Generation No. 1

1. Silvy<sup>1</sup> was born 1804 in South Carolina, and died in Georgia. She married Wornum. He was born in South Carolina.

Notes for Silvy:

July, 2001: The information on Silvy was found in the 1880 Census report of Crawford County, Georgia. Silvy was the mother of Ben Wornum. Until this time our descendant research was confined to Ben Wornum. We know that Silvy was born into slavery in North Carolina, 1804. We also know from the census report that Ben's father was born in South Carolina. At the time of this census report, Silvy was living with Ben and she was 76 years old.

Did Silvy have any other children? Who was Ben's father? Was he able to live a free life or did he die knowing nothing but the harshness of slavery?

Notes for Roosevelt Woumm:

What's in a name?

How did Roosevelt, the eleventh child of Albert, the first child of Ben & Rose Wornum end up with his name spelled Woumm. The following information is provided to us by Walter Woumm, the third child of Roosevelt.

Prior to 1953, I (Walter) always spelled my name "Wornum". When social security came into effect in the late 20's or 30's, a route mail carrier by the name of Tom Cason delivered a social security application to our house. My father, being semi-illiterate, let Mr. Cason fill out his social security application and he filled it out incorrectly and mailed it.

When daddy received his social security card, he never looked at it. He didn't notice the misspelled name. He continued to spell his name the original way and each of his four children received their social security card and copied our name from our daddy's. At no time did anyone look at the spelling.

Later, when I moved to Atlanta, I filled out a job application at a refrigeration company. I wrote down my S.S. number and never looked at the name.

In 1953, when being interviewed by Georgia Power Company, they discovered the the name was misspelled. They hired me, but told me I would have to be paid out of petty cash until I got the name straightened out. I was also advised that the discrepancy in spelling could keep me from getting retirement benefits should I continue employment there. I went to Thompson and told my parents. We wrote to Baltimore and found that the name was spelled "Woumm". Not aware of how important correct spelling of the name was to follow family history, we chose to allow the incorrect spelling to remain. And that's the reason why I spell my name the way it is today!

Children of Roosevelt Woumm and Elizabeth Hollis are:

- + 120 i. Willie L.<sup>5</sup> Woumm.
- + 121 ii. Eddie Woumm.

Allen, Jr. in Boston, Ma, son of Luther Allen and Elsie Battle. He was born 17 Aug 1931 in Atlanta, Georgia, and died 26 Jun 2006 in Marietta, Georgia.

Notes for Luther E. Allen, Jr.:

On October 6, 1948 I joined the National Guard, you would call this the United States Reserves. I did not join for reasons of patriotism, I was eighteen years of age and they paid thirty dollars every three months for one night, two hours of drill a week and over a hundred dollars for two weeks of military camp every summer. The camp was Camp Edwards, Falmouth, Massachusetts.

During my "Guard" time, the Korean Conflict was underway and my unit, the 272nd Field Artillery unit was called to active duty on September 18, 1950 and sent to Camp McCoy, Sparta, Wisconsin. Camp McCoy...this was a story in itself...

SEGREGATION - USA, CAMP McCOY, SPARTA, WISCONSIN

In 1950 the military service, like most of America, was still segregated and Camp McCoy which was an army camp housed three branches of army divisions, I could be wrong here (testing my memory), Field Artillery (us), Engineers and infantry...the camp was divided into those units and they were housed with each other. I do not know how the other two black units were housed before we got there, but after we arrived, the three of us were housed into one corner of the camp. We were afforded one theater and one PX (camp store). We were not allowed to use any of the other conveniences of the camp.

We were designated a "Cadre" (training) outfit and draftees were assigned to our outfit and given training, after which they were sent to Korea. I lost a few friends in Korea. In fact, I thought I was tough and volunteered to join the rangers in Korea. Because I was on the boxing team and my commanding officer, William Cooke, was a boxing fan, he denied my application and kept me with the unit. I later learned that all of those from my unit going to Korea were killed there.

SEGREGATION - GERMANY HART CONCERN, SCWABISH (sp?) GMUND GERMANY

In November 1951 we were designated to go to Germany. We went by ship and it took ELEVEN days to get there. The second day at sea, I got seasick and volunteered for KP duty, this kept me busy and i was not sick the rest of the way. We went through the English Channel and had a beautiful view of the White Cliffs of Dover. We landed at Bremmenhaven, Germany and took a troop train to Scwabish Gmund, Germany, where we were stationed at the Hart Concern. The Hart Concern was located in Scwabish (sp?) Gmund Germany about fifty kilometers from Stuttgart, Germany. It was situated on the top of a hill and we had to hitch hike rides into town. The town was small and frequented by American white troops. The bars were cozy and small and everyone could hear conversations from other tables.

After our arrival and use of the town, we were thrown into close contact with some of the most racist Americans you would want to meet. They had been there and did not know we had troops could understand the German language. We would hear them laughing and talking to the German females, in Germain, about us having tails, eating bananas, etc.,etc., so we would fight. We turned out many bars, ran back up the hill and quickly jumped in bed while MP's would come and search the barracks with their flashlights. After about three months, the white troops gave us the town and went elsewhere, end of fights!

I spent a little over six months in Germany before mustering out, but my experience in Germany was a lot of fun. I was on the boxing team and spent time on "TDY" (temporary duty). I lived in hotels away from the unit, Munich. I had, in my entire National Guard and active military duty, eighteen fights, won them all and was co-welterweight champion of Germany in 1950. I was co-champ because we had the other undefeated welterweight in my Battery. We were friends and did not want to fight each other.

Late 1951 all of our officers were black. The battalion commanding officer was a Lieutenant Colonel. In late 1951 early 1952, the army began integration and sent in white troops, including officers. Our commanding officers were reassigned to other outfits and our senior officers were replaced by white officers, many of whom were not agreeable to integration. My commanding officer was from Missouri and I'd describe him as a racist.

Field Artillery units (us) are divided into five divisions, called "Battery", Headquarters, Service and Batterys A, B, C. I was in Battery B. Each Battery had 100 men, when they integrated they brought in 94 white personnel and left each battery with 6 blacks (I'm not sure of the actual number of each battery, but we were left with 6 and I know Battery C also had 6). The force of integration left many of us who would have made the military a career disenchanted, therefore, when time came for me to re-enlist, I chose to muster out. I was discharged May 23, 1952.
