

Descendants of Johann Adam Berlin

Generation No. 1

1. Johann Adam¹ Berlin was born 1598 in Niederbronn, North East France, and died 24 Mar 1668/69 in Niederbronn, North East, France. He married Barbara ? Abt. 1650 in Niederbronn, France. She was born Abt. 1630 in Niederbronn, North East France, and died Unknown.

Notes for Johann Adam Berlin:

The Berlin name is represented by the Berlin Family Crest. We are descendants of European ancestors who were called "Berl", the German word for bear.

The Berlin name dates back to at least the 17th century in Alsace-Lorraine. While we have been able to trace our direct lineage to the year 1598, there is reason to believe we are related to earlier members of the Berlin family from that region. They were numerous and lived in close proximity to Niederbronn.

The first mention we have been able to find of the Berlin name is in "The Golden Book of Strasbourg City." The following statement appears: "first named Johannes (John) son of Peter said "Berlin" once burgher (citizen) of the town Strasbourg, and wife Anna noted in the year 1200." Apparently, Johannes Berlin returned to the town of Strasbourg in the year 1200. His parents had at one time been citizens there and had since moved elsewhere.

The next mention of the Berlin name is found in the records of the city council. "First mention by this name in the council of Strasbourg. John Junior Berlin named in the year 1334." A Johannes Berlin is mentioned in 1200. The name Johann Berlin is mentioned again in the year 1356 as a member of what we refer to as the "Guild" or union representing the skilled craftsmen of the era. "Johannes Berlin is a member of the corporation "The Dragoon" in the year 1356. Bernard Mursel Berlin noted in the year 1369.

In 1391 Johann Berhadr Mursel Berlin is again noted in the town documents. In the same year Johann Berlin Junior is mentioned as a member of the council of Strasbourg. In 1397 the following statement appears: "Johann Berlin Burgermeister (Mayor of the city of Strasbourg) nominated this year 1397. Arms: three (3) walking bears, one man on whose clothes the same mention and on the helmet too." This is the one of three (3) coat of arms, of the Berlin family, found in the Alsace-Lorraine area.

Then there is a Hans John Berlin who bought the right of citizenship in the year 1446 and was still living in Strasbourg in the year 1496. And finally, Jerg Berlin, Administrator of the Abbey of Gengenbach before 1500. The same Jerg Berlin died in the year 1507, apparently the last in his family. - Reginald L. Berlin

George was both a farmer and oilmaker. He grew flax for oil and owned a mill for crushing flax seed for oil which was used for lamps. The crushed seeds could be used as a feed for the farm animals and the flax stock was probably sold to the local weavers. He owned one of the two mills in town. Notes for Johann Adam Berlin:

Johann was baptized and amputated on the same day. His mother remained in the pain of labor for three days and suffered greatly, to such an extent that she was so exhausted and unnerved that they began to lose hope that the child birth would take place. That is why they sent to consult Mr. Siebermann, the surgeon at Oberbronn, in order to find out what had to be done in this case; he gave comforting advice, and moreover came in person to try and assist with his own hands.

After some more time had gone by and without any effect having been obtained, the surgeon began to think that the child must have already died and that there may have been a transformation in miscarriage. Only the little arm could be seen and nothing other than a round cupola (dome) could be felt. In this situation, the midwife thought to pull on the little arm that was hanging outside, but she neither succeeded and nor wanted to do it alone. Finally Siebermann used his lancet (surgical instrument) to detach it entirely. Where upon, the little innocent creature, after having this operation, came into the world that very same evening. He was living with one arm amputated and continued to live almost for one whole day.

He was baptized by his grandfather, the former leader of the bar, without any delay because of the danger of death, and received the name Johann Adam.

10. Johann Jacob⁴ Berlin (Johann George³, Johann Jacob², Johann Adam¹) was born 17 Dec 1716 in Niederbronn, France, and died 07 Apr 1790 in Berwick Twp., York Co., PA. He married Anna Margaretha Euler Abt. 1739 in Franklin Twp., Westmoreland Co., PA. She was born Abt. 1720 in East Liberty, Allegheny Co., PA, and died Abt. 1807 in Berwick Twp., York Co., PA.

Notes for Johann Jacob Berlin:

!Immigrated on 9 Nov 1738 to Phildelphia, Arrived on the ship, "Charming Nancy:. Sailing from Rotterdam, Holland with a stopover in Cowes on the Isle of Wright. The English authorities checked all passengers for any Catholics because they were trying to keep undesirable religious groups away from their colonies. (The Berlin Family Vol. 1--Author Reginald L. Berlin)

Early information about Jacob is sketchy. He was a constable in Berwick Twp., York Co., in 1752. He is mentioned as one of the officers of the newly dedicated St. Matthew's Church in Hanover. The name change occurred in 1827. In 1758 he took out a warrant for land in York County, and a patent for the same land in April of 1762. that is also the first year Jacob is found on the tax lists of York County. Jacob's farm was three and a half miles northeast of Hanover. The farm was located in an area known as Popular Spring. The farm varied in size from 225 acres, at its largest, to 190 acres. He owned the farm from 1762 until 1782 when the farm was listed in his son, Nicholas' name.

In the 1798 tax lists Nicholas Berlin's name appears with the following information: a wood house, 30 by 26, one story with five windows, on two acres, valued at four-hundred dollars. Another one story wood house, 30 by 24 with two windows, on two acres, valued at one-hundred and fifty dollars. Also a barn, 80 by 30, made of wood on one hundred and eighty-eight acres, valued at fifteen hundred and four dollars in Berwick Township. I believe we can safely assume that his father resided in one of these houses.

!The birth date on the tombstone is different from the church records at Niederbronn. This is due to the change from the Julian calendar in 1752 to the Gregorian calendar.

!Jacob died of blood poisoning. He left a will in Berwick Twp., York Co., PA

His burial place was in the Lutheran Cemetery, in the old section, across the street from St. John's Lutheran Church.
