Echyngam Ancient Family

Generation No. 1

1. REIMBERT<sup>1</sup>

Notes for REIMBERT:

History of Sussex gives the information that Reimbert "the Sheriff" owned extensive possessions including Salehurst, Mountfield, Ninfield, Udimore, Whatlington, Cortesley and other estates and was the founder of the influential house of Echyngam or Etchingam or Echyngham. this information was found in a deed dated about 1100 which also refers to Reimbert's two nephews, Richard.

It is possible that this family came over to England as liege men of Robert, Earl of Eu, in Normandy, one of the principal counselors of William the conqueror, according to Spencer Hall - "Echyngam of Echyngam" pub 1850. The name is not found among the alliances of the nobility of France. The Earls of Ewe held great possessions in England, but after the conquest of Normandy by the French, these were estreated. In consequence of the sequestration of lands belonging to Englishmen by Philip, King of France, Henry III seized the castles of Hastings and Tykehull and other lands held by the Earls of Ewe as "Terra Normanorum" (Norman Territory) and finally by the adherence of William de Yssonden, the 7th baron, to the French, the barony was declared forfeited. The family of Echyngam was also connected with the family of Aquila. Gilbert de Aquila, the fourth in succession from the conquest, is said to have forfeited all his lands for going into Normandy without the King's license. While the families of Ewe and Quila possessed power, that of Echyngam was advanced. Called the father of the Echyngam family and probably came in 1066 with the Count of Eu and was his leigeman.

Child of REIMBERT is:

2. i. DRU<sup>2</sup>.

Notes for DRU:

Dru of Pevensky was the son of Reimbert (drago) who is called the father of the Echyngam family. He no doubt came with the Count of Eu as a leigeman and continued to serve him via several generations. He probably got the name Echyngam as he lived in the area of Echyngam and was distinguished as of Echyngam. They adopted this as their name.

Child of DRU is:

3. i. SIMON<sup>3</sup> ECHYNGHAM, d. Bef. 1166.

Generation No. 3

3. SIMON<sup>3</sup> ECHYNGHAM (DRU<sup>2</sup>, REIMBERT<sup>1</sup>)<sup>1</sup> died Bef. 1166.

Notes for SIMON ECHYNGHAM:

Simon is named in a deed dated 1100 as simon, son of Dru which Dru was the heir of Reimbert, as he is styled in a 1100 deed. was living in 1150

Child of SIMON ECHYNGHAM is:

4. i. WILLIAM<sup>4</sup> ECHYNGHAM, d. Abt. 1211.

Generation No. 4

Notes for WILLIAM ECHYNGHAM:

William gave his son Simon land of Beddingham abt 1183 and this might be on the event of the marriage of Simon. This land stayed in the Echyngham family for over 200 years

The descent of the land in Padury is given as this.

1. Drago of Pevensey died between 1130
2. Simon fitz Drogo (de Echyngham) died by 1165
3. William de Echyngham 1166, alive--dead by 1211 probably wife Ala of Padbury ,Bucks
4. Simon de Echingham died bef 1242
5. William de Echingham dsp1253
6. Simon de Echingham

In Hilary Term 15 John 1214 is a court case in Bucks, concerning William Echyngham and wife Emma. They owned a well known mill in the area. This is no doubt the one at Padbury.

Later in the Echyngham family James Echyngham is still involved with land in Bucks and the Wolverton family. There is a William that gave his son Simon Beddingham land in 1183 probably as a marriage settlement.

Notes for ALA:

Land in Padbury, Buckinghamshire was given as part of wedding dowry. This land is found still in the family at the time of James Echyngham in 1346 and James holding 1/2 a fee in Padbury with John son of John de Wolverton holding the overlordship(Feudal Aids v 1 p 125) .

Ala was given in marriage to William de Echyngham with a moiety of the manor of Padbury and she later gave her moiety to the advowson of the church to Bradwell Priory. Ref: G R Elvey "Luffield Priory Charters" part II publish by the Buckinghamshire and Northamptonshir records societies 1975 p xlii

The descent of the Wolvertons is found in VCR Northants v 5 page 422 in the discussion on wick Hamon

If the mill in Padbury it was probably part of the marriage portion of Ala (Emma or Alice???) daughter of Hamo (d 1185) son of Meinfelin and Amable, Daughter of William Mauduit II, the ancestors of the Wolverton family.

Ala's brother, Hamo was aged 20 when his father died and in the king's wardship. He is described in the Rotuli Dominabus (p 39) as being of the progeny of the earl of Warenne through his father and grandson of William Mauduit, through his mother.

Feet of Fines Buckinghamshire Westminster, morrow of St. Martin (12 Nov. 1201) A l a de Echingham pet. and Ric. prior of Bradewell' deforc; adwoson of a moiety of the church of Padebir'; A. quitclaimed for the souls of herself and all her forerunners to God and the church of S. Mary of Bradewell and the prior and his successors and the monks there serving God all her claim from her and her heirs for ever; further A. gave for the soul of herself and all her forerunners all her part of the land which she had in the heath de Estle to God etc. in perpetual alms, the prior to do foreign service; prior and convent received A. etc.

Child of WILLIAM ECHYNGHAM and ALA is:

5. i. SIMON<sup>5</sup> ECHYNGHAM, b. 1185; d. Abt. 1244, England.

Generation No. 5

5. SIMON<sup>5</sup> ECHYNGHAM (WILLIAM<sup>4</sup>, SIMON<sup>3</sup>, DRU<sup>2</sup>, REIMBERT<sup>1</sup>)<sup>2</sup> was born 1185, and died Abt. 1244 in England.

He married ALICE FITZ REINFRID<sup>3</sup> Bef. 1216 in Sussex, England, daughter of JOCELYN FITZ REINFRID.

Notes for SIMON ECHYNGHAM:

Simon was a witness to a charter of Raoul de Lusignan,, Earl of Ewe, who died in 1217, enlarging and confirming the gifts of Alice, his widow, to the Abbey of Robertsbridge. Simon was sheriff in 1235 of Sussex Simon had a court case with William Marshall, Earl of Pembroke over the marriage of his daughter Sibelle with Wm St. Leger. Pembroke accused him of marrying his daughter to Wm St. Leger for the lands of St. Leger.

Curis Regis Rolls 1225-1226 Sussex

William Marshal, earl of Pembroke, petitions through his attorney that Simon of Etchingham should restore to him the custody of the land and heir of Geoffrey de St. Leger, whose custody pertains to him, because Geoffrey held from him for military service, he says.

And Simon comes and says that he should not have to answer this writ, because he does not have any of Geoffrey's land; and since the write says that he should restore custody of the land to (Geoffrey) and he holds nothing not ever did hold anything, he seeks (the court's) judgment to whether he should answer this writ. And, saving this (judgment), he says that he never absconded with that heir, for countess Alice of Eu, from whom (Geoffrey's) heir holds seven knights' fees, had custody of that heir on account of those fees; and she married him (i.e. gave him in marriage) so that he already has children by his wife. And hence he refuses to answer this writ, unless the court considers he should.

And the earl says through his attorney that Simon wickedly absconded with that heir, so that he married the daughter of Simon who had him in Custody; and he offers to prove this against him.

And Simon denies absconding with the heir But in truth the heir married (Simon's) daughter through the countess and at some time (the heir) came top (Simon's) house on account of his daughter, and not by any other means. Etc

The book "Les Histories de St. Leger" by Bernard St. Leger in 1986 is in French and I got it from the interlibrary loan and when I translated it seems to say that Alice, Countess of Eu married as her second husband Simon de Echyngham. Evidently when the French translated the Latin to French they didn't get the phrase ( gave him in marriage and mistook this).

I had this looked up and translated by the University of Sheffield, England who has the books. They gave me the above translation and said this:

" I admit the Latin is ambiguous, but the text does not make sense if Simon and Alice are husband and wife since Simon denies having any say in Geoffrey's marriage. Moreover, no 2469(Easter 1226 )shows Simon and Alice in court against each other , yet there is no suggestion that they were married. Alice appears in many cases but always on her own account, whereas a married woman would normally have to acknowledge her husband's authority.

You may be interested to know that in 1219, when Alice(Countess) recovered her confiscated lands in France from Philip Augustus after her husband's; death; the king of France forbade her to marry again without his permission. I suspect that he would have been unlikely to allow her to marry and English Sheriff.(Echyngham"

In the St. Leger book the name of Sybil is given and the marriage of William St. Leger to Sybil de Echyngham.

I wonder if Hall in Echyngham of Echyngham picked this Alice, Countess of Eu, name and just decided to give this Alice de Reinfried as wife to Simon.

The St. Leger book has 3 children for Simon, Wm, Simon and Sybil and follows them. In fact the Echyngham arms-seal were given to them by the St. Leger family they married into.

Margery St. Leger married Robert Echyngham and Simon and William St. Leger called him Brother i n Law

Knights of Edward I list Sr Simon age 35 Brother , heir of Wm who died 25 Mar 1253. Summoned as a knight

Notes for ALICE FITZ REINFRID:

there was a widow of Simon Echyngham called Ala against whom a writ of attachment was issued respecting certain sea walls between Seaford and Lewes in the reign of King John (Abbrexuatui Okacutiryn page 69)

Only Stuart Hall in his book Echyngham of Echyngham has listed Alice Fitz Reinfreid as wife of Simon Echyngham. I am not sure this is correct. More research needs to be done as no where can I find proof of this and he gave no proof in his book

I do find that Roger Reinfreid who had a son Gilbert Fitzreinfrid was sheriff of Sussex in 1176 and also associated with the Arundel family and it could be that while in Sussex he family of Echyngham and Reinfreid had a marriage. This might be proof by association of events, but at least we know the Reinfreid were in the area at one time.

Children of SIMON ECHYNGHAM and ALICE REINFRID are:

- i. WILLIAM<sup>6</sup> ECHYNGHAM, b. Abt. 1216, Sussex England; d. 25 Mar 1253; m. MARGARET DE MONTAGU, 1246; b. Chiselborough, Somerset, England; d. Aft. 1257.

Notes for WILLIAM ECHYNGHAM:

William is called son of Simon in the records. No children of this marriage He had at death.. chorleberg manor, Surrey, Echyngham and Odmere manors, Sussex. Inquest Post Mortem 1253. MS Harl. 4120.

Knights of Edward I William is listed and mentions of his land near Rye 15 May 1247(Cart. R)a His Inq 25 March 1253. He held moiety of Chiselberge Manor, Somerset in right of wife Margery, and also Echingham and udimore Manors, Sussex and lands in Hastings and left brother heir Simon age 35 At Inq. Qualified for Knighthood

In the book The Sinclairs of England page 293 it states that Margery Montagaue, married William one of the lords of Echingham.,the knighly family of sussex. In the ancient church of Etchingham the Sinclair arms of the later Aldham (Audham) family is quartered with theirs, than which there could not be any beter proof of, at least affinity.

Notes for MARGARET DE MONTAGU:

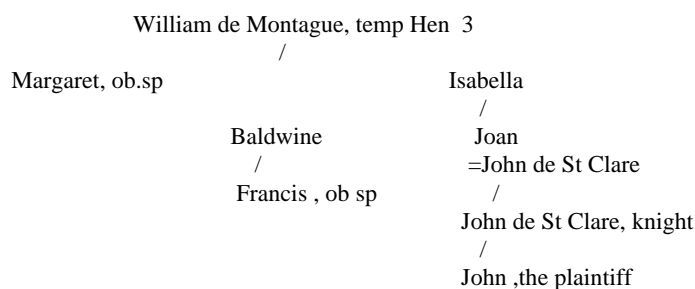

Margaret de Montagu or Montacute and William Echyngham did not have any children. John St. Clair claimed the manor given to them called Jenyngeton which the father of Margaret had given her on her frank marriage to Wm. Echyngham. source Plea rolls Easter 28 Ed III (1355) John St. Clare gave his lineage as proof in the Genealogist Vol X 1894 page 215-216. He comes via the sister of Margaret- Isabella Montagu. Isabella probably married a D"Aldham.

 Preston Manor in northumberland is property of Margaret that she brought to marriage.

 Sussex: John de St Clare sued the Abbot of Grestone for a moiety of the manor of Jenyngeton, which William de Montagu had give to William , son of Symon de Echyngham in frank marriage with Margarete his daughter, and which should revert to him as heir of William de Montagu, William and Margaret having left no Issue.

From the book The Sinclairs of England page 291-296 discussion of the family of Montagu, ST Clare(Sinclair) Audham Echyngham. shows relationship. Thomas Audham who married Isabel Montague sister of Margaret Montague Echyngham held part of the property of the Montacutes(Montague) in someresetdshire , the manor of chiselberg in particular, explains their appearances in histories and records of that county. The original home of the Moantagus, their name being local to the district, the "sharp hill" from the situation of their home castle.

- 6. ii. SIMON ECHYNGHAM, b. Abt. 1218, Echyngham, Sussex, England; d. Abt. 1268.
- 7. iii. SIBELLE ECHYNGHAM, b. 1220, Sussex, England.

Generation No. 6

Notes for SIMON ECHYNGHAM:

Simon is the heir of his brother William who dies young and without heirs. Simon is listed as brother of Wm and son of Simon in the records. Simon is listed as age 35 when his brother died in 1253 so born about 1218

Knights of Edward I state that Simon age 35, brother heir of William de Echyngham

Notes for PAULINA:

Not positive that her last name is St. Leger, but evidence from some records point toward this. Roger de St. Leger de Sworknerse names Simon Echyngham as his brother in law.

Children of SIMON ECHYNGHAM and PAULINA are:

- 8. i. WILLIAM<sup>7</sup> ECHYNGHAM, d. 11 May 1294.
- ii. ROBERT ECHYNGHAM<sup>5</sup>, b. Abt. 1248; m. MARGERY ST LEGER, Bef. 1293.

Notes for ROBERT ECHYNGHAM:

Probably no children of this marriage

Notes for MARGERY ST LEGER:

Roger de St Leger de Socknersh , called de de Socknersh to distinguish sons, asks for permission from the King to make a trail to his father's property, his father being William de St. Leger. He also mentions that his daughter Margery married Robert de Echyngham. this Socknersh and St. Leger name disappears from Sussex about 1287 when the St Leger move to Kent. Listed on the St. Leger family chart as branche de Sowkernesse...they used the name Sowkernesse to distinguish them from their relatives St. Leger The chart has Isabelle de Sowkernesse marrying Robert de Etchingham, Knight

7. SIBELLE<sup>6</sup> ECHYNGHAM (SIMON<sup>5</sup>, WILLIAM<sup>4</sup>, SIMON<sup>3</sup>, DRU<sup>2</sup>, REIMBERT<sup>1</sup>)<sup>6,7</sup> was born 1220 in Sussex, England. She married WILLIAM ST. LEGER<sup>8</sup> 1225, son of GEOFFREY ST. LEGER and JOAN. He was born 1215, and died 1262 in Wertlinger, Sussex.

Notes for SIBELLE ECHYNGHAM:

Sibelle is discussed in length in a lawsuit in 1225 between Earl of Pembroke and Simon Echyngham. Simon is accused by the Earl of taking the property of William St. Leger by marrying his daughter to Wm. Simon denies this and says that Wm and Sibelle are living with them and nothing else. Sibelle was married as a child and Wm St. Leger was a minor. This was done in these times to secure land and heritage, but the marriage was not consummated until they were of age. William St. Leger father died about 1224.

Notes for WILLIAM ST. LEGER:

William is listed in the book "Les Saint Legers A Travers L'Histoire by Marucie Saint Leger in 1989 He is stated as being born between 1210 ad 1215 and a minor at his fathers death in 1224 . In the book " Les Saint Legers Les Travers L'Histoire by Maru ice and Bernard St. Leger in 1989 states that Simon was married to Alice Countess of Eu.. This is not correct. Evidently they got the wrong translation . The correct translation of the Latin was done in 2004 . Alice, Countess of Eu was forbidden to marry by the King of France without his permission when her lands were given back to her. She probably would not have married a knight in the first place. See Curia Regis Rolls 1225-6 for this case.

History of sussex tells of William St. Letger marrying the daughter of Simon St. Leger. She was Sibelle as listed in the Plea rolls suit in 1225 He had his lands held by the King until 1244 and no doubt due to this suit. In 1254 he rceived free warren in his demense lands of Fairlight .The history of Sussex says he died without male heirs, but that isnot so. He died with 2 sons and maybe a daughter Alicee.

Children of SIBELLE ECHYNGHAM and WILLIAM ST. LEGER are:

9. i. GEOFFREY<sup>7</sup> ST. LEGER, b. Abt. 1240; d. 1272.
- ii. SIMON ST. LEGER, b. 1242; d. 1315.

Notes for SIMON ST. LEGER:

In the year 1269-70 he and h is brother Geoffrey madewittness of William de Northye and Roger de Cobbeford at the Robertsbridge abbey of their donations.
1295 Simon was paart of the group that went with Kng Edaard L on an expedition to Ireland

Notes for WILLIAM ECHYNGHAM:

The Echyngham family was living near the Kent border and their lands were both in Sussex and Kent. In Kent they were at Brennett in Romney Marsh where they had a noble residence. Their name is to be found among the noble gentry during the 13, 14, 15 century

Notes for KATHERINE:

I have no proof of this name of Katherine, but copied it from the book " Scenes of Provincial Life Knightly families in Sussex 1280=1400 by Nigel Saul.

Children of WILLIAM ECHYNGHAM and KATHERINE are:

10. i. WILLIAM<sup>8</sup> ECHYNGHAM, b. 1266; d. 19 Jun 1326.
- ii. ROBERT ECHYNGHAM<sup>9</sup>, d. 1328; m. (1) PETRONELLA ANDREWS<sup>9</sup>; m. (2) JOAN HUSSEE.

Notes for ROBERT ECHYNGHAM:

Robert was summoned to court 1 Edward 1327 but died the following year. He was summoned to bring horse and arms. Robert died with no heir and his brother Simon was next in line for the Lord of Echingham title. No children of these marriages,.

Robert was also summoned for the coronation of the King and Queen in 1308 and was a knight of the shire for Sussex to parliament held at Westminster 20 Jan 1315, 1321, and at York 1322. He performed military duty against the Scots from 1316-1322 Robert the second son succeeded William when he died and he was a career Knight. He died about 18 months after William and his 3rd brother Simon, rector of Herstmonceaux succeeded him. Robert accompanied his elder brother William to the battle of Falkirk. He went with the DeSpencers and was with the King in 1301. He was admitted to the Knighthood with a fee of 40 marks received from the towns of Rye and Winchelsea

In 1324 when Robert was sent to Gascony by the King on a diplomatic mission. He was there until the truce of La Reol in September. He was also sent by the Earl of Kent to tell Edward II what had been happening to the Ducy and ask him to send reinforcements. He made many trips for the King and in 1325, he went with young Prince Edward to Gascony to pay homage to the King.

Since Robert died without heirs the inheritance moved to his brother Simon, a monk at Robertsbridge and when he died the title moved to their nephew James, son of the younger brother Richard.

Notes for PETRONELLA ANDREWS:

By 1290 Petronella Andrew, Daughter of John Andrew had the property of Glottenheim from her father . Property was located near Robertsbridge. There was a fine issued in 1299 by Robert Etchingham and his wife Petronilla settling the manor of Glottenheim , Sussex and Holowist, Kent on their heirs of their bodies with the remainder to heirs of Petronilla. This was Petronilla's property to distribute. See " Scenes of Provincial Life" , Nigel Saul 1986 page 167

Notes for GEOFFREY ST. LEGER:

the manor of Bucksteep was given to Geoffrey St. leger and his wife Agnes in 1265, by Thomas de Warbleton. In 1302 his son John with Maud his wife received a similar grant. Bucksteep followed the same descent as the maor of Wartling until the middle of the 16th century. In 1550

Thomas Devenish(grandson of Elizabeth Massingberd, one of the heirs of Thomas Lord Hoo, conveyed the manor or its revision to Nicholas Pelham and 3 yers later huis oson William Devenish released it to Anthony Pelhoam..

Notes for JAMES ECHYNGHAM:

James inherited the Lordship from his uncle Simon. James had a Seal that has the Echyngham court of arms impaled with the arms of Dakeney. Joan , his wife is not doubt a Dakeney or Dakeni, but who are her parents. In 1330 , James succeeded his Uncle Simon . Evidently his own father Richard was deceased too . He brought an action in trespass against the Prior of Christchurch in 1333, appointed a commissioner to oversee the banks near Romney Marsh in 1339-48. served in the French wars in the retinue of the Earl of Huntington 1348. James was in no hurry to be knighted and asked for respite in 1342 and 1344, but in 1346, he received Knighthood before leaving with the Earl of Huntington for France. It paid better to be a Knight.

sir James de Echyngham, Knight Inq. PM taken before Thomas Hoo, Escheater for surrey, Sussex on 20 Sept 25 Edward III (1351) at Robertsbridge. He had Etchingham, and other manors in Sussex of Queen Philippa by service of 3 knights fee of the barony of Hastings. also held 1/4 part of 1 knights fee in Hempstead in parish of Brenendere, co Kent. He died Sat before the feast of St. Bartholomew 23 Ed III Aug 1349. He also held land in Glotynhamme Sussex of Sir Thomas Hoo, Knight. the guardian of his son would be either Queen Philippa or Sir Thomas de Hoo. Records at Worthing, Sussex on the PM

The manor of Glottenheim that had belonged to Robert de Etchingham via wife Petronella Andrews came to James in about 1331 being granted to him for a household with a new wife, Joan. James later moved to Etchingham when he inherited.

14 Richard II June 16. (1391) Commission to William Rikhill, John Wadham, Richard Fylongley, John Seynesbury and Richard Skipp, Esq in Kent to enquire and certify touching the following Circumstances.: By fine levied at Michael mas term in the year 5 Edward III between John de Ore of the one part and James de Echyngham, Knight and Joan, his wife of the other the said James acknowledged the manor of Hempsted with its appurtenances, one messuage, 103 acres of land, 88 s, *d of rent, the rent of twelve larks and twenty herrings in Lyde and Promhelle. Holowest and Demescherehe co Kent to be the right of the said John for which acknowledgement the latter re granted the premises to the said James and Joan in fee tail. by the forfeiture of Robert Bealknap, knight, who acquired the premises, as is alleged of William Echyngham, son and heir of the said James and Joan, the same were INTER ALIA taken into the king's hand and William Echyngham son and heir of the aforesaid William, claims the premises by Virtue of the said fine, but the king understands that the said Robert held divers lands and tenements in the county which were not parcel thereof at the time of levying the fine

28 Edward III Mar 23 Westminster Commitment Robert Grote of the keeping of the manor of Melcourt Co Buckingham, late of James de Echyngham, who held it of the king as the heir of John de Wolverton, tenant in chief, the king's ward, by knight service, to hold the keeping during the nonage of the heir of the said James, with the issues from the time of the death of the father, without rendering anything for the same

Notes for JOAN DAKENEY:

The shield of James Echyngham has his arms impaled with one that looks like one in Foster "Joan Dabeni". Joan is married and still has a guardian according to Nigel Saul in his book "Scenes of Provincial Life" Knightly family of Sussex 1986. The shield has been identified as probably belonging to Baldwin Daubeney or Dakeny. Need to find more. The shield is blue with gold cross and lions rampant and listed in Fosters Heraldry. Nigel Saul who wrote the book "Scene from provincial Life" says a member of the college of Arms identified the impaled shield as Dakeney.

Children of JAMES ECHYNGHAM and JOAN DAKENEY are:

- i. ROBERT<sup>10</sup> ECHYNGHAM, d. Bef. 1380; m. JOAN ATTE GATE.

Notes for ROBERT ECHYNGHAM:

Robert was sheriff of Greater Dixter in 1390. the house at Greater Dixter where they lived is still standing today and has the arms of Echyngham carved on a beam. Joan and Robert did not have children so the Dixter estate passed to his brother Richard. Richard passed it on to his son Robert. The house stayed in the Echyngham family coming back to Thomas Echyngham on the death of the widow of Robert and then from Thomas via his daughter and granddaughter to Andrew Windsor who had it until about 1595 The Great Dixter home is still standing and the Echyngham arms are carved in the beams. The names of the owner of Great Dixter are known since 1370 and the Echyngham received it by Robert marrying the daughter of Homo at Gate, Joan. They had no children and it went on to his brother.

Article titled "Descent of the Manor of Dixter" by L. F. Salzman pages 153-5 discusses this ownership in detail. The manor appears for the first time in 1340 when Hamo at Gate was to have one man at arms at Dikfsterve. Hamo no doubt took his name from the manor of Gatecourt that was there and associated with Dixter. He states in the article that his daughter Joan married Robert Echyngham and after their deaths without issue, it passed to descendants of Roberts younger brother, Richard Echyngham. By 1411 Robert Echyngham occupied Dixter and Gatecourt at value of 201i .(lay subsidy rolls) this Roberts daughter married Richard Wakehurst and they had a son Richard who died during their lifetime and left 2 daughters, Elizabeth and Margaret who were left in the care of his widow. his brother in law John Gaynsford. The girls were abducted and married to the brothers Ricahrd and Nicholas Culpepper Their grandmother continued to live at Northiam and refused to give them property. According to the marriage papers of Richard Wakehurst and Elizabeth Echyngham with no male heirs the property went to the Echyngham family(Thomas Echyngham) Many lawsuits resulted over this,but the grandmothers decision stood.

Robert is listed as having the manors of Diksterbe and manor of Gatecourt total 40L

He married (1) MARIE SHOYSWELL. He married (2) ELIZABETH CROIL Bef. 1379<sup>16</sup>, daughter of NICHOLAS CROIL. She was born 1333 in Kent, England, and died Aft. 1391.

Notes for WILLIAM ECHYNGHAM:

William was 15 and up when his father died so the birth date may be wrong as listed. He had lands in Jacques Court near Lydd in Kent and lands in Walland Marsh. He caused the Church at Etchingam to be restored. A wife Eliazbeth had dower assigned her in 1390 and land in Kent -Lydd. From documents in the Sussex family Historian March 1988 it might be that Elizabeth came from a Kent family or maybe the St. Leger family as the manors of Ivychurch and de Snave in Kent were given to Echyngham in an Exchange with William St. Leger de Socknersh in 1260 and in 1247 the property owners of Snave were James and William de Echyngham. He may have been married first to a Mary Shoyswell as the coat of arms are on his tomb. If he didn't marry a Shoyswell first then I would suggest that his mother was probably a Shoyswell.

Barry's genealogy has the list that gives Marie Shoyswell as marrying Wm. Echyngham and says "ye arms of Shoyswell impaled with Echyngham are in the quire left, on his tomb and on the upper window in the North side of the Church This leads one to believe that Shoyswell enters the family at this time or before instead of his grandson as suggested in Hall "Echyngham of Echyngham:" Also according to Barrys genealogy it shows William the son of this William married Alice Batisford and then Joan Fitzalan of Arundel

The article "the stained Glass windows of Nettlestead church" WE Ball page 228 Batisford and had at least Joan whom married Sir Wm Rikill (d 1407) but other information has other children including Elizabeth who married Sir Wm Brenchsley and lived in Kent. there is a will for Elizabeth Batisford Brenchsley but a deed in Wincheslea in 1415 executed by John Rikell , husband of Joan and her sister Elizabeth mentioned about land they received by heredity from their mother Joan. This is probably Joan Fitzalan and not Alice as afterwards Thomas Echyngham, son of William, calls this Elizabeth his sister. She had married Thomas Hoo and 2nd Thomas Lewknow

William Rykhill who died 1407 was married to a Rosa and they had children and a son John. Joan married John Rikhill(Rykhill) son of William and not William himself. In fact we can follow the children of John Rykhill and wife Joan; Proof from inquisition of 1415 naming Joan daughter of Wm and Joan as wife of John Rykhill

Also in correspondence to C. Smith Nigel Saul confirmed this Pedigree of the Family of Ffynes in Archaeological Cantana 28 1909 p 23 confirm this line.

The monumental brass in Etchingham church has date of death as 1388

Notes for MARIE SHOYSWELL:

Barrys Sussex genealogy give this marriage to Mary Shoyswell. The Shoyswell arms are on the tomb of William, not his grandson who is reported to have married a Shoyswell.. Hall in Echyngham of Echyngham evidently misread information. His work is not trustworthy

Notes for ELIZABETH CROIL:

Will dated 1379 by Nicholas Crioll (Kryell in his will ) left 20 marks to Elizabeth Echyngham ,also appointed Sir Wm Etchingham and Robert Etchingham as two of his executors. I would suspect that Elizabeth, wife of William Echyngham was daughter of Nicholas. I also suspect that she was 2nd wife also.

He married (2) JOAN FITZALAN DE ARUNDEL Abt. 1400 in Sussex, England<sup>21</sup>, daughter of JOHN DE ARUNDEL and ELEANOR MALTRAVERS. She was born Abt. 1367, and died 01 Sep 1404 in Echyngham, Sussex, England.

Notes for WILLIAM ECHYNGHAM:
William married first Alice Batisford, daughter of Margery Peplsham and William Batisford of Sussex. She evidently died early and he married a second time to Joan Fitzalan Arundel, the widow of Wm de Brien who died 1395 According to records Brien died without issue. Wm and Joan were probably married after 1398 and only married a few years before she died in 1404 leaving at least Thomas Echyngham.. William was at least 41 when he married Joan Fitzalan this was no doubt a second marriage so that gives help to the idea of Alice Batisford being the first wife. . Nigel Saul in his book on the Echyngham family Scenes from Provincial Life, Knightly families in Sussex 1280-1400, has William marrying 1st Joan Fitzalan and second Joan Thorpe. I disagree with this as complete peerage gives Joan Thorpe as married to Robert Echyngham and he died without heirs. She married again to a Clifton.

The article "The Stained Glass Windows of Nettlestead Church" by W E Ball page 228, gives the family chart of William Batisford and Margaret Pepleham (d 1405) and it gives Sir William Echyngam married Alice Batisford /Battisford and had at least Joan who married William Rickhill(Rykill). This is wrong as William Rikhill(her father in law) who died 1407 was married ,when he died ,to Rosa Medlan and they had sons William and John, Nicholas and so the years don't fit. Records seen to indicate that it was John Rikhill , the son she married. But other information has William Batisford and Margaret Pepleham as having other children including Elizabeth who married Sir Wm Brenchley, a well know court lawyer, and they lived in Kent. There is a will for Elizabeth Batisford Brenchley on file at Canterbury in 1453 in which she leaves estate to Echyngam relatives Elizabeth Lewknor and Thomas Hoo .Her niece and gr nephew/ This should show some relationship and give proof that Joan and Elizabeth came via the Batisford line.

Notes for ALICE BATISFORD:

In the Miscellanea Genealogica Vol 2 is a chart showing the descent of the Cralle family and it gives the information that Margery Peplesham was married 1st to Robert Cralle and 2nd to Wm Batisford. It gives Alice as a daughter who married Wm. Echyngham and had a daughters Joan & Elizabeth. . She died about 1398-9 as her mother did not mention her in the will in 1406 and also Wm Echyngham had married Joan Fitzalan probably after 1398 99 so I would say she died after 1398 as she is on deed with William in 1398 . We know that Wm was married to Joan Fitzalan before abt 1400 and we find a legal document for them dated 1400. also the chancery court case PRO C1/19/280-290 states that Joan and Elizabeth are sisters and their Mother was Alice Batisford and they sued their cousin Richard Fiennes for part of the manor of Buckholt which was the Batisford estate.

21 Richard II.

2679. William Brenchesle and Joan his wife v. Richard Huntyngdon; a messuage, a mill, 400 acres of land, 37 acres of meadow, 200 acres of pasture, 300 acres of wood, 100 acres of heath, £6 7s. 9d. rent and rent of 4 tapers (cereorum), a pound of pepper, a goose, a cock, 4 hens and 50 eggs in Bexle, Nennefeld, Hoo, Croweherst, Cattesfelde, Holyngton and Batayle; to William and Joan and heirs of their bodies, contingent remainder to heirs of body of Joan, in default of such heirs one moiety to remain, successively, to her sisters Elizabeth or Alice, to Stephen Playstede, Thomas his brother, John Farnebergh, clerk, Agnes his sister, the heirs of their bodies, or right heirs of Joan, Elizabeth and Alice; the other moiety to remain to Alice, Elizabeth, Stephen, Thomas, John, Agnes, heirs of their bodies or right heirs of Joan, Elizabeth and Alice. (File 79. No. 10.)

Joan Brenchesle(Brenchley) was sister of Alice Batisford and aunt to Joan and Elizabeth Echyngham.

Notes for JOAN ECHYNGHAM:

inquisition Winchelsea Tuesday after St Hilary 2 Henry V (1415)

John Rykhill, as in his right of Joan his wife, and Elizabeth her sister, daughters of William Lord of Etchingam, Knight, and of Joan his wife, have 36 3/8 yds in 2 Tofts lying together in the same quarter, which descended to them by hereditary right on the death of Joan their mother and are held of the king in chief by fee-farm of 8 3/4 being worth 11 1/4 d. yearly to John (as in the right of his wife Joan) and Elizabeth. 6 yds thereof are needed for the wall to the kings' damage and prejudice of 1 12/d yearly and to John's and Elizabeth's of 1 3/4 and half a farthing yearly. There remain to them 30 yards(sic) which are not enough to pay more yearly than 7 1/4d. to the king of his fee-farm and are worth to them 9 1/4 d and half a farthing yearly.

This brings into question who is Joan the mother of Joan and Elizabeth ..is it Joan Fitzalan or should it be Alice as of Alice Batisford. Could this be an error or is Joan Fitzalan truly the mother and also of Thomas Echyngham. Further evidence in a court case PRO C1/19/280-290 indicates that Joan and Elizabeth are sisters and related to the Batisford family. I have not seen the copy of the inquisition of Winchelsea in which it says "their mother Joan" and feel that the original has to be seen to confirm.

Joan Echyngham , daughter of Wm Echyngham , is listed in several articles including "The Stained Glass windows of Nettlestead church" and Arch. Geneologica Vol 3 as being married to Wm. Rykill who died 1407. William Rykill who died 1407 was married to Rosa Medlan and had 5 children and she didn't die until 1418. Her son William was married to Katherine, and John the second son , no doubt was the one who married Joan Echyngham . See the court case above, quoted from the records which give Joan as wife of John Rykhill. This is no doubt correct.

As more evidence comes in it is almost positive that she was the daughter of Alice Batisford and Wm Echyngham. Thomas Echyngham ,son of Wm Echyngham and 2nd wife Joan Fitzalan,who died 1444 but mentioned his sister Elizabeth Echyngham Hoo Lewknor and her husband Thomas Lewknor. So he called her "sister" and this would be 1/2 sister as he is for sure the son of Wm Echyngham and Joan Fitzalan Arundel

There is much wrong information in the literature saying Wm Rykill was the husband, but as it is shown above that it was wrong and indeed it was his son John Rykill, MP who married Joan.

The Rykill family lived at Eslingham now known as Frindsbury, was the place of residence

According to a court case Elizabeth Echyngham Lewknor and her sister Joan Echyngham Rykhill were involved with a court case against their cousin Richard Fiennes, whose mother was sister of Alice Batisford, for the interest of the manor of Buckholt. This is Batisford property so again points to relationship and mother being Alice Batisford.

Information sent by Anna Luppertz in 2006 gives this proof:John Assheby , cousin and heir of John Haket, granted the manor of Buckholt in 134 to Wm Batisford . In 1423, the manor was held by Joan Brenchesle(sussex Arch Coll X 144 Feudal aids) daughter and heir of Wm Batisford, Joan lived until 1453, and next year possession of the manor was disputed between Elizabeth,widow of Sir Thomas Lewknor(Lewknor) and Joan Rykhill maiden name Echyngham(daughter of Joan Brenchley's sister Alice and Sir Richard Fiennes, grandson of Joan's other sister Elizabeth (Add Ms 39376 fols 76,80,81. Sir Richard evidently succeeded as Thomas Fiennes, Lord Dacre, his descendant died seized of the manor in 1534 (Chan. Inq; PM (Ser 2) LXXX 24) It subsequently follows the descent of Herstmonceau(q.v) until 1786

Also Elizabeth Batisford Brenchley in her will dated 1453,mentioned( her niece )Elizabeth Lewknor and ( her nephew) Thomas Hoo as recipients. This also establishes the relationship to the Batisford family.

the date for the death of Joan Echyngham Rykill is taken from the court case when Joan Rykill Bruyn Daughter of John Rykill received property. Her mother would probably have been deceased by that time for her to get this property. so Joan Echyngham Rykill was deceased before that date.

VCH for Sussex states:

Alice who had a daughter Joan, firstly married to --Rikhill and secondly to Richard Bruyn(d 1413)--- Joan indeed did marry John Rykill son of William Rykhill .but the 2nd marriage is incorrect. Richard Bruyn was married to Joan Rykhill , daughter of Joan.as proved by further court actions and will of Joan Rikhill

Notes for JOHN RYKHILL(RIKHILL):

He was a member of Parliament and was a shire knight for Kent in 1423. John is listed in the will of his mother Rosa Rykhill in 1418 and also in his father's will of 1407.

Children of JOAN ECHYNGHAM and JOHN RYKHILL(RIKHILL) are:

28. i. JOAN<sup>13</sup> RIKELL, b. Abt. 1416; d. Abt. 1462, All Hallow the Great, London.
29. ii. MAUD RIKELL.

Notes for ELIZABETH ECHYNGHAM:

In 1453 Joan Batisford Brenchley left a will and she named Dame Eliabeth Lewknor and Thomas Hoo, squire. This should be Elizabeth Echyngham, who first married Thomas Hoo and 2nd Thomas Lewknor, daughter of Alice Batisford who was sister of Joan and Niece of Joan Batisford Brenchley and Thomas Hoo son of Elizabeth who would be her great nephew.

In 1454 there is chancery court case between Elizabeth Lewknor and her sister Joan Echyngham Rykhill against their cousin Richard Fiennes, grandson of their aunt(Batisford) who had married Fiennes , for the possession of the manor of Buckholt. See PRO C1/18/280-290 This gives further proof that Elizabeth and Joan were daughters of Wm Echyngham and Alice Batisford, first wife, instead of daughters of Joan Fitzalan.

VCH for Sussex states Elizabeth first husband was Sir Wm Fynes or Fiennes (d 1407)

from "Daughters, Wives and Widows after the Black Death" Mavis Mart 1998
p[age 96 When Elizabeth Echingham(the daughter of Sir Wm Etchngham) married Sir Thomas Hoo as his second wife, she was granted the manor of Wartling(valued at L 60) as her jointure. On Hoo's death in 1420 she remarried Sir Thomas Lewkenor, takingWartling with her as well as her dower rights in other Hoo manors. Elizabeth was married to Lewknor for 34 years but on his death in 1454 she faced considerable opposition from her other stepson Roger Lewkenore the son of Phillippa Dallingridge.

He married (1) MAYBE SHOYSWELL. He married (2) MARGARET KNYVETT Aft. 1424, daughter of JOHN KNYVETT and JOAN DE BOTETOURTE. She was born Abt. 1400, and died Aft. 1467.

Notes for THOMAS ECHYNGHAM:

There is a reference stated by Spencer Hall in his article "Echyngham of Echyngham" 1850 when he states that Thomas married first Agnes Shoyswell daughter of John Shoyswell. No proof, no references. No records seem to be out there and since he married a second time to Margaret Knyvett at about age 24 or so he would have been very young. But that is possible.

Berry's Sussex genealogy states that Wm Echyngham married Marie Shoyswell daughter of John Shoyswell. not Agnes. The Shoyswell arms are on the tomb of the earlier William, grandfather of Thomas born 1401, I would suspect that this is where the Shoyswell family belongs. If they were not married into the Echyngam family by that time they would not be on his tomb.

Also a quote from Berry's Sussex Genealogy gives this. " He (William) built the church of Etchingam, ye arms of Shoyswell impaled with his on his monument in ye quire and single in the upper window on ye north side of the chancel" These words came before Thomas was born.

It is possible that Thomas was married before 1425, when he married probably for the second time, to Margaret Knyvett , de Tye, Marney, widow.

Thomas never calls Margaret Knyvett , mother. Margaret mentions her son Richard in her different land deeds and suits,.

Early Chancery proceedings Bundle 29 No 41 as written in Genealogist XXI p 136 regarding the will of Thomas Echyngam, Squire, son and heir of Thomas Echyngam, Knight.

Some time ago i questioned a reference from the Patent Rolls of 1415 regarding Thomas Echyngam, pastor of Tilbury, Clare. I was trying to identify this Thomas Echyngam. I had an Essex researcher go to the source for this and here is what he said.

Newcourt (1:564) has a Thomas Gohyngham taking over the rectory in April 4 1397. Newcourt in his index uses Gohyngham not Echyngam. The writing was such that the transcribers used E instead of G. The researcher also states Goldingham or Goldynghams are numerous in the area and have a manor there. Therefore..it was not Thomas Echyngam but Thomas Goldyngham that was pastor. Eliminates looking further into it being Echyngam from the book " Daughters Wives Widows of Black Death." Mavis Mate page 155

Sir Thomas Echyngam 1 was frequently appointed to commissions of array and to commissions of walls and ditches. In the 1440's as Justice of the Peace, he was an active member of the Bench. When Humphrey, Duke of Gloucester, was Warden of the Cinque Ports, Echyngam served as his Lt. He was appointed overseer of the Sussex parks of the Archbishop of Canterbury and in 1427/38 he spent part of the year at Mayfield, catching deer for the archiepiscopal laarder. When the new Archbishop, John Stratford, as enthroned, he was present at the ceremonies. Likewise his son (Thomas II) was present at the enthronement of Thomas Bourghier and later served as beadle for the archiepiscopal manor of Aldington.

Notes for MARGARET KNYVETT:

Margaret Knyvett was married to Robert de Tye, knight said to be the son of Robert de Tye, Knight(d 1382/3 of Barsham, Suffolk, before October 11, 1410 when John Knyvett granted various properties in Northampton shire to Robert Ty , Knight and Margaret his wife.

Robert de Tye must have been born , post Mortem if his father was Robert de Tye dead by 24 Aug 1383. Robert had only a daughter Dionisia under 14 years and his wife Elizabeth was with child when he made his will in April 1382. Elizabeth mentioned no children when she made her will which was proved on 25 Sept 1383 This probable child , Robert, died 1415 and then buried in the church of Sotterley, Suffolk. another memorial in this church is to Aymer de Wilington and his wife Hawise. Aymer was the uncle of Robert de Tye(died 1381) who acknowledged this relationship in his will of 1382. There was no issue from that marriage.

online-Chevely Manor and estaes page 46-9:

Sibyl Loveday's daughter and heir Catherine married Roger Tichborne, who sold the reversion of Chevely to John Pulteney in 1336. (fn. 85) Pulteney, knighted in 1337 and in possession by 1340, (fn. 86) died in 1349, and in 1350 his widow Margaret married Nicholas Loveyn (knighted 1351). (fn. 87) The Loveyns initially settled the manor after their deaths on Margaret's son Sir William Pulteney, (fn. 88) who died in 1367 (fn. 89) and was survived by Loveyn. At Loveyn's death in 1375 he left Chevely in the hands of his feoffees for 15 years or until his only son Nicholas should come of age. The latter evidently did not reach maturity, and the feoffees probably sold the manor to William Rickhill in or after 1390. Rickhill, who bought the neighbouring manor of Ditton Camoys from one of Loveyn's executors in 1393, certainly had the advowson of Chevely by 1405 and the manor by 1407, and died in 1407 or 1408. (fn. 90) His son John owned the manor in 1412 and a younger son Nicholas in 1428. (fn. 91) By 1431 Sir Nicholas Loveyn's grandson and heir Richard Chamberlain claimed and perhaps controlled the manor, (fn. 92) but in 1434 it belonged to John Rickhill's daughter and heir Joan and her husband Richard Bruyn. (fn. 93) They sold it in 1450 to William Cotton, (fn. 94) a feoffee since 1443 or earlier. (fn. 95) Chevely descended with Landwade in the direct male line of the Cotton family biography of Wm Lee d c 1442 of Podmore and Aston, Staffs, in roskell's HOP vols (pp581-2) states that he "m Maud, poss da and coh of John Rickhill(MP) d 1432 of Eslingham, Kent

Wm , Salt Arch. Soc xi233 nsxii 14, arch Cant xxxii 55-70

It later says, "It is difficult to establish the precise nature of Lee;'s title to part of the estates of Sir Wm Rickhill(d 1407, , comprising land in Mokelton Hall, Essex and the manors of Paddington in Surrey and Eslingham, Kent. some of these holdings had previously been settled upon one John Lee(to whom he was probably related) by Richard Bruyn(MP) and his wife, Joan the Judge's granddaughter. Bruyn and our Member sat together in the Parliament of 1435 and may perhaps have married sisters, for in Nov 1441 Lee conveyed a reversionary interest in his manor of Aston to Bruyn, whom he described as his brother . In this event, he would have been the son in law of John Rickhill (shire knight for Kent in 1424) and a kinsman by marriage of John's eldest brother, William with whom he attended the Commons of 1420. CCR 1429-35 p 187; 1435-41 p 457; Arch Cant xxxii 55-70 to the right Reverend father in God, the Bishop of Exeter, Chancellor of England (George Neville 1460-67)

Meekly beseecheth your continual "Oratair"

Thomas Echyngham, squire, son and heir of Thomas Echyngham, Knight, that were Robert Wylngby, Thomas Echyngham, John Heverryngham, Kihgt, Wm Paston, Thomas Denham, John Norwick and John Aslak were seized in their demesnes as in fee of the manors of Barsham, Blanchaudes, and Kessyngham and the advowson of the church of Barsham with the appurtenances in the shire of Suffolk.

and they so seized made State there to a Reynold Cobham, Thmas Lewknor, Knights, Wm Prestwick, clerk John Gregge, John Watele, John Bederynden, John Gibbs, Richard Wakehurst. Thomas Knyvett . And Wm Clark to have and to hold to them and their heirs to the use and benefit of the said Thomas Echyngham, Knight and to perform therefore his last will by Foree which "astate of the said manor and advowson with the appurtenances the said Reynold and his said Cofees were seized and afterwards the said Thomas Echyngham, knight, declared thereof his last will. That the said Reynold and his coffees should make estate thereof to Margaret, wife of the said Thmas Echyngham, Knight for time of her life. The remainder to Richard Echyngham, son of the same Thomas Echyngham, Knight said to all the heirs made of his body begotten with that the said Richard Echyngham would release to the said Thomas Echyngham, squire , all his rights he had ad in the land of Gruylkynde in Kent. That late were the said Thomas Echyngham, Knits.

And if it happened that the said Richard Echyngham to die without such issue of his body begotten, then the manor and advowson with all appurtenances should remain to the said Thomas Echyngham, squire and to his heirs made of his body begotten and for default of e=such issue the remainder therefore to the right heirs of William Echyngham, Knight. and afterwards the said Thomas Echyngham, Knight, died.

And afterwards the said Reynold Cobbham, Thomas Lewknor, William Prestwick, John Garegge, John Watele, John Boderynden, John Gibbs, Richard Wakehurst and Thomas Knyvett died and the said Williams Parker them outlived.

and said Thomas Echyngham , squire, death of his father required said Richard Echyngham to release his right that he held in the Gruyllkynd to the said Thomas Echyngham, squire and to do so he flatly refused.

Whereupon the said Thomas Echingham, squire, required the said William Parker to make astate of the said manor and advowson with all the appurtenances to said Margaret for the time of her life that remainder to said Thomas Echingham, squire, and to his male heirs, And to that the said Wm. Parker refused.

Wherefore, please it your gracious lordship these premises tenderly to consider and that your said Oratour hath no remedy by the common law to grant a writ to be directed to the said Wm. parker to appear before you to the Kings 'chancery at a certain day upon a certain time by your great wisdom to be lamented and there to do and received upon the promises that the good faith and conscience required for the love of God and i n way of Charity. there is an article on pae 154 "The Manors of Suffolk" which is full of errors regarding the Echyngham family Paragraph 2 states that by 1426 Thomas Echyngham and Margaret his wife, daughter of West, Lord de la Warr and passed to his son Thomas in 1450. This is incorrect. Thomas of Suffolk married Margaret Knyvett, daughter of John Knyvet and Joan de Botetourt. They were wed by 1426 and had a son Richard for sure. No other children mentioned by Margaret Knyvett. Thomas Echyngham his son, married Margaret West.

paragraph 4..states that Thomas was succeeded in 1460 by Richard de Echungham his brother. whose will is dated 1461.Richard had a son John

Notes for ELIZABETH JERNIGAN:

John de Jernegan sued Richard de Goldyngham (Echyngham) for the manor of Hahille and gave his descent. Evidently the name was put down wrong probably copied mistaking E for G. Sussex, England.

Notes for ELIZABETH ECHYNGHAM:

The descendants of Elizabeth Echyngham, by her second marriage, obtained Echyngham as their share of the family possessions. In Hall's "Echyngham of Echyngham" he lists Sir Goddard Oxenbridge one place as husband and another place he calls Thomas Oxenbridge husband. Goddard Oxenbridge's will was not proved until 1531 (PCC 8 Thower) and it is probable that Elizabeth Echyngham's husband was Robert Oxenbridge, whose daughter Agnes was interred at Etchingham in 1489 (a brass is in the Church) So some questions about this. The Genealogist XXI p 246 1906 states that probably Agnes was the daughter of Elizabeth and Robert Oxenbridge not Goddard Oxenbridge or Thomas Oxenbridge.

Elizabeth married first Roger Fiennes and 2nd Goddard Oxenbridge

She died 14 Nov 1538 in Barsham, Norfolk, England.

Notes for EDWARD ECHYNGHAM:

Sir Edward Echyngham oldest son of John Echyngham of Barsham became a distinguished commander both on land and sea. He served in the naval expedition against the French before Berst in 1513 and his letter to cardinal Wolsey, announcing the loss of the English Admiral, sir Edward Howard, is to be found in the state papers. In Sept of the same year he was knighted at Flodden. His will dated 18 June 1527 was proved 7 Feb 1527. IPM taken at Beccles co. Suffolk. 1 Sept 1539. He stated that his first wife was buried on the north side of the lady Chapel in St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, Ireland. she was named Mary. His second wife Anne Everard died in 1538 in Norfolk. She was the widow of Sir Edward Lewknor of Kingston Bowsey, Somerset. The Everard family is also found in the visitation of Norfolk. Ann is probably not the wife of the son and heir of Edward Lewknor-Edward Lewknor the younger page 15 George Dalyson on Nov 8, 1514 conveyed land at Broughton and all the lands in Cransley to use of Edward Dalyson and wife Elizabeth and also to Edward Echyngham the residue of all the said manor to the use of George Dalyson and Ann, then his wife. and the remainder to Edward and Elizabeth Dalyson. Sir Edward Echyngham was of Ipswich, Knight.

Barsham, Norfolk is 2 miles from Beccles and 4 from Bun gay. It has the church of holy Trinity and one of the earliest round towers, with a little picket of a spire. The most interesting feature is the tracery of the east window which extends to the whole of the east and in stone and flint, forming lozenge shapes. The work is 16th century and it is thought the design was suggested by the coat of arms of Sir Edward Echyngham, who is buried in the sanctuary. His shield was the east end of the church turned upside down.

Sir Edward had a son Osborn. He never calls him son in his will but leaves great estate to him. Later Osborn calls Anne Echyngham Hopton his sister. If Osborne was the son of first wife, it seems he would have called him that. Probably illegitimate

Will of Edward Echyngham dated 1527 specifically names Osborne Echyngham and leaves him several manors under item 1 in his will he gives to Osborn Echyngham my house in Kessinglande that I bought of Montgomery and all land to him and his heirs forever etc and also the house that I bought of Nicholas Hassborough and also all the house and land that I bought from Sir Fitzcheueril and several other pieces. See Gen XXI page 56 for the entire will. He never calls Osborn son but calls Ann and Mary daughters. Later Osborn calls Ann Echyngham Hopton his sister

Notes for OSBORNE ECHYNGHAM:

Sir Osborne Echyngham was probably the son or illegitimate son of Sir Edward Echyngham. Sir Osborne became marshal of the Army in Ireland, was knighted at Whitehall in 1529 and revived from Henry VIII a grant of the Monastery of Dunbrody, Co. Wexford, Ireland, 4 Oct 1545. (Records Irish State Papers)

Series 15, 15 April 1580 proceedings in the examination in controversy for the abbey of Dunbrody, claimed by Lady Echyngham and Edward her son against the interest of Sir William Drury, late Lord Justice. The will of Edward Echyngham dated 1527 specifically names Osborne and leaves him several manors. Under item 1 in his will he gives to Osborn Echyngham, my house in Kessinglonde that I bought of Montgomery and all land to him and his heirs forever, etc and also the house that I bought of Nicholas Hasaborough and also all the house and land that I bought from Sir Fitzcheuerell and several other pieces. (see Genealogist XXII page 56) for the will in its entirety.. He never calls Osborne son, but calls Ann and Mary daughters. Later, Sir Osborne in his will calls Ann Echyngham Hopton his sister. this shows there is a relationship. Only thing is that maybe Osborne was a son by Edwards first wife, Mary and maybe she was Mary Osborne-just speculation. He does give a good deal of land to Osborne so that he is either a legitimate son or illegitimate, but recognized. I have put him under the first wife of Edward, Mary?. there are Osborne families living in the area of Barsham, Norfolk. Such an unusual first name, it must be a family name. The very idea that he left so much land to Osborne, indeed leads one to believe he was blood relation and son.
