may be how it sounded rather than how we might find it spelled other places."

Children of JOSEPH HUGEBACK and ELISABETH HOWLE are:

2. i. ARNOLD "I." OR? "M." HUGEBACH/HUGEBACK, b. August 18, 1824, Ellenstedt, Oldenberg Province, (Lower Saxony) Germany; d. March 14, 1907, North Washington, Chickasaw Co., Iowa.

CATHARINE HUGOBACH GELHAUS

Catharine Hugobach was born November 8, 1836 in Germany to Joseph and Elizabeth Howle Hugelbach/Hugeback. The obituary from the Spring Green (Wisconsin) newspaper states that she was born at Oldenberg, Germany. At some point she married Arnold Gelhaus. The earliest record we have for her in America is in Scranton Pennsylvania, listed as the birthplace of daughter Elizabeth on July 15, 1856. They probably migrated from Pennsylvania to Wisconsin with Catharine's parents and her brother Arnold sometime in 1856-57.

Sauk County land records show a purchase by Arnold Gelhaus on May 16, 1857 in Franklin Township, section 19, ? acres from J.B. and David Carpenter for $200. There four more children were born to them. Arnold was drafted for service in the Civil War in one of the last drafts and began serving October 29, 1864 with Company H, 37th Infantry. Around August 1865 he became ill about the time he was to be discharged. He was admitted to Douglas General Hospital, Washington, D.C. His fellow soldiers Paul Luther and George Jacob Wintermantel left him to come home. He died on August 6, 1865 and was buried in Arlington National Cemetery. The government denied his death for some time and there was much legal hassle before Catherine received widow's pension. Part of this was due to the "Americanization" of the name Gelhaus to Gelhouse by the government, who then could not locate "Gelhaus". Paul Luther and George J. Wintermantel had to testify that they saw him in the hospital before they left for home. (This information is from the government Civil War records.) It was not until September 29, 1992 that a member of the family, his granddaughter Joyce Yanke, was able to visit the cemetery and take a picture of his cemetery stone. (Section 13, Grave 11909). On September 18, 1868 Catharine married Anton(y) Wesley(y) in Madison, Wisconsin in a legal ceremony witnessed by Joseph Bandel and F. Verritz? She had known him as a neighbor before the war and he was a schoolteacher at the White Mound School. She moved to a farm in Bear Creek Township that Anton owned. Anton had been married previously and had twin sons. Anton died accidentally on December 31, 1881 and was buried in White Mound cemetery. Catharine then lived with each of her children for a time, finally with daughter Elizabeth Volk in Sauk City at 420 Madison Street, where she passed away of apoplexy on October 28, 1915. She was buried in White Mound cemetery, which is located just off state Hwy 23 in Franklin Township with Anton Wesley and her son Francis who had died at age 9 on August 29, 1871.

Catherine's obituary in the Spring Green newspaper on November 4, 1915 reads as follows:

White Mound pioneer passes away - Mrs. Katharine Wesley was stricken away with paralysis October 22 and died at the home of her daughter Mrs. Elizabeth Volk at Sauk City last Thursday. Her sons Arnold and Joseph were with their mother that week and at the time of her death. The funeral was held last Sunday and interment in White Mound. Deceased was 78 years, 11 months and age and born at Oldenberg. She came to Wisconsin at an early age and located near White Mound 59 years ago. One daughter Mary Meng who resides in Montana could not be present at the funeral.

One of her great-grandsons, August Derleth grandson of Elizabeth was a prolific and well-known author in Wisconsin. In his books he included a great many stories about the family. In his book "Walden West" he describes her: "a stout, heavy woman who had a firm, square face with unwavering eyes and a mouth as straight as a horizontal line across her face as her nose made a vertical, a face filled with character, the character that comes with tribulations and fortitude in the face of trial and care. She was a kind, patient woman."

The daughter of her son Arnold, Florence Gelhaus Crary had told her granddaughter Sandy Crary that Catharine had wanted to be buried in the cemetery at St. Mary's of Loreto, near Denzer Wisconsin, but could not because according to the church laws at that time, her civil marriage to a non-Catholic had prevented her from burial in a Catholic cemetery. Florence had the impression that Catharine's parents were probably buried in that cemetery. The records in possession of St. Aloysius Catholic Church at Sauk City list the baptisms of the children of Arnold and Catharine Gelhaus as having taken place at the church, St. Mary's of Loreto.

In checking with the persons in possession of the cemetery records, no burials were found for any Hugelbach/Hugobach except for Anna Marie (nee Leikum second wife of Arnold d. Feb. 13, 1870 33y) and son Peter, d Sept 1870). She was the second wife of Catharine's brother Arnold. However there were many graves for whom the stones were gone, either deteriorated as many had been wood or broken, and Lola Huber, the cemetery spokesperson felt there was a good possibility they were buried there. So at the time the books of the Sauk County cemeteries were being prepared, "Cemetery Inscriptions of Sauk County, Wisconsin" Volume 1, p18-19 reads, "the following people may be buried in this cemetery. Information is from old, unreadable, church records, family records, etc." The names of Hugobach, Elizabeth d. between 1860 and 1870, and Joseph d. after 1880 are included.

Catherine died October 18, 1915. On October 20, 1994 with the permission of cemetery authorities and the help of Lawrence and Lola Huber, a stone was set in her memory at Our Lady of Loreto cemetery in part of the unused lot and next to Anna Marie Hugelback and Peter. The following Sunday nine descendants of Catharine gathered to dedicate the stone in this Catholic cemetery, the nine included her great grandson Kenneth Gelhaus, a Methodist minister, the rest of the "ecumenical" group being Catholic and Lutheran. We felt the stone honored her wish to be buried there the best way we knew how.

From Chickasaw County Genealogical Society, New Hampton, IA:

DEATH OF ARNOLD HUGEBACK - March 21 1907

Long-Time Resident and Much Esteemed Citizen of Deerfield Township Passes Away.

Mr. Arnold Hugeback died at his home in Deerfield Township on Thursday, March 14, 1907, aged 83 years.

The closing days of a long and honorable life were like the silent, peaceful moments of twilight when the tired world sits contemplative after its day's toil. Peacefully he yielded up his spirit and was at rest.

Arnold Hugeback was born in Oldenburg, Germany, August 18, 1824. In early manhood he was a brave soldier for his fatherland in the war of 1848, and soon thereafter came to America settling in Pennsylvania among the mines. In 1856 he came west and located in Sauk County, Wis., where he lived on a farm twenty-four years. In 1880 he came to Chickasaw County and bought the farm in Deerfield Township, which continued to be his home till death.

Deceased is survived by his wife and eight children and four step-children: The children are: John, Joseph, and Nicholas Hugeback and Mrs. Katie Gardner of Deerfield Township; Henry Hugeback of New Hampton; Mrs. Mary Hocking of San Francisco; Anton Hugeback of Carroll County, Iowa, and Mrs. Susie Brown of Wabasso, Minnesota. The stepchildren are Fred Franzwa of Carroll, Iowa; Peter Franzwa of St. Paul; Martin Franzwa of Mondova, Wis. and Arnold Franzwa of Alpina, South Dakota.

The funeral was held at St. Mary's church in North Washington on Saturday, March 16, 1907, conducted by Rev. Fr. Probst, and interment was in the cemetery belonging to the church. A large number gathered to pay loving tribute to one whom they had known so many years as a noble Christian gentleman, neighbor and friend.

The 1870 Honey Creek, Saut Co., Wisc. Census shows Arnold as a US Citizen over 21 years of age.

See LDS Microfiche No. 604826, page 19. Indicates Arnold Hugeback and Anna W. (M?) died in Honey Creek.

*Note: Arnold owned 40 acres of farmland in Sauk Co., Wis., (probably in or near Honey Creek), according to the General Land Office Records for Wisconsin. The land office record was dated 1 Jun., 1858.

According to The History of Sauk County Wisconsin; Chicago 1880; Western Historical Company, "A. Hageback" was the chairman of the sixteenth and seventeenth annual town meeting, 5 Apr., 1864 and 4 Apr., 1865 respectively.

Arnold Hugeback is buried in St. Mary's Catholic Cemetery in North Washington. It appears that Arnold moved to Deerfield Township in Chickasaw County, IA sometime after 1880 and before 1898.

"Anton Hugebach, son of Arnold Hugebach and Anna Marie Leikem, was born on October 6 and baptized October 30, 1864. Sponsors were Anton Nehl and Barbara Leikem."

Excerpts from letters from Miss Katherine Franzwa to Gregory M. Franzwa in St. Louis:

"Then his (Fredrick Franzwa's) mother married a neighbor man whose wife had died. He had one boy, so that made 5 boys for dad's mother to care for. Then they had 3 more children--Uncle Tony Hugeback at Roselle, near Carroll, was one of them."

From Susan Hugeback Hurst Feb. 99: Anton appears to me to be quite handsome. He reminds me of my brother, Harv. All the children are dark except for Andrew who was blond, blue-eyed. I, too, have one sister, Vera, who is blond and blue-eyed.

According to the 1880 Census, Anton at the age of 15 was living with the Morris Larkins family consisting of 6 members, in Wisconsin. The Larkins were of Irish descent. Apparently Anton was working at a farm hand or laborer.

Notes for ANNA (OR ANNIE) J. LEUHRS:

Notes from Margaret Hugeback, 20 Jan 99: Anton and Anna were married at Holy angels church in Roselle, Iowa, by the Rev. Fry on January 9, 1889. They are buried in the Holy Angels cemetery in Roselle.

Notes from Sue Marz, Jan 04: I am the great-granddaughter of Anton & Anna Leuhrs Hugeback and the great, great, granddaughter of Arnold & Anna Marie Leikem Franzwa Hugeback. Grandma Anna Leuhrs Hugeback lived with my grandparents Peter & Mayme in Arcadia when I was a child. We lived next door to my grandparents so I spent a considerable amount of time with her. She died when I was ten in 1956. I do have her photo album which contains approximately 40 old photos. None of the people in the photos are identified but most were taken by photographers in Chickasaw county in Iowa. There are a few taken in Mondovi, WI, Minneapolis, MN, Spring Green, WI. and one from San Francisco CA. I also have large photos of the two farms which Grandpa Anton owned near Roselle, Iowa. The pictures are oval and hand painted. In one of the pictures, Anton, Anna and their five youngest children (Joe, Louie, Carrie, Matt and Andrew) are shown standing in front of their home. Anton died August 16, 1933 at Roselle, Iowa & Anna died January 18, 1956 and is also buried at Roselle Iowa. I do have the original family picture that was taken for the Roselle centennial book.

Notes for MARGARET RUIPIPER:

Oral history from Margaret Rupiter Hugeback 27 Jan 99:

I remember Anton Hugeback , not only as a hard-working farmer, but also he was a good businessman. He was the distributor of Alpenkrauter which people bought from him. It was considered a natural remedy for good health. Actually, it was to clean out your system...worked like a laxative. Secondly, Anton was a Bee Keeper. He had hives of bees which he harvested and sold the honey. Mother remembers how he was the only member of the household that the bees would not sting. Anton was devoted to his church, Holy Angels in Roselle. He was on the church board and always donated money as well as labor. She remembers how he would load wagons of coal and take to the church which would be put in the basement furnace in the church. Anna Hugeback, Anton's wife, was always baking the best biscuits, breads, pies,etc. I remember how she always carried all the meals to the dinning room which was separate from the kitchen. They were the only family that I can recall that never ate in the kitchen, always the dining room.

I have enclosed a picture of my mother and her five children. From left: Linda, Susan (me) Romaine, Margaret, Vera, and Inez. One brother, Harv, died of cancer in 1994. Inez, on the far right and the oldest, was born 3 months premature. She was given a million to one chance of surviving. Fortunately, she was placed in a shoe box (2+ pds was considered the lowest of low birth weight in those days) and driven to the hospital from the farm and was the first baby to be placed in the newly acquired incubator in the Carroll Hospital where she remained for three months. Although she suffered some brain damage from lack of oxygen, today she is an avid reader and loves people! As you can see, we were celebrating Christmas. Actually, we were at the airport because my brother was ready to return home.
