Fact 1: 1928, Prison Cememtery near Reidsville, GA<sup>5</sup>

Notes for JAMES HENRY PADGETT:
From many accounts, James Padgett was a hard and mean man. When his daughter Maggie was 3 years old, he traded her for his wife's sister Minnie Faircloth. This was done so his father-in-law would not put him in (or would get him out?) of jail. Before his first wife Maggie became sick, Minnie was supposedly pregnant with James's triplets. Not long after, Maggie became sick. Maggie was believed to have been poisoned by arsenic or strychnine. She was known to tell family members that "they were killing her". James went on to have 5 children with Minnie.
Died from tuberculosis.
