Ellen Stella Carroll Lankford spent her entire life taking care of family. She lived in town and on a farm, following her husband.

She later suffered with diabetes and died of colon/liver cancer.

She was a wonderful grandmother who always thought of others. She never had much money, but always managed to find something to share. She enjoyed making clothes for herself and her children and later her grandchildren. She also made quilts using leftover scraps of fabric. Her granddaughter, Tonya, has a quilt that Ellen made for her for her sixteenth birthday. It is something she will always treasure. Ellen had a green thumb, loved working outdoors and knew the names of all trees and plants. She read books to her Grandchildren, the Little House series having been her favorites. She lived a simple life, dying at a very young 68. She has been missed tremendously by her family.
