Marriage Notes for Harold KOEHLER and Mary WILLIAMS:

She first met Harry Koehler at Central High School in Evansville, IN, when Harry and some other Seniors (she was a sophomore) were brought into her homeroom to help class sizes. She said when she saw him that he would be cute if he weren't so little.

Her friend got her to laughing once in class, for which she was sent to a corner to stand. As class was letting out, he came up to her and assured her this teacher wasn't so bad; he had her for French and she really was pretty good, just lost her temper a little. He then introduced her to his girlfriend in the hall. Mary passed the girl's home on her way home, herself, so the two became friends. Mary lived at 3rd and Delaware at the time, Harry lived on the present site of what was later to become the Mead Johnson plant.

When Harry and his girlfriend would go out, Harry would insist that Mary come along. He brought along a date for her.

When Harry's girlfriend told him she wanted to date someone else, he began visiting Mary. Practically every night he came over "for dancing lessons," she said. During the 1937 flood he would catch a boat part of the way, but usually walked the distance between his house and hers. They were really good friends but soon fell in love. Shortly after she graduated, they were married.

2. William Ernest KOEHLER, born 20 Sep 1882 in IN; died 19 Apr 1951 in CA. He was the son of 4. Charles KOEHLER and 5. Katherine KEITZ. He married 3. Carrie Agnes HELMS 11 Nov 1906 in Boonville, Warrick Co., IN.

3. Carrie Agnes HELMS, born 20 Apr 1885 in Warrick Co., IN; died 13 Nov 1940 in Evansville, Vand. Co., IN. She was the daughter of 6. Henry H. HELMS and 7. Lucinda Ann JONES.

Notes for William Ernest KOEHLER:

William had been hurt in an accident on the job site, but during off-hours, so he was not compensated by his employers. He was left slightly disabled, unable to perform his previous job.

In 1913, William's father, Charles, had divorced Katherine, the court having sufficient evidence to grant it to him, to the point where she had to pay his court costs.

She left for California sometime after this and some of the children, if not all followed her out there. William himself joined them at some point after the 1920 Fed. census, which records him at home in Warrick Co., IN. His daughter, Henrietta, was born in 1921. She was the last. In the 1929 Evansville, IN, Directory, his wife, Carrie, is the head of household.

Notes for Carrie Agnes HELMS:

Carrie (HELMS) Koehler was left with four young children early in the 1920's. She moved to Evansville to the site of what later became the grounds of Mead Johnson, later still Bristol-Meyers/Squibb.

She was estranged from her family due to a falling out with her mother, who is said to have been an older version of herself. This came from Lionel "Bud" Koehler, Carrie's oldest son, a young teen when his father left.

Carrie's family is said to have lived in the Yankeetown area of Warrick Co., IN.

Fred and Bud would talk about how cold it was in Minnesota during the harvest time. They traveled with their dad occasionally? during harvest time. William would run the large equipment, may be the harvester. Bud would spend the summer with the HELMS, and Fred would stay with the Koehlers. Harry raised Henrietta he said. He would feed her. During school he would run home to feed her lunch. They were very poor and considered poor WHITE trash by the neighbors. When they moved to Evansville, Harry and Henrietta would go to the Colisium at Christmas to get free toys. He would get a baseball and Henrietta would get a doll.

Bud loved his grandma HELMS, but Carrie hated her. Bud had won a full scholarship and had to turn it down so he could stay home and help his mom.
