The following information is from the book "Christchurch Parish Register, Middlesex County, Virginia, 1853 -- 1812" by John Otto Yurechko. P. 107 Daniel Stringer, born Oct. 13, 1740, to Daniel and Hannah Stringer; p. 109 Elizabeth and Sarah, born July 5, 1742, to Daniel and Hannah Stringer; p. 112 Lucy, born Feb. 8, 1744, to Daniel and Hannah Stringer; p. 114 Hannah, born Jan. 20, 1746, to Daniel and Hannah Stringer; p. 233, William, born Sept. 20, 1750, to Daniel and Hannah Stringer; p. 188, birth of slaves: Peter, son of Jenny, a slave belonging to Daniel Stringer, born Nov. 7, 1740; a daughter, born to Daphne, a slave belonging to Daniel Stringer, born May 23, 1752. On May 7, 1738, Daniel and Hannah sold their land in Elizabeth City County to John Allen. (ECC Wills and Deeds.) From "Historic Homes of Middlesex County, Virginia" book: On page 125, Ellaslee, the home near church view . . . . In 1753, John Segar, Jr., sold to Daniel Stringer his "Message, Plantation, Tract" of 70 acres, which adjoined additional property owned by Stringer. A Message is defined as a house whose occupant controlled the use of the land and buildings pertaining to it, and it is assumed that Daniel Stringer bought the home of John Segar, Jr. In 1790, Daniel Stringer left to his son Daniel the Plantation where Stringer, Sr. lived and his brandy still, and that was the same year Daniel, Jr. and Mary Stringer conveyed the 196 acre estate to John Jesse of King and Queen County who had married Elizabeth Street in 1787."

"According to researcher Dorothy Stringer Roberts, Daniel moved from North Carolina to South Carolina, then to northern Georgia and finally to Missouri. The following information was abstracted from the publication "Southern Kith and Kin." It is presumed that this Daniel moved to Georgia, as there are no records of him in Edgecombe County, North Carolina after 1790. From the official records, it is thought that he was a member of the Regulators. In 1773, he purchased 198 acres south of Tyancokey Swamp from David Bunn, Sr. In 1781, when the British passed through the area, he was involved with the authorities, probably because of his involvement with the Regulators. He received a pardon from Gov. Thomas Burke, having joined the command of Col. Henry Hart. In October 1782, governor Alexander Martin granted Daniel 242 acres north of Town Creek and south of Tyancokey Swamp; Daniel and Ann later sold this property to Abner Roberson. (Witnessed by Katy Stringer, probably his mother, Katherine.) In 1785, Daniel and Nancy Stringer sold the original 198 acres to Abner Roberson."

"Charles Stringer listed on the 1790 census, p. 56, had one white male over 16 (self), 6 w/m under 16, and 5 free white females.... Charles was awarded land in the 1805 Georgia land lottery in what became Laurens County, and was on the first grand jury of the first court in that County. By 1818, he had sold all his land in Laurens County in preparation of his family's move to Lawrence County, Mississippi. While other researchers believe that Charles died in Georgia before he could make the move to Mississippi, there is the Charles Stringer listed in Lawrence County, Mississippi in the 1818 tax rolls (while he paid a tax of $0.67, he is not shown to own any land, but one slave) and again in 1823 Charles is mentioned. My source for much of the information on his family, Dorothy Stringer Roberts, believes that Charles made the move and died in Mississippi in his 70s; I agree with her conclusion. (Taken from the Internet. I don't know who wrote it.)"

"John served in the Revolutionary War along with his brothers Noah and Josiah. According to the publication "Southern Kith and Kin," John Stringer enlisted June 3, 1777, as a musician in Capt. William Shepherd's company, 10th North Carolina Militia Regiment, and was promoted in June 1778. In September 1778, John Stringer was in Major Hardy Murphree's company, Col. John Patton's Second North Carolina Battalion, at White Plains. He received a $100 Bounty on July 31, 1780. On Feb. 8, 1782, he enlisted for one year as a corporal in Capt. James Mill's company, North Carolina 10th Regiment, but appears to have been serving as a private in December. He was granted 640 acres for 84 months of service. (It must be remembered that there were several John Stringers in each generation, and certainly more than one served in the Revolution.) About 1800, he moved with some of his children to Robertson County, Tennessee. As an old man, in 1820, John went to Muhlenberg County, Kentucky, and joined at least two of his sons there. The 1790 census shows John with four males over 16, 2 under 16, and three free white females. We know the males, but can't identify the two female children."

Wit: Gd. Killebrew, Emanuel (X) Laller. In Edgecombe County, North Carolina, Josiah bought and sold property along Town Creek and Ruffin's Branch from 1782 until 1799, when he sold what appears to have been the last of his property in North Carolina, and about that time he and others of his family removed to Georgia. Josiah is listed as married, living in Burke County, Georgia in 1805. Also in Burke County that year: Alexander, Celia (widow with children), Charles, James, John (single), Simon and Smith (both listed as unmarried). The book "Laurens County, Georgia legal records 1807 -- 1832" by Alan Thomas, lists considerable activity by Josiah Stringer from 1806 to 1815. Josiah is listed as resident of Wilkinson County initially, buying property; then Laurens County later, selling. Other Stringers mentioned: Jacob, Simon, John, Charles, and Noah Stringer, who is mentioned as "justice of inferior court". Josiah appears on the 1818 tax records for Lawrence County, Mississippi, with 320 acres on White Sand Creek, with others of his family. The 1820 census for Lawrence County shows Josiah with 1 male under 10 (Josiah Franklin); 1 male 10 -- 18 (William); 1 male 18 -- 26 (Levi). Females: 1 under 10 (Deborah), 3 10 -- 16 (Alba, Nancy, Sarah]. This census also indicates the presence of 2 female slaves, age 14 -- 25. Notes for LUCRETIA ?:

From "Stokes Family Tree" web site at <http://awt.ancestry.com/cgi-bin/igm.cgi?op=GET&db=:2998492&id=I543>:

"The 1860s census for Lawrence County, Mississippi, shows Lucretia in Monticello Township, and the household of A. J. [Andrew Jackson] Burkett; he was the brother of two of Lucretia's daughters-in-law (Mary, who married Levi, and Sarah Ann, who married Josiah Franklin). Since it has not yet been established as to when and where Lucretia and Josiah were married, Levi was either her son or her stepson. Other researchers have indicated that Lucretia was the natural mother of Solomon and Eliza Hargrove, for whom Josiah was appointed guardian in 1822. Solomon and Eliza were the children of Howel (Howell) Hargrove; if Lucretia was his widow, she certainly could not have been the natural mother of Sarah Stringer, who married Solomon Hargrove. The first two or three children listed for Lucretia may well have been the children of Selah Davis, Josiah's first wife. It is not known for certain when and where Lucretia and Josiah were married. Best guess would be about 1798-99 in Edgecombe County, NC. It could have been in Georgia. Recent data indicates a belief that Lucretia married Josiah after the birth of Sarah, and that Lucretia was the widow of a Hargrove, and the natural mother of Solomon, who married Sarah. Lucretia could not be a natural mother of both Sarah and Solomon, if those two were married."

Stringer, he stated that his father, Smith Stringer, was killed by highway robbers in the Chatahoochee Swamp while on the way to Texas. This was noted that is about 1842. This is unlikely, as Smith was an heir in his father's will, probate and in 1856. There was considerable litigation concerning Daniel's will, with Smith's wife Sarah apparently suing Smith and Daniel Emory. There may have been a separation between Sara and Smith. Smith may have fled Georgia for Texas, with some other Stringers, including Daniel T., his son. There may have been some trouble in Metcalf, Georgia, involving the killing of a Negro. Daniel T. Stringer did settle in Texas; it is not known if Smith was with him."

Marriage Notes for MATTHEW PRITCHETT and REBECCA WRIGHT:

Matt and Becky met in July 1994, shortly after Becky moved from Walnut Creek, California, to Montgomery. Soon after she moved to Montgomery, Becky went to her high school reunion in Jackson, Alabama. At the reunion, she ran into a classmate, Tommy Walker, who had married another girl from Jackson named Sherrie Syphrit, and who lived in Montgomery, too. Sherrie and Becky became friends at the reunion. Following the reunion, Sherrie informed Becky that she wanted to "fix her up" on a date. Becky told her that she was not really interested until she was settled in her apartment and had gotten to know Montgomery a little better. Sherrie asked what Becky's "type" was, and Becky responded that she didn't really know, since she hadn't found the right person yet. Despite Becky's protests, Sherrie decided that she knew what was best. Sherrie asked Becky to come over to her house and show her how to make seafood gumbo, which Becky agreed to do. Since a pot of gumbo would feed a number of people, Sherrie also decided to invite a few people from work over to eat. When people began to arrive, Becky realized that the "few people" consisted of two other married couples and about a dozen single men. Sherrie had specifically asked a co-worker, Jimmy Lyon, to bring his best friend, whom Sherrie had met only twice before. Jimmy brought his friend Matt, and Becky was immediately smitten. After everyone else left, Becky said to Sherrie, "Do you remember asking me what my 'type' was? Matt is my type." Sherrie smiled and responded, "I know. Why do you think he was here??" Becky and Matt went on their first date a few weeks later, became engaged about a year after that, and were finally married.

Bridesmaids were Sally Wright Williams (matron of honor and sister of the bride), Laura Pritchett Gafford (sister of the groom), Julie Wright (cousin of the bride), Sherrie Syphrit Walker (see above) and Loretta Lamar (friend of the bride from law school). Groomsmen were Stringer Aubrey Pritchett (best man and father of the groom), Stringer Aubrey Pritchett, Jr. (brother of the groom), Jimmy Lyons (see above), Chris Coleman (friend of the groom) and Steve Thompson (friend of the groom).

Honeymoon was spent in New Orleans at the French Quarter Inn. Best meals were eaten at Commander's Palace (especially enjoyed the bread pudding souffle) and brunch at The Court of Two Sisters on Sunday.
