- v. HENRY SLAKER, b. 1857; m. HELEN.

Notes for HENRY SLAKER:

.One who has lived 85 years in a community has seen many changes. When Henry Slaker was born Aurora there was population of about 5,000 and when he graduated not much more than twice that. His grandfather was Adam Ochsenchlager, who came to Aurora with his family from Germany about 1846. The grandfather had seven sons, a lot of whom shortened their name to Slaker except Michael, who clung to the old name. Aurora, therefore, has Slaker's and Ochsenchlager's galore, all good citizens no matter how the name is spelled. Like so many of his relatives Henry engaged in the grocery business. He and his brother John for many years had a store on River street, the firm name being Slake Brothers. He afterwards was partner in the firm of Hanna Slaker. Henry was a gay young man in the days of his youth and a member, of the Carlton club, the most exclusive social organization in the city. Fifty years or more, ago, when Aurora went crazy over roller skating, he became one of the promoters of the Island skating rink. It was built about where the Aurora public library now stands.

Mrs. Helen M. Slaker, Henry's wife, is making a reputation as writer of both prose and poet and has just been made an honorary member of the Eugene Fie Memorial society.

Notes for MICHAEL OCHSENSCHLAGER:

The Luxembourg legacy
Luxembourg today

Remnants of immigrants' lives remain in Aurora

The first immigrant from Luxembourg, Phillip Jungels, landed in Aurora with his wife and baby in August, 1850.

So began the migration of several waves of immigrants from the little Western European country nestled among France, Germany and Belgium. And this week, Luxembourgers are in town to honor Dr. Bernard Cigrand, a former Aurora dentist who is credited with being the founder of Flag Day. A bust of Cigrand, donated by the country of Luxembourg, will be unveiled at a ceremony at 1 p.m. Saturday at Blackberry Farm, on Barnes Road off Galena Boulevard, in Aurora. Blackberry Farm already houses a replica of Cigrand's dentist office in their museum.

So what's left of the Luxembourg influence in Aurora?

There are areas on the East/Northeast side of town: Pigeon Hill and Marywood, where immigrants settled.

There is a home at 985 Sheffer Road that is significant as the farm site of an early Luxembourg immigrant: George Jungels. He followed his brother Phillip to Aurora in 1852.

In 1920, the farmhouse was rebuilt and is now an historic landmark.

There are thoroughfares that share the names of early "Luxie" settlers: Hanks Road and Avenue, Molitor Road, Hafenrichter Road, Mettel Road, Reckinger Road and Jungels Avenue.

There are churches started by Luxemburgers: St. Nicholas (dedicated in 1862) and Annunciation (dedicated in 1875).

There is a club: The American Luxemburger Independent Club on High Street.

There are surnames: Daleiden, Felton, Frantzen, Frieders, Hanks, Hettinger, Jungels, Kartheiser, Lenert, Lies, May, Millen, Molitor, Petit, Reckinger, Schuler, Wolsfelt.

There are businesses past and present.

Michael Ochsenchlager made his mark downtown when Ochsenchlager & Abens Grocery opened in 1872 at 16 S. Broadway Ave. The proprietors were "dealers in choice teas, groceries and provisions," according to a yellowed receipt.

Peter Assell, a descendant of Luxembourg immigrants, opened Assell Photo Shop at 41 S. Stolp Avenue in 1932 as a photography studio. The first Assell to settle in Aurora was shoemaker Bernard Assell, who was among the second wave of immigrants around 1870.

The shop is no longer owned by an Assell or a descendant, but 70 years later, owners Donald and Althea "Sue" Stephens have kept the store's name as a legacy to its founder.

Assell died a bachelor, and the business was purchased from his estate by a nephew, Jerome Reuland, in 1949. The Stephenses purchased the store in 1983.

"We kept the name for nostalgic purposes and to retain the reputation Pete Assell had," Donald Stephens said. Stepping into the store is like jumping back in time, so it seems fitting that the bulk of Stephens' business is now photo restoration and black and white processing.

History on High Street

Luxemburger Hall, built at 416 High Street in 1917, originally was a benefit society that, among other things, provided burial insurance for members, according to Dennis Buck, curator of the Aurora Historical Society. "Part of the dues were collected so that if anything happened to you, you wouldn't end up in the Potter's Field. Many of the Luxembourg immigrants were scraping along as farmers and wouldn't have been able to afford a funeral."

The society now functions solely as a social club and has about 400 members, mostly of Luxemburger descent.

The wedding dresses of two prominent Luxembourg immigrants, Margaret Olinger Hanks, married in 1893 at St. Nicholas Church, and her daughter, Elizabeth Hanks Weiland, married in 1917 at St. Mary's Church, were displayed in a 1995 bridal gown exhibit at the Aurora Historical Society Museum on Downer Place. The dresses now are being stored by the Society.

The Historical Society has a number of remnants of Luxembourg history, including a list of inventory of all the real and personal estate of Phillip Jungels, who died in 1883. The listing includes two lumber wagons valued at $15 each, three horses valued at $40 each and two washtubs valued at 50 cents each.

A copy of a German-language newspaper, the Aurora Volksfreund, dated December 1872, also is available for perusal at the Historical Society.

Some of the best places to get a feeling for Luxembourg influence in Aurora may be in Marywood Cemetery, adjacent to Annunciation Church at 1820 Church Road, or St. Nicholas Cemetery, at Ohio and Fenton streets.

Gravestones engraved with first names like Nickolas, Johann, Susanna and Katharina and last names like those that appear over and over in Aurora telephone books: Frieders, Hanks, Hettinger Jungels, Kartheiser and May, pepper Marywood Cemetery. Stones that say "Mutter" and "Vader" lie beside massive markers with family names and other German sayings. Some are more than 150 years old.

At St. Nicholas, names like Frieders, Linden, Heinz, Komes, Millen and Kartheiser abound.

Msgr. M.A. Schumacher, a long-time pastor at St. Nicholas Church at 308 High St. (1923 to 1966), is buried at the head of the cemetery, said Anita Billen, a 66-year member of St. Nicholas.

Billen, who helps people research their genealogy, said there also are many Luxembourg immigrants and descendants buried in St. Joseph Church (completed in 1899), at 722 High St.

Luxembourg, founded in 963, is located in Western Europe between France and Germany. It is slightly smaller than Rhode Island.

The estimated population was 442,972 in July 2001, and the ethnic makeup is a Celtic base (with French and German blend), Portuguese, Italian and Slavs from Montenegro, Albania and Kosovo.

The greatest preponderance of the population is Roman Catholic with a very few Protestants, Jews and Muslims.

The country's national language is Luxembourgish. Other languages include German and French.

The government is a constitutional monarchy and the legal system is based on civil law. It gained independence from the Netherlands in 1839.

Services, especially banking, account for a substantial portion of the economy. Agriculture is based on small family-owned farms.

There are two airports; one with a paved runway, and one with an unpaved runway. Facts about Luxembourg were obtained from CIA - The World Factbook - at www.cia.gov/cia/publications/factbook/geos/lu.html. 06/14/02

Germany, and died Feb 06, 1916.

Notes for MAGDALENA WEICK:

From a Book of Biographies in German-Toledo Public Library-January, 1998 and translated by Marie Hoetzel

The popular landlord and hotel manager of the Eastside, Mr. Michael Kopf was born on March 16, 1845 in Odersheim in cheerful Pfalz. While still in boyhood, in the year 1858, he came to America with his parents. Together, the family moved to a small farm in Wapakoneta, Auglaize County, OH. The family left and the boy received strong support of his father while he remained there to be schooled in milling. He came to Toledo in 1865, where he was employed in the mill of Mr. August Pilliod, father of the well-known attorney and owner of the Toledo Brewing Co., employed was.

As the Civil War broke out, Kopf joined as a combatant and was incorporated in Company C of the 37th OH Voluntary Regiment. On November 1, 1861 he was injured while on reconizance tour and was hospitalized until March, 1862 in Montgomery, WV. After his recovery, he once more joined up with his regiment but before the battle, he was captured and held for 24 days. On August 13, 1862, he received his honorable discharge in Columbus, OH.

In 1869, Mr. Kopf said a final farewell to his first profession and left for a job as an employee in the service of Uncle Sam where he worked for three years, until January 1, 1869, as a "Distribution Clerk" in the post office administration. Then we find him next as a traveling salesperson for the former cigarette factory of John G. Holzworth. After 3 years there, he met up with his brother-in-law, Fred Saude, owner of a spice and butcher shop on Summit Street. However, Kopf did not find success here and after 3 years, under large financial loss, the company disintegrated and the shop was sold. He didn't lose hope though and returned to traveling sales in the employment of his earlier employer, Mr. Holzworth. After one year, he left to work for the Lake Shore and MI South Railroad Co. in LeMoyne, Wood County, OH. There he opened, for the first time, an inn and, at the same time, managed trade with Eifenbahn-Schwellen and sold Eifenbahn-Linien.

The year 1890 saw him back in Toledo where he established for the first time near Rolling Mills, an Inn. At present he owns the well-known "Kopf Hotel", at First and Oak Streets, where he is a gracious host.

In 1873, Mr. Kopf married Ms. Lena Weit (eick) born in Perrysburg and daughter of an old distinguished Pioneer family. They had 5 children, 4 sons and a daughter.

Mr. Kopf is a member of the Maumee Valley Lodge No. 515 of the Odd Fellows, the William Tell Lodge No. 105, K. of P. Lessing Lodge No. 18, F. & A. M. He is also Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, Ford Post 14, Dep. of OH.

Even though Mr. Kopf came to this country as a boy, he speaks English as fluently as German, his mother-language, and is always proud of his German heritage.

Jen and Steve had a boy about an hour ago. Jen's water broke at work yesterday and she took the scheduled to arrive 3:30 train home. Those of you in the Chicago area probably heard on the news that that train collided with an out going train as the Chicago train was pulling into the station. Jen was standing in preparation to disembark and was thrown to the floor but fortunately sustained only minor injuries. She eventually was able to leave the train where Steve was waiting to take her to the hospital. They have named the baby William James and will be called Will. Julie
